

China: Italy An Important FX Reserves Investment Market - Xinhua

8 Oct 2010, 02:57

BEIJING (Dow Jones)--China sees Italy as an important investment market for its foreign-exchange reserves and will monitor and assess opportunities in Italy's financial markets, the Xinhua News Agency reported Friday, citing a cooperation plan issued by the two nations.

China Premier Wen Jiabao, currently on a tour of Europe, said earlier this week China will continue to buy Greek bonds, in a statement of support for the euro zone despite its debt troubles.

China's foreign-exchange reserves are the world's largest at nearly $2.5 trillion.
