{quote} I was one of the guys selling Audnzd, obviously ended up in a loss. I have still a lot to learn, I like the one hour chart, how do you determine trend structure on the higher H4 timeframe? do you use any moving averages?

Hi guys

There will be trades that simply fail. There is nothing to do then take the loss. Move on and do more what works.

I think starting from next week market will more or less become "normal"

Summer liquidity is thin hence why pushing things up or down to extremes is easier achieved as we have seen on Euro however its not easy when market is in full swing without solid fundamentals to back it up.

August ending up -1137

Some of the positions I had to liquidate. Not discouraged part of trading. Good luck

Hi guys

Closed EN with decent gain

+882 pips

looks like NK spooks the market hence AUD specially shooting high. I don't think it will stay there much longer

Short on AU and AN

Hi guys had great week last week and carrying some positions to this week.

Catalonia sets independence vote for Oct. 1

<https://www.cnbc.com/2017/09/07/spai...october-1.html>

This should be on FF news but its not. This could be destabilizing factor that could effect the Euro

In my view USD has been severely sold off could be due to storms factor and unemployment spike was result of it which should be temporary.

I don't see major fundemetal factors of weakening US economy. USD sold off is to some extend result of Trump's inability to get things done and congress inability to work for common goal.

This could change if Trump passes tax reform. This is huge.

have a profitable week 🍀

{quote} I'm confused as you say you never trade against the trend and that you trade 4h, daily, weekly. EU has been bullish for months yet top of this page your chart shows you have been short EU. I can understand the trade from a pivot point of view but not if you don't trade against the trend.

I personally trade swings

Trend? What is and how to define it. Example AN is it still going up or its already in new down trend same on EN and same on EU

That's the problem you can easily be stuck on wrong side. When you think in swings pivots help identity them. Think swings not trends

Some define trend based on 200MA above up below down however distance between 200MA and price can be over 300-700+pips and in terms of practical trading its useless. See chart 200MA try paper trading for a month. Get things sort out. When things don't work out don't force examine why. It could be your stops are too wide or your positions too big or impatient entering too early.

Stick with majors and low ADR pairs

It takes great deal of experience to nail G pairs specially GJ and overall sentiment is shifting in favor of the pound hence why I have been short on EG for long time.

Davit's Fundamental-Technical Posts since beginning Pivot Trading

Update: Monday, January 15, 2018

Quoting Mary.Lawson

{quote} Hi, Davit! You are doing great job, your posts and guidance/suggestions are helping us a lot. I want to know that how you keep your eyes on Fundamental events? As I understand so far that you have really good fundamental knowledge of currencies which you trade and no doubt this should be giving you more confidence that technically and fundamentally you are at the same page. Do you follow any news channels/news websites/articles before fundamental events to get an idea about that event and then you manage/plan your trades accordingly OR you...

Hi Mary

I do follow fundies and do have news feed on my template and do check news on Bloomberg my favorite site and if something I like to know more like NZ elections I just google local NZ newspapers and read them. In short I try to be "in the know" and feel market sentiment.

Right now USD is starting to gain momentum and that should pick up more as closer we get to Dec. BOE already signaled they are ready to hike and good for me I am massively short on EG and AU anyway cheers waiting for this to break to 61S

As you guys can see price can't break above WP and when you look at AU at 80 more or less and NU 7265 its obvious AU has overshot and has great deal of correction in it. So when both get sold AU has more "room" to drop

Crosses are difference of the majors AN is basically AU+NU

Hi guys have little time now like to cover few refresher points

When you have it good going then that's when you must be vigilant not to get overconfident and careless.

1. Overtrading

One of the common symptoms to overconfidence is over trading. This can be done by trading too frequently, taking extremely large trades, or taking uncalculated risks. Overconfident traders can believe they are so "well equipped" with the right skills that they do not properly money management. If they did they would realize their overtrading can have disastrous effects. They are often so focused on making large gains, and believe they have the ability to do so, that they forget traders can both lose and win in the field of Forex. Overconfidence psychologically sets traders up for making mistakes, because they don't prepare for the loss.

2 please keep your positions small

3 Don't mix systems try to perfect what you are familiar. If trading Pivots then don't mix MA's, BB's, Daily CCFp, CC, & strength, Trading made simple etc
Try focusing on 1 whatever you choose.

I obviously take lots of trades that I don't post. I feel that's appropriate because I have metal resolve to address lot size, DD, and SL levels that works for me however positing my trades all of them might create adverse situation of others copying my trades and not managing it properly.

Having said above I am short and in profit on CJ and EN both charts were posted this morning

You are doing great job! Keep your attitude same humble and not get overconfident. I think of trading like ridding a motorcycle no matter how good of a rider you are car or truck can kill you and one way to avoid is to ride defensively all the time never putting your guard down.

As we saw few star trader like Fibo lately was struggling because he was all over the board overconfident and market got to him.

Keep it in check.

I believe that the UJ has been OB and now just below F78-F100 Area. So, I went short 0.01 lot with a small live account. I believe I have a wide DD using a large SL distance to protect against the usual NYO reversal and the Red News Wham. Please let me know if close exiting trades to free margin. Free margin is important because it gives you peace of mind to trade knowing you have reserves. Relaxed mind makes better decisions panic mind makes hasty emotional decisions. Good trading should be mechanical and boring. Should be like driving a car things done mechanically almost subconsciously but this is hard to achieve usually after 5yrs of trading you start getting it.

hope this helps

Hi Guys

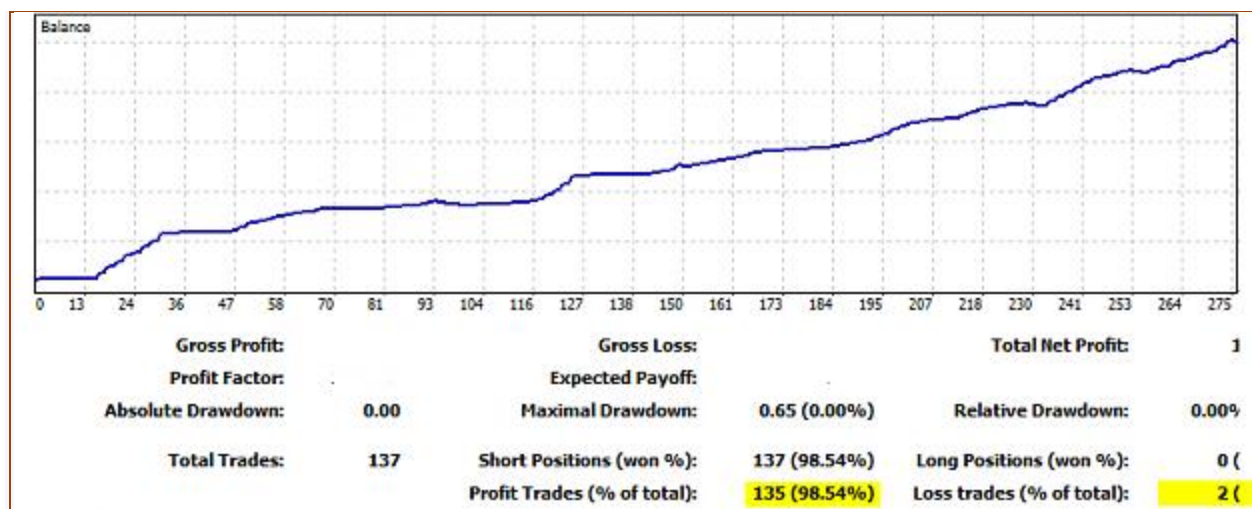

If nothing happens about NK I anticipate Yen gaining next week.I still have all my Yen positions open EJ and CJ

Very nice profitable Sept so far.Made up my August loss plus more.You must believe and have faith in yourself.Continue what works and equity will grow over number of trades.As I said many times before I trade quarters just like any business.If you get bloody nosed one month don't get discouraged carry on.What matter is end of the year where you started and where you ended.

guys due to back pain i cant type too much.Great news is I managed to get up from agonizing bed and it was painful as hell 4 attempts and 4 back spasms in screams.
Finally managed with tears in my eyes to get up because I know longer stay in bed worst it gets.Just looked over charts and basically my approach is identify the trend and keep hammering the rallies so watching CJ EJ again to reload
My results have been unbelievable this month 22% gain.Take a look

Thank you deeply for well wishers and I will respond more once I am able to seat

Hi Davit, first let me thank you for the system. I am trading Forex, CFD, Stocks and Metals over 15 years, blow up my acc. twice... lot of systems, approaches, psychology etc. In few words I have a lot of experiences. Your approach is grate with proper leverage and I am following this system on demo and live with small lots preparing to go back full lots. Any way I can imagine what pain your lower back is giving you. I do not know the reason for your back pains but I will tell you my case from 1012. I have spine disease Bechterew or AS-Ankylosing spondylitis...

Davit - The only person in this thread who gives valuable posts. {quote} Hi, I look here from time to time to look for some set ups that i could miss. I do not trade with pivot indicator. I think that instead of showing off with trades that are in green, you should share some trade ideas to each other. Green pips.

Hi Forda

If you look few pages back you'll see I posted EJ EA CJ charts set ups before posting my closed trades. I think this thread is about teaching you and others how to trade and certainly not about providing study signals so every nob takes and mishandles badly then disperses from here.

Everything is more or less obvious what to trade because pivots and PA show the way.

As for showing off I think its inspiring to see great results even if they are closed. Its a proof that the system works.

Hi, about 13 hours ago, i found good these setup for the trigger. I took a screenshot because i want to correct my mistakes (in demo with this strategy). Can you analyze my entrys please? I can't find the difference between them. Thank you {image} {image} {image} {image}

Issue I have is on all your trades you are late. Notice you are on H4. That's fine in general but when risking your own money getting late could become end of the swing or "wave" then dominate trend continuing. Its funny when you say "I can't find difference between them" How about where they are? Major support? Multiple Tops? Is the pair ranging or trending? These are questions you must ask and look. Should become automatic like driving a car.

Try dropping to H1 and see how you do

{quote} Same here. Only you have yours way higher. My top order 91.11. Target 90.08 . If momentum persists! Davit can you tell me your vision on multiple orders idea? If you know for fact that price is going your way why not just use 1 order with higher volume? I am trying to understand the concept.

I covered this way too many times on this thread and due to not being able to seat to type I will be brief.

Pros approach trading from Risk factor
Rookies approach from profit factor

Now suppose you entered CJ short full lot at 91 and price went to 9137 that's -370 dollars and now you are shitting in your pants and panic and get out with -370

Same order at 1 dollar a pip could cover 91-9137 and gave you an edge both mentally and financially. This allows time to work for you. What does that mean? Well its the whole concept about PA. PA is nothing more then transactions taking place over time but if you are too deep in the hole this factor is eliminated to work for you and also psychologically you are stressed which is more reasons that you are likely to revenge trade to get your money back and further get into the hole.

Should you want to get out you can always not enter rest of ME and your damage is minimal

I hope this makes sense to you and also nobody knows the future for a fact. Its all probabilities {quote} I couldnt ask for better explanation! I got your point loud and clear. I love the part about "shitting your pants" 😄. Been there done that. Thanks. I appreciate the effort!

Not showing off but this is what I mean allowing time to work for you. In 1hr increase of profits by 20%

So it works both ways. ME allows for you to let the trade do its maximum profit however if you were in single trade its very likely that you would of taken profit way too early since thought of PA going against you would of been too painful.

Trust me profits pile up quickly by ME I have not found a better way to trade.

personally appreciate it a lot. If one day you will ask us to pay for it I will. 😊 Accept my apology!

Hi D

I think you misunderstood me. I am not offended by your post more dismayed by your lack of not paying attention.

Trading is about paying attention. I posted a chart with yellow box and mentioned it was a slow day (meaning not much happening) mentioned it was not ideal set up (meaning its not system based exact trade!!) deduction everything put together I was making best out of slow day! Your response was not paying attention, being unaware of nuances of the day etc etc.

Your response shows your lack of experience screen time. Over time you will see things much better which will take you 5yrs. Like I said its not about my ego I care less about that. Its about trading being aware at all times. Please don't respond to this post. Just read it.

Hi everyone
Looks like 4 or 5 people posted in Sept more or less consistently. Lots of old timers stopped posting. Could be they mismanaged funds ,accounts when trades were going red or moved on to another system method.
All is good I am not here for popularity contest. I have always maintained that I trade quarters and have the end of the year as my target. No system is loss proof! None and when you see someone posting 700% in a week you can bet its high leverage single trade that went well but how many times you see same guy doing it again and again? None because they just blow the account and start another impressive % week. This is not trading! Don't get lured into abyss. Stay focused what works.

I stress again every weekend go over important red events for next week and mark on your calendar and even stick it on your PC. This helps to see how market gravitates to and after the events. This exercise over time will help you be "in tune" with the market and gave you better feel how price moves.

Results for Sept. 197-2 took out 2/3 profits out of account for the month. (sharp drop on graph)

{quote} I made decent profit (in pips) first week using your system and set ups. But it's to early to say weather I do it right or wrong. Maybe I was lucky this week. But you concept works no doubt. I took over 20 trades lost 5. And good chance that I lost because I just didn't want to wait. Anyway I might agree with you , my lack of attention and rush decision not doing me any good. Start Monday I will be concentrating on more confirmed trades rather than just levels . And if you don't mind I need you opinion on AUDCHF pair. It's totally new pair...

I have no idea how price is going to move in the future. I trade probabilities edge over large number of trades. No different then what casino does 3% edge. Over thousands of bets that 3% accumulates millions however if someone asked at black jack table if that single hand winner or loser would hard and pointless. You seriously should read "Trading in the Zone" You must understand firmly the idea of probabilities.

A/CHF is correlated to EA. You should study this weekend about correlations. I suggest trading pairs you are familiar.
