

This really isn't a quiz, so much as a query.

You've already established that there is a Supply/Demand Delta Zone in this area of the cart using some rule-based criteria. You don't have to concern yourself with predictions to impress the nameless and faceless many on the internet. You are reactive, not predictive in mind-set. It's all about seeing what you want to see, where you want to see it.

So price moves into the where. The question becomes, what do you want to see?

Do you see a short entry signal? Is it a single interval or a series of intervals that create a pattern?

I've marked a Start Point. However, that does not need to be the place where your answer starts. But we should all agree that a wide spread up interval on ultra high volume into the Zone, should get our attention. Some would say, that is the start of the distribution phase.

Note that the intervals are labeled with caps and the corresponding volume is labeled with a small letter. This is so you can refer to either the volume or the interval itself in an easily distinguishable way.

Attached Image (click to enlarge)

