

ME1 is the initial entry on day open as continuation of the previous Week bearish close.
ME2 and ME3 are the build positions, using simple rules to avoid placing too many ME entries:
1) a minimum distance of 50% ADR(100) days
2) timed space of 2 H4 periods as the "entry delay"
3) using the H1 TDI setups
 limit the number of ME1 entries to 2 to 3 maximum.

Note that when 9 Sep Day close, this would have invalidated the trade.
We have a 5-bars swing low on Day chart.
Also the retracement of the previous week had reached 78%.

After ME4 and ME5 opened, the market did not retrace to enable possible breakeven of earlier trades open.
And with the trade invalidation on 10 Sep, it is time to cut loss.

After 3 positions opened, the breakeven BE level for ME1, ME2 and ME3 would be here.
But the market did not retrace to this BE level.
If market had retraced to this BE level, you can close ME1 and ME2 (oldest trades) at small loss and kept ME3 open.
