General guidelines

Trolls, Time Wasters, Spoon feeders, disruptors will be removed without notice. Thread will stay clean and on principles it is shared.

1st page under construction

Disclaimer

Pivot trading is advance trading requiring both psychological and technical experience in Forex.

I require 2 yrs minimum trading experience trading my system. What it may appear easy its very deceptive, in reality you can lose your account without proper account management. Not responsible for your gains or losses! Violators will be removed!

Any indicator other then on this system uploaded without permission will result your immediate removal from the thread.

Indicators

If your pivots are off more then 10pips you can adjust it by going to settings -set broker candle false and adjust time zone -/or +1234567 whichever number gets you close then you are good.

Not sure on pivot levels then go here and check (make sure its weekly and fibs)

News indicator

Please use my template and indicators so we can be all on same page

Offenders using other indicators will be removed without notice

Stop Loss

This is advance trading hence I am going to let you decide this for yourself. What I do is not relevant since my account is larger then typical retail trader which is 2-10k and I manage it what works for me. Having said this letting 500 loss become 10k loss is idiotic no matter what size the account is. You must have exit plan.

How to trade pivots

Davit's Pivot Trading Posts – April to June 2016 – 135 pgs

Zone 61-100 usually areas where swings fail and you can counter trade or trade with the trend. Works both ways

Weekly Pivots are equilibrium creating bias below sell above buy. I usually trade 61-100 however have made trades above or below WP

As price travels progressively away from weekly pivot it becomes more likely to go into correction.

61 S/R key zone 78R/S is Scott Carney's last chance for reversal (spikes stops taken before reversal) 100R/S another major zone.

Should price smash 100 S/R then you are in strong trend supported by fundamentals.

Watch PA its the queen (chess analogy) !I prefer to see minimum 15-30 min candles red or green before entering a trade however this is aggressive and I have years of experience and more conservative approach is wait for 1hr to h4 candles. You may lose some pips waiting out but could also save you pips by not getting in early.

Updated template indicator

key post on fundamentals

I maybe only trader here at FF in systems who combines technical with fundamentals. By knowing in advance what's coming up I can tailor suit my trades for greater edge! Example post 5062 how I go around Calendar analyses. Its recommended you do this before Monday every week or don't expect to have my results.

Great site for Price Action highly recommend to read.

I stopped using TDI but if you feel comfortable using its fine just letting you guys know I don't anymore.

post <https://www.forexfactory.com/showthr...1#post11905061>

Pairs I often trade and recommend

All majors minus (USD/CHF) if you don't know what is major you should not be here
Favorite Crosses often traded

CJ AJ NJ NC AC
AN EC EG EA

Commodity pairs and their relevant crosses are my favorites.

Pairs don't recommend

GN GJ GA all variations of CHF should be avoided.

Hyper pairs like I mentioned are in my experience don't fall into position building well and if got it wrong can be account draining. Ironically where lots of noobs get killed. I seriously think if you don't have solid experience and know what you are doing you should not even have GJ GN GA on your charts.

would you please put one of your 15min trading chart?

sure its the same chart I use on all time frames. Zooming out you can see S/R pivots better then drop down to 15min for entry

Beauty of pivots don't change until week is over unlike repainting indicators lines are there no matter which TF you look.

There is no failure except in no longer trying

I use Qanda NY and if you trading from East like New Zealand Australia day starts earlier and may effect the pivots. There is broker time adjustments on inputs. You can play with it see if yours match with mine. If fails try broker time false

Not recommending trading now. With Feds coming up markets will go in erratic spikes so not worth it. Wait after the FEDs. Market will be there

Davit's Pivot Trading Posts – April to June 2016 – 135 pgs

Thanks N

Join us next week! Lots of good set ups in works. My style of trading is aggressive position building but one can trade pivots normally as well.

UC is looking like it wants to go north, Will be watching WTI crude which is peaked perhaps little too far.

We may see USD gained a little after aggressive selling post Feds event.

My philosophy is to be open to what market does that's why I don't like using "go with trends" or against it often because within every trend there are multiple swings that can travels over 50pips hence my focus is on swings.

Quoting fibosniper

Actually I have been using your Davit Pivot V2 since several weeks ago. But I don't realize the default setting for broker like OANDA due to I made some profitable trading using default setting. LOL. Here is my latest setting for broker GMT +3 {image} I see some good support and resistance using that setting. But you should update H1 Candle Value every week. Don't forget to set Broker's Candle to FALSE.

Key concept is being aware of turning zones

61 specially 78 zone

Google Scott Carney 786 fib you'll get interesting results. 78Fib is not even on Fib Meta tool default setting and many traders are unaware of its significance.

"0.786 Retracement

The 0.786 retracement is the square root of the 0.618. The 0.786 retracement is the next critical area to examine, after the 0.618 has been clearly violated. The 0.786 is a vital Fibonacci number because it is often the last chance reversal area before retesting the original price point. Price action that does not reverse from the 0.786 usually will retest, and often break past the original starting point. Therefore, 0.786 failures are significant because the stop loss limit will be clearly defined by the original starting point and relatively small in comparison to the potential reversal.

The 0.786 retracement is fairly unknown in the industry, although I believe that more technicians are becoming aware of its significance.

In my opinion, it is a crucial Fibonacci number, since it is one of the last harmonic ratios before retesting a trends prior high or low and it can provide a clear

indication of the future direction based upon the price action at the number.

Another reason the 0.786 is a valuable Fibonacci number is because it can often gauge potential opportunities, especially when the surrounding market noise (information) suggests that the set-up is to be avoided. I have observed many situations, where the information in the media is quite contrary to what the price action at the 0.786 is indicating. If a stock is trending strongly, the 0.786 projection frequently can serve as a key reversal point, despite such contrary information. The following illustrations and examples will elucidate this concept."

Example of my recent EU trades. Notice the fib

{quote} Hello, Davit! When you spot a setup at an important pivot level, do you go take a look at HTFs? Or you just take that setup, regardless of what the HTFs are saying, because you have complete faith in your PP system?

That's a good question which I answered on my 1st post

Before you understand this firmly please read my 1st post. I talk about location.

Price moves in waves look up Elliot Wave theory. Irregardless whether you trade EW or not price does not go straight up or down.

I trade swings and they are swings on Down trend and uptrend. For me it's all about the swing.

Trend can change 100+ pips in 4 hours opposite of previous 4 hrs and same on daily. Important to understand is where most turns likely to occur with the help of pivots and with TDI as confirmation you got a real edge.

Davit's Pivot Trading Posts – April to June 2016 – 135 pgs

I have about 12 trades going now so there is no lack of opportunities.

My system is simple but complex same time. You must understand Price Action minimum.

{quote} Thanks for the reply, Davit! Now you've made me go back to post 1. 😊 So your alarm goes off when PA is near an important PP. Is my assumption correct that when PA gets there, you start browsing through TFs (probably starting with H4 and going lower, cause I am not sure if you trade D1), and you take the cross/bounce of the first TF which provides that? P.S.: I also see a nice regular divergence on your EG trade.

correct.I look 30min cross mostly but have taken 15min as well but nothing smaller PA is king.Lots of YouTube videos on it watch please if not familiar.

Hi Davit, Just noting that in your screen shot EURGBP (1H), your pivots do not resemble mine. I have the R38 at 0.79409 and the Pivot at 0.78928. I note that I am approx. 1H ahead of you, being in Brisbane, Australia and my Broker time is GMT+3. For what market hours and when do you set your weekly pivots? Really enjoying your thread. Thanking you in anticipation. {image} did you make $$ or got out with loss? Its a weird pair anyway...I never trade it.After Swiss bank's titanic move (bankrupted hundreds of brokers as well as thousands of traders) I never looked at it ever since.

looking at it again you made a typical mistake of getting in at the bottom of the move.This is why I posted my 1st page Location.Does not matter to me previous H4 candles and I know that's being sold at TMS threads but missing part is location.That's the weakness of TMS it assumes whatever H4 candle is next will be the same...One of the reasons I don't trade it.

Aft'/Morning Davit. Am in profit by about 15ps so will move to B/E a few more. Markets seem to be soooo slow. Guess anticipation of tomorrow's news. 🙄🕒

Watch manually and get out if necessary.

I posted EC EG and EA charts all were winners.Keep looking at the levels and find PA weaknesses

If you have not studied I strongly recommend you understand general price patterns simple. One must be aware of a lot of things such as Time, News, momentum, sentiment, PA and combine that with pivots you are ready for battle 😊

Simplicity comes after these things become automatic intuitive. I always scan my news its something to me like weatherperson looking at the radar. Anyway perhaps I rattled too much here. I'll stop

Hi K

There is significance. NY closes at 5pm. Day starts at 5pm 12AM? that's 6 hours into trading session. How is that opening?

hello davit thanks i appreciate your response have 3 question 1. do you wait for setup to form on a higher time frame around the reversal zone like R61, R71, R100 then dig down to lower time frame to take the trade or when you spot a setup on any time frame like 30min you take it around the reversal zone 2. i know you trade news do you trade before the news release or after the news release. if you are in a trade before a news release do you ride the news with the trade 3. do you look at divergent also when trading anticipating your kind response Thanks...

Hi Toksy

My base TF is 30min but when I see a weakness I jumped on it even on 15min but PA

Davit's Pivot Trading Posts – April to June 2016 – 135 pgs

must be in good zone 61+ unless its ranging. Ranging pairs tend bounce from 38 to 38
Its important to understand I repeat that price action is important TDI turn important because price can get through zones as we have seen on EA. Part of EA move was fueled by interest rate cut as well so there is fundemetal drive behind.

I don't trade news. Prefer to be out most times specially NFP. One usually finds good opportunities after.

I do look for divergence but it has been my experience that its hard trading meaning what looks Div on H1 may look very normal on H4 and nothing at all on D. I like dives that show same up to Daily.

Its not something I put great impoetrance. To me most important is looking at Price Action in zones.

Its good idea going back to same chart I posted last week and how it turned out (this is most educational)

EG dropped nice 150pips from R100 bounced from close to 38
Initial TDI cross highlighted and box I drew still on the chart.

thanks for the Pivots Davit, it shows key turning points on charts which make determining entries and exits easier, having to update the time in the indicator every week is a small price to ask considering the amount of winners you get

You welcome Sib

I am not updating anything.It does on its on.

New pivots form every week.Notice NU turn exact on 61R and bounce from 61S

Too many to list.You only need 10 good trades to hit % monthly goal.

Fundamentally I am becoming more bearish on USD.Unemployment claims raising and job creation declining and there will be no June hike so anticipate further USD decline.

Holding my main shorts trades on UC to 125 anticipate hitting by the end of May or in June.Either way I think we will get there even lower.

I suggest instead of trading 10pairs focus on few and know them well.

Hey Davit, my first Pivot trade ... only on Demo as I am still very new to trading and TDI, but it looked like a nice bounce off R78 yesterday. Any comments welcome. Oh - and I also have to update the week start end date on my pivot indicator also like sibonelo - I wonder why you don't need to, is it because your GMT offset is the same as the default setting? cheers. {image}

Hi Nostro

Its good that you are on demo. I usually don't trade UJ because of BOJ could and have intervened in the past and price can spike or dive very quickly. In my real account I don't see value trading the Yen.

Fundamentally Japanese are in panic in terms of Yen getting stronger and won't surprise me abrupt unannounced move to weaken it.

I have no issues on pivots. I don't change anything. Don't know reasons but fact is every week there are new ones.

Has been working fine $$ why change it.

{quote} Davit, thanks for your feedback, what in your opinion are good stable pairs to trade with plenty of good sized swings? I read about the fiasco a while ago with Swiss franc, and I can definitely see your point about the Japanese Govt interference in their currency ... (mind you - don't all Govts do that? 😊) I only decided to start with EU, GU, AU, EJ, UJ, AJ, UCad as that was a recommendation for beginners on the TMS thread. I was going to concentrate on EUR/USD but I wanted to have a couple more alternatives for when that pair was flat,...

80% of my trades are on UC and some on AC and EC rest on EU AU NU GU EG

I like the Cad because I can keep up with oil and Cad fundamentals. To me you only need 2-3 pairs to reach your monthly goal.

When you focus on few pairs you get to know it well and build confidence trading them.

It's a misconception that one needs to be all over the place to make money. I can build 10 trades on UC equaling trading 10 different pairs but my results would be better because I only need one swing to collect.

General guidelines to me is this

If you have less than 5 years of experience then don't trade hyper crosses like GN GA EN GJ. Anything over 130 daily range is red herring to me. It's not about profits it's about controlling risk. Profits take care themselves.

Mistake lot of rookies make is getting carried over by greed and trade crosses and pay dearly when wrong.

{quote} Hi Davit and everyone here, Have been going through this thread quietly and really do like it especially for its FAST nature 15min-30mins TF and also for the nature of the pivots used. Already downloaded the harmonics trading manual for further understanding of harmonics and the 0.786 etc Fib numbers. I took a trade at the PIN/Hammer that formed under the R100 level of USD/JPY and opened two positions successively and whao, you know what IT ROCKS, I made 59pips and 35pips from both, got stopped out by my trailing stop but now its going up...

Welcome Rapzy

Continue your focus and you will do fine. I like to be active lot more but do have 2 full time jobs and time is an issue.

As far as other contributors I am not concern since I value quality over quantity. EU thread has ton of contributors but hardly anything worth reading.

My best advise take any system and focus on it at least minimum 6 months. Allow probability edge to show. Most quit too early.

My system is one of most logical at FF here. I very much love it.

Download the PDF on harmonics and read it. Its nice thing to understand how price moves. File is on clipboard top of the thread.

Today, Monday has been a terribly ranging day for almost all pairs but have managed to squeeze out the ffg: GJ - 70pips sell uj - 15pips buy Aj - 12pips etc. I moved my 57USD live account to 100.26USD in two days (Last Friday and Today) using 0.01 micro lots. That is about 43usd. Precisely on Friday 13th, 57USD to 87.21USD --- 300+pips, then today 16th Monday 87.21USD to 100.26USD...

Congratulations on your thread Davit, ive been intrigued with the Pivots ever since you brought it up in Aussie's thread. You seem to have mastered the swing technique. Some questions 1) Do you look at trend lines at all? Or is it purely based on how price behaves at Pivot & S/R? 2) Would you place stop loss behind the pivot points? 3) You mentioned TDI as confirmation, so I guess their levels (under 32 or above 68) doesnt matter as long as theres a cross? A few other traders here have had issues with the way the pivot looks on their chart, & Im...

Sorry for late reply somehow missed your post.

I find 5-10pip differentiation of pivots acceptable.They are zones not exact number at least how I trade it.

Any Tech will help you see price better but I don't pay attention to TL's in most cases.Reasons are many if price behaved the way it breaks TL then we could be all rich. Well it does not so I threw out of the window long ego.

Davit's Pivot Trading Posts – April to June 2016 – 135 pgs

I don't pay attention to 38/68 anymore as long as price action confirms the direction. I don't place hard stops but do monitor and do have a number which I get out.

I trade small with multiple entries. I find its best way to overcome hard stops.

Greed got the best of me today 😞 made 170+ pips from GJ and GU trades this morning on multiple entries --- account balance rose to 120USD. but just before new york session pin bars formed on the 15min charts of GJ, GU, and EG at the R61 level and jumped in on all trades with multiple entries, they all hit me baaad 😞 Anyways, the markets are still there. Lesson learned, slow but steady you will get there. Sad to say but others should learn, account balance --- 84USD

👋 Cheers

Hi Rapzy

Set a % for the month and hit it once done that then take only A+trades.

My goal is 10% a month but I am already close to 18% so I am relaxed. Your problem is size of your account which you aggressively try to build up.

For small account try having weekly % goal not daily. This way you are more relaxed to look at price action better without emotional involvement.

Try reading this amazing book

Will help you

{quote} Thanks for reply Davit. When do you exit a trade, I know you mentioned taking a trade at 15 or 30TF, do you use the same TF for exits? Or look at pin bars and SR rejection as exit signals? Cheers & Keep up the good work

Hi Mraam

I mainly use swings tops and bottoms as exits and sometimes hang to see if there is more action in same direction.

Example my EA trade I should of got out at 61S but held on thinking it may go lower but it didn't and closed at 50% profit.

Its a constant struggle to close? or not at least for me.

So swings can be anywhere 50pips to 100 depending on pair.Any gains more then 50pips is reasonable profit.

MacD is lagging indicator by the time it tells you you are in a trend it will most likely turn and go back in correction.

I try to make people think outside the box! Think swings not trends.Every trend has swings!Keep telling that to yourself and you will start seeing opportunities where before was none.

Its a paradigm change.Step away from indicator based trading to understanding how price moves.

Pivot close at 55 so anticipating a bounce to reload.

Got 3 shorts on UC running

Note that higher TF EA is red so downside has higher probability.

If you google or even search here at FF you'll find many that do that. I find it just clutters the chart. I am not holding trades for weeks so don't find the need.

Quoting Nostromo

{quote} Davit, Can you please clarify for me - how the center 'Pivot' line considered when planning trades? By this I mean: my understanding is that e.g. the s61 pivot is a reasonably strong resistance and the s100 even more so, thus if PA bumps along the s61 line a few times then I have a reasonable expectation that it will head back up to the zero pivot centerline. What puzzles me is how to know which direction to trade when PA is AT the centerline - it is effectively zero 'gravity' if you see what I mean. Your trade here - how did you know to...

Hard answering you exactly but I'll try. EA is combination of AU and EU .AU making reasonable gains but EU is stuck at 1200 so that effects EA directly.

I watch how majors behave when trading crosses.Momentum has lot to do with it plus simple PA reading.

In most cases I don't trade from pivot but in case of EA I did based on reasons I mentioned.

REgards

Made great gains trading 1 pair few days.Reentered shorts on EA

Davit's Pivot Trading Posts – April to June 2016 – 135 pgs

Quoting Nostromo

{quote} Davit, thanks for the response, so basically the central pivot point is neutral and trades around there need to be based on other PA/fundamental analysis.

Correct I think of weekly pivot as equilibrium. When price runs away from it resistance becomes greater as further it travels.

You can observe this by viewing any pair.

Quoting Nostromo

Davit, Last request for the weekend! I am using all your page 1 indis and template, problem is I think 3 of the indis are missing? The ADR, market_price_label and lpm_pips labels (green color, top left, top right and bottom right) are permanently frozen on my screen from the installation which makes me think there should be an indicator file for them. Could you upload those please?

Thanks I will update the 1st page

Watching EC to get to 38R when I may start building my shorts
Funny part is I stopped looking at MA's that is any MA's and result has been very liberating. I can imagine how lot of traders get caught up in MA's and get all tangle up.

{quote} Hi Davit , I Read all the thread but i couldn't find how you take your positions , I am not talking about the first trade your are taking but the others so are you using the ADR for that ? which ration ? do you add positions just if you are in profit or if loss ( what the criteria ) Sorry if this been answered before Thanks In Advance

I follow PA once I am in I build positions.I never enter full lot.Break them up and average out so I get a better price overall.This is common on stock trading but not in forex.

Its my way of controlling losses.Should PA go against me I can get out with 1/4 lot damage instead of full lot.I don't place hard SL but do have a threshold when I get out.

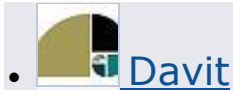

ADR is just allowing you to see daily extremes better.Example if UC travels 100ADR last 20days and its at 110 then chances of correction is great.

Usually late entries get crashed which in general is stupid money.

{quote} Thanks For your reply I need to work more in this regards Do you recommend any source to learn about build the positions - May be some thing near to ur method so i can do my home work ? Thanks again

I suggest you stick with regular orders but keep them small until you gain real experience.Position building by rookies often ends up in disaster since they hang on to losers too long.

worth reading

https://www.dailyfx.com/forex/educat...ing\_in\_js.html

Scaling in to me is about controlling risk and that's my number 1 criteria.Noticed I didn't mention anything about profits.

Focus on risk control and profits take care of themselves.

Rookie traders think about profits

Pro traders think about managing risk.2 are very different way to see the markets.I ride motorcycles sport bikes and I always assume the other person does not see me when coming in intersections.Its a defensive way of ridding and you must or you will be dead. Same analogy is true in trading.

Waiting {image} {image}

Davit's Pivot Trading Posts – April to June 2016 – 135 pgs

Max just be mindful that Pivots are like road maps like "watch something might happen"
But its not guarantee that without correct PA trades will be successful.

I recommend you wait and watch 1st how PA reacts to pivot then take appropriate trade. Price can easily go though pivots specially when propelled by news.

Something you should ingrain in you as a trader.Never assume what price may do without it doing it 1st

This part is the heart of trading.We watch 1st then take action.

Take a look at my EA trade.Clearly PA was going down there was no if or buts.

Hello All. Mraam. I have been out all day, came home to what was going to be my first losing day since being blessed by this thread. Turned laptop on to see two out of three trades were stopped out for 30 pips. And my Aud/Nzd was looking in very poor health. Oh well, I cant grumble. Then the aussie shot up like a rocket! Today is a good day x

Davit's Pivot Trading Posts – April to June 2016 – 135 pgs

Hi Lukyman

I suggest reducing your lot size and get out when in reasonable profit. You must change your mindset from sprinting to marathon running.

Build account in methodical slow way.

I hit 10-20% a month so not bad trading small lots. Advantage is losses don't kill me.

{quote} Yeah the G crosses are all on a roll. Your 30pip stops for GJ is quite small dont you think? Since its daily ADR is huge. {quote} Awesome! 🙌 It went through a roller coaster after you went long... how come you were so sure it was going up? and didnt the stops trigger when it went down (many times after you took it)... Cheers

I allow room for DD

DD is not necessarily a bad thing as long as you know how much you are willing to let it accumulate.

DD for me is the stop loss. As long as its within reason I usually stay on course unless clearly PA is proving me wrong. This is one of the reasons I am a huge advocate of cost averaging and trading small lots.

Between 650-40 I had 5 orders. PA only went 629'sh that's small DD Which I could easily hold. Hope this answers your question

Don't want to confuse but I also follow harmonics.

UP side AN is wide open meaning in long run PA will go up. That's why I am not afraid of bear spikes

Now that I am out I would not mind below 690 again to build another set of longs waiting for GA to go sell any comment choose easier pairs to trade. I recommend trading G crosses after 5yrs of trading experience or you will pay dearly by massive sudden spikes and erratic moves.

Stick with pairs that are less than 120 pip ADR

I also use limit orders in my advantage since I work 70hrs a week I have no time for perfect entries so I place limits at key zones and wait to see what happens.

Got AN at 38S waiting

Would it dive again? Don't know. Does it hurt being there? no but should it trigger and bounce up you will be in profit without effort.

I have collected thousands of pips using this technique over the years.

Commodity pairs are getting the hit specially UC

EC is worth monitoring weekly pivot at 4670 where I prefer to short.Not gonna buy now since ton of EU related data this week and rather not invest on Euro.

overall mood is USD is crashing everything and I learned to stay out of it and catch the fall.

{quote} Hello Davit, Referring to the EC chart you posted, there were nice long entries on the chart - would you have taken them? - Okay i know youve already answered this above, but my question is purely on the way the charts look assume that its some other pair... Also ive posted the exact same oanda chart (gmt -5 server) but the pivots look very different. What adjustments do you make on the pivot inputs (if any?) Cheers {image}

Your question was answered on my post you quoted. Please read it 1st. Find it funny you asking about EC when I was super clear.

I don't change my outlook. I hammer most probable trades and that's why I get 10-25% a month return. To me it's about following fundamentals and charts. I already stated lots of data coming out on Euro... hence rather stay out of it and catch the exhaustions.

EC is no man's land. Trapped between S38 and pivot. I already stated many times that I prefer not trade pairs that are clearly untradable specially in between pivots. Actually GC is the one to watch. I already posted the chart...

I do nothing on my indicator. Not changing anything.

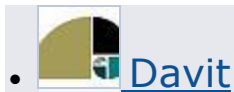

Usually after Monday pivots change automatically. My chart was reflection of last week's pivot and I am sure it will change soon.

Some fundamental angle

Crude will most likely go into correction testing low 40's and this in anticipation of June hike by the Feds.

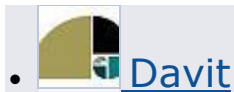

I anticipate weakness to persist on Canadian dollar until Feds show their hands. Market is about 25% anticipate hike in June which is not huge but Feds can surprise.

Should UC hit above 32 I will most likely build shorts in increments.

NU is getting close to 61R

I advise not trading this but if you must place limit short at 7050-7070 and wait for spike during announcement to trigger.

My take is even if interest rate stays the same much of that is priced in already.

In general scheme of things NZD hurts the NZ economy if it appreciates too much. Much of the economy is dairy and agricultural based and strong NZD is not competitive specially in light of Aussie recent rate cut. I would not be surprised if they do cut the rate to 2.00 to stay within range with Aussie.

{quote} Hello Davit, 1. when I look at this chart then I see that you had a huge drawdown..60 pips against you with 5 opened positions. That's 300 pips against you 😬. How do you deal with this drawdown? The price went down but what if the reaction to the news would have been opposite? 2. What was the setup that made you open those 5 positions? 3. Can you tell what is your money management when you open a position? cheers 👍

How I deal with DD?

Good question

I don't really count pips I count $$

I set for example $500 1 batch of trades. I enter mini lots. As long as my 500 is not reached then it did not reach my SL.

In AN case I got stopped out. Sometimes does not work holding on. Should of gotten out when in good profit. That's trading. Hard knowing the future.

I have many times got out early then price moved in my way another 300 pips so its delicate act which I am still trying to refine.

Hello Davit Really interesting thread you've got here. Thank you for sharing. I do have one question: how do you manage your SL when you're not at your desk? I know you don't have a total pip value, more of a personable 'acceptable' DD %. As a swing trader, I'm assuming you sometimes keep positions open overnight or for a few days. How do you manage your SL then?

Hi Mact welcome

Once again my SL is based on actual $$ not pip. As long as my batch of trades have not reached max Dd in terms of $$ then I let it run.

Let me give you concrete example

Davit's Pivot Trading Posts – April to June 2016 – 135 pgs

I was shorting UC from 129 and price went 31+ and I had over 200pip DD but in actual $$ it was only 20% of my intended lot to be traded on this pair. Then I Hummered rest from the swing top and made all DD back plus nice profit.

I trade unorthodox style

I learned over the years that 20-30pip SL is sucker move. It will get hit and you can be taken out even if direction is correct.

I refined my style of trading that pivots allows best entries without huge DD. People who see the value of this thread will profit

Regards

{quote} No I understood that. What I meant is literally how do you manage your risk if you're away from your desk for instance if your trade has to run over night. As you said you don't use a hard SL, do you use an EA instead?

I answered your question. My sL is part of my trading entries. Should PA overrun my budget for that trade I take the loss manually.

I often take earlier if I think fundamentals shifting.

I work 70hrs a week and often can't be at my computer but twice a day morning and night I can hence plenty of opportunities to take the loss.

Reason I can do this because I don't over trade. I trade mini lots.

Hope you are clearer. I don't talk about this often because I rather people use SL they are comfortable with.

Hello Davit, every week pivot levels are reset due to new high/low/close calc of previous week, there are gaps between previous and current levels.. how do you transition these gaps, or do you mark previous week's levels and compare them to the new levels?

I just carry over and watch PA with new pivots.I try to simplify everything.

I don't mark previous pivots.There are lots of indicators which show previous pivots but I found they just clutter the thinking.

USD getting hawkish before the Feds meeting and GU could test 100S

I no longer trade G pairs for Brexit reasons but do monitor it for overall sentiment.

Will hold my NU shorts to maybe 6850 pivot which I think may reach before the Feds.

Hi Lee

Hard knowing what PA will be without the week starting. It could go lower since Pound is getting a beating cross the field.

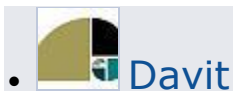

In general movements of crosses is dictated by majors. GU gains up so will GJ. Should GU continue to decline GJ will decline as well.

Davit, Did you code or tweak this indi yourself? I was just wondering if you could make it so the weekly fib lines only display for the current week, or on the very right side of the screen rather than go off left to infinity? Would be much appreciated. regards N.

It was thought out. Its part of the inputs

Change to "true"

I personally prefer it going all the way left because even though weekly pivots change they still remain close to previous week so one glance tells me everything I need to know.

cheers

its been said a hundred times but its well worth saying a hundred times more - Thanks Davit for this simple system, price action + pivots is all i need now. i just look for engulfing patterns, pin bars, dojis\spinning tops at S-R zones and pivot on 4hr and daily... then pull the trigger. TDI usually confirms after i have entered Thanks friend! Yes we don't need ton of indicators.This way you are paying more attention what price is doing in relation to pivots and PA in general.

. wow this is excellent Davit. This is really motivating. +15% gain already in 2weeks. Am still practicing and working on your system on demo account. soon it will become my second nature.

Keep practicing👍

Talk about the power of pivots bouncing from weekly to 38s

Ranging pair EA

Love range pairs best money making situation.Don't believe shit you read on trading books.Range trading is great $$

Trading books are always talking about "trend" and most cases are clueless what that is.

You should have 2 different way approaching pairs.Trending requires larger SL and patience and range requires getting in and out on swings.

totally missed shorting this....

{quote} Hi Davit I must tell you your system is incredible. All it takes is patience and practice as am seeing. am beginning to see result bit by bit. i think my questions will begin to pop in now as i practice and experience different scenario. From the attached EURUSD 30 chart. when am in profit and PA suddenly turns without getting to any S/R and begin to move against me and TDi crosses down. does that mean i have to close the trade and take whatever little profit i have on the table. or still hold on to see if the PA would turn back to the former...

Dollarman thanks for seeing the value of my system...

Your question is excellent and I am surprised nobody asked that here before. Its actually a simple solution-go higher time frame.

1hr 4hr specially. If previous 4h is bull stay in it. Move SL to break even then let price do its thing. Once you are more then 20pip in profit start moving SL closer and closer to protect the profits.

This applies to Nostro question and trading in general.

First like to add that there is no loss system period! If anyone is telling you there is one just stay away and don't waste your time.

Worth posting this

Thinking in terms of probabilities also helps remove the emotional risk of trading. Mark Douglas talks about the 5 Fundamental Truths, they are as follows

1. Anything can happen
2. You don't need to know what is going to happen next in order to make money
3. There is a random distribution between wins and losses for any given set of variables that define an edge
4. An edge is nothing more than an indication of a higher probability of one thing happening over another
5. Every moment in the market is unique

Now my system is based upon simple observation that price hitting pivots away from weekly pivot will either break or retreat. That's my set of variables and given years of observation I came to conclude that price breaking 61R or 61S is less likely than going towards next level and rejection increases incrementally as price hits 78R/S and 100R/S.

This is hard for people to get specially trend traders but simple fact is Elliot theory is

Hi Mraam

Congrats and just an observation.Your chart is nothing like mine.Right side says TMS then you got APB or H candles and wiggly MA's which I dislike both MA's APB's and Heikenashi candles.

If you going to post chart please post with my template or yours but with my indicators because I don't want this thread become anything goes crap typical of many systems. There is a reason I don't post at TMS's threads anymore and started my own.Obviously my method is different. I am trading in my view highest most direct way I can without all the fluff typical of other systems and that includes all the none japanese candle indicators.

Pure basic Japanese candles are best because that's what you see when I say PA price action. APB or H candles calculate differently thus PA is not the same but distorted version indicators.

If you feel comfortable trading TMS then please don't post here with all that TMS

Thank you

Finished my week rather well. Close to 20% for the month. Still have another week or so left.

Have multiple shorts on UC still running and have not closed those.

I may wait to hit 26-25. Feds were very dovish so no more interest rate talk until Sept but in my view won't happen this year. I anticipate USD weakening further in coming months. This is my overall view

Brexit may drive scared investors back to "safe" currencies like AU NU and USD so be aware that massive spikes may occur on that day which is very close. In my view don't trade E or G pairs. Wild swings are expected. You will be taken out no matter which side you are on.

Hi Davit, how are you today?! Little question regarding NU: {image} What would you do? TDI high, looks like we hit the R61, I waited the 1h candle to close but not sure it is the right decision... Would you give me an idea of what you think about the entry into this position? How about my sl/tp? Cheers & good day!

In essence this is advance trading hence requires PA reading. There are many more systems that are more user friendly such as "Trading made simple" and TMS 30min. Mine requires experience. I can't answer what to do on every situation. You must demo it and learn from experience.

Daily open is S/R it creates a bias.Its on my template for a reason.I always like to know DO and ADR distance from that line.

If pair travels average 20days 72pips like NU and manages to travels 130pips in 1day from DO then probability of correction is great or you should be cautious of getting in on LATE party after the move is exhausted.

I usually get in on beginning of the move rarely on tail end.

so far AC can't break 9560

Watching it but weakness of USD may continue. On the fence now problem of holding high swap pair like NU shorting costs money unless you time it perfectly.

I eliminated other fluff I don't need. Use my template and be done with it. Yellow line (sentiment) and volatility bands are pointless. To me clarity is most important.

I'm interested in understanding your SL. Over the PA or other formations above the pivot. Your SL are not seen. Thanks for the reply.{quote}

I answered this multiple times here and may save it for future reference

I don't use traditional hard stops.I trade totally different them most traders.I use real actual $$ for stops and not pips.

Example I like to short NU 7120

My budget for this is 2-3% of account risk say $500 for example.I then enter trades on mini lots and as long as my 500 is not consumed on DD and I am still confident of my trade I stay on it.I may choose to get out early but most times my SL is predetermined.This allows me to cast a wider net. So my 10mini lots can cover 50pip distance hence capture better RR

Davit's Pivot Trading Posts – April to June 2016 – 135 pgs

There is advantage to trade this way. Should PA go against you and you no longer like the trade you can get out by fraction of lot invested hence your loss is minimal instead of traditional 1 trade 1lot per trade when if wrong loss is substantially higher.

Hope that answers you

Quoting dollarman

Hi Davit. Have been demo trading your system not quite long like i told you before and the result is quite impressive. thanks for that. Now am planning to go on live account now. So am making sure i have all the right settings for the system. My chart looks like your chart except for one thing. I notice my chart doesnt have those little boxes that diplays orange or red or green in the TMS_ Angleator v3 -RT2 indicator at the far right corner on my chart just as you have it on your chart and other guys have it on their chart as well. (I mean that...

Hi Dollarman just go easy on live account. Build it slow and methodical.

I never pay attention to those boxes. I just look at the arrows. Supposedly they mean something but all honesty PA is king. Its not like I will not take a trade because little box at the bottom is orange... It was developed or overdeveloped for TDI levels but looking at TDI is all you need.

I don't know why its not working. Try installing my template again.

most of the times I keep my chart overlapping those boxes to save chart space so you are not missing anything.

REgards

made shitload of money today over 750 pips on NU shorts and over 670 pips on AC shorts

Both positions were on DD but since I trade with DD as part of my SL it did not reach my SL both pairs.

Broker time difference. Play with settings until you get close to 3098 61R
You are off about 17pips which is a lot. My broker is based in NY city.

Try broker time false
see if that make it closer or play with candle starts.

{quote} Guys, I had a look at the way the pivots are calculated and it looks like they are based on previous period  $(\text{High} + \text{Low} + \text{Close}) / 3$ . Therefore if you have a different broker, or are in a different timezone to Davit your close candle will be different, so expect to see a difference based on that. You can actually choose the calculation basis for the pivots - look at Pivot\_meth in settings. As always - please correct me if I am wrong about this!

Its hard for me playing with settings because I am in East cost NY and most offset pivots are from Australia and far east.

I asked the guys to play with settings and had no response and get the typical reactions. I am sure its very simple solutions like broker candle start time but had no inputs from guys who are complaining. Anyway will look into this in coming days week.
thank you

Hi Davit, Do you hold on to trades over the weekend or do you manually Close at around this time when poeple close on Friday? Another reason is that TDI is hooking up. Trying to learn as much as I can your method! Green pips. {image}

4h is huge bear candle

I am going to hold yes through weekend and could be few more weeks until PA reaches 28area.

Wow my AC opened with big gap down 😊

Opposite on UC but holding on to this. 20pip spread that's why shows less pips but in 3hours pips will increase.

Would not mind bounce up to add more positions on AC

Davit's Pivot Trading Posts – April to June 2016 – 135 pgs

Yes Nostro. Pivots are zones, not always precise levels. USD/CAD D1. price at R38. Looking for rejection PA at this area including 1.3100, or possible sell at next zone around R61? Price has rejected current level before. This pivot indy is a gr8 help to me so far. I reckon it is keeping me out of bad trades. My trade plan at the moment is to only trade from these zones with PA, away from them. Enjoying demoing for now. Thanks Davit. {image}

In general you can't lose selling UC from these levels by keeping lots small thus allowing higher entries. The panic USD buying will subside. Asia is in panic....nothing new there

Quoting Guitarbloke

{quote} Davit, i think i get you. Are you saying that you would sell at e.g. U/C in this case, say a small lot at R38 after spotting rejection wicks, and betting on it going south, then adding to ur position if it does, but also leaving u the option of getting out of trade if price heads north, and losing only a small lot/s? Is that the theory? Thanks G

That's part of it ...but I do lot more..I build positions.
from my trading plan

STOP LOSS

- 1 Decide how much each swing is worth example $500
2. Divide $500 into mini lots for multiple entries example .50c a pip gives 1000 pip distance
3. This allows averaging in orders as seen fit irregardless if previous orders are in red
4. Orders are placed as long as reason for trade is still valid
5. If conditions change loss is taken since orders are not all placed all at once this allows smaller loss

Swings

Each Swing investment $500

Swing is taken as loss once -$500 is reached but often loss is taken early if PA obviously is going against you hence its not necessary to wait until 500 is reached.

There are no exceptions.No running red beyond $500

Orders broken down into mini lots that satisfies each swing consist of 10-15 trades

Davit's Pivot Trading Posts – April to June 2016 – 135 pgs

I average about 15 swings a month consist of average 10 mini trades each swing

I came to realization that traditional hard SL of 20-50pip is total sucker move because players who move the market know exactly where your stops are. You will be taken out even if direction is correct. How to overcome this dilemma? Read my plan. Its very logical.

monitor your trades without hard SL. Beat them in their own game.

Read about Elliot Wave theory. Its the most brilliant concept in trading that all markets adhere to. Pivots are nothing but waves inside waves inside bigger waves.

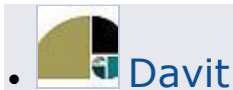

Example I just exited my AC trades but should it hit 97 I most likely will sell again... You see you have to improvise and go with market flow.

AC PA is having real hard time breaking daily open 9662 once this goes I think it could drop lot quicker. Lot of traders think London open is true daily open. Not true. Day begins from NY close 5pm.

you can eye ball this on every pair and see real price reactions on daily open. Its important because it creates a bias.

UC for example is already below DO not by much but enough that it creates a bear bias Might be heading to weekly pivot and that would make sense closing the gap as well

Watching EU for possible long at 923 38S previous bounce

Some may say "why not sell now to 38S" Well I don't know if price will get there and also after severe drop like this bounce could come on any time hence I rather strike at the right time.

Trading to me is defensive battle.Most of the timer I play D and only attack at right time.

{quote} Davit, Thanks very much for this hugely informative post! I have a couple of questions; 1) Do you often find that after splitting your $500 investment into 10 lots that price moves in your favor faster than expected and you only manage to place say 3 or 4 tenths before it is time to sell? I am still trying to get my head around the Multiple Entry-Single Exit approach. I realize it is for experienced traders and I can see the advantage in the sense it 'averages down' your entry point leaving you free to concentrate on a good exit point. The...

Hi Nostro

Its 10mini lots average.Usually its less.I add sometimes trades very close like 5pips apart.Everything depends how price moves.If I don't manage to enter all lots then that's not an issue just less profits.To me its about hitting monthly goal. Set % then try to hit it. Mine is 10% a month minimum and often exceed that %
Its important to get overall concept in trading

Place your starting equity and % and how many months and see where you will be in 5years.

Guys I share a little insight.Love rangy pairs they are best $$ makers
Pairs like AN AC NC EC often range. last month I made over 15% on AC alone.This is opposite of what you read on trading books.Most trading books are always emphasize trends but honestly Forex 70% is in a range.This is a paradigm shift usually happens after decent experience in trading

I closed it out. Still feeling it out. Thank you again Davit. What would be nice if you could give an online seminar for about 1 1/2 hour. 1hr 15min for explaining exactly how you do it. Fundamentals, PA, TDI and pivots. I can spare $100.00usd. Just a thought. Thanks. {image}

Can't do seminars not my style. I just share for benefit of others but you need screen time. Nothing can be substituted. Trading psychology takes time. You can have all the right knowledge, tools, methods and still lose because you may not have enough screen time experience to deal with your mind.

Just spend time trading and things will start taking shape. Lot of what I do now is automatic....

If you can survive 1st 2 years without blowing accounts you have a shot in trading. Most traders start making money real money from 5th year+. Just takes time.

When I look back shit mistakes I did from my rookie years I can't believe how much $$ I wasted. I guess it was a tuition money. Demo trading teaches little. Without having pressure on your mind with real money you won't grow as a trader. Everyone makes money on demo and brokers know that and that's why they lure new blood by making it look like you can do it with real money... Well most find out soon that's not the case. Don't demo at minimum trade penny amounts but enough that you care what you do. Train your mind.

I got PDF on clip board. Read it.

Nice trading. I am holding for possible break to weekly pivot at 2940's

Just keep in mind that higher TF is still bear H4 so what may look bad on H1 30min may not look so bad on H4

This is hard part of trading. Take profit or let it run. Hold and PA may go up in a range and you lose profits and get out PA may break lower and you might be scratching your head why you got out early.

I don't have easy solution. Each swing has its unique PA must watch the market to determine the right move.

Someone asked here why fib pivots and not standard pivots. Its a legit question. I believe supported by lots of screen time observations that fib pivots are superior in terms of price reacting to them.

Example look at UC price squeezed the breaks right on W pivot and current EG chart which I am watching for possible trade. Example are all over and this is valid cross the board.

That's really great.

What I am teaching here is in my opinion one of the best ways to trade. Sharp focus on PA with help of pivots. There is structure what I am doing.

Some like naked charts. Problem is without pivots you are doing much of guesswork.

What will help you is to understand and read about Harmonics and Elliot wave theory. Once you really understand this you start seeing price from very liberated perspective.

Google Scott Carney and download his books on harmonic trading. I can't upload them since they are more than 10MB

That's your homework for the weekend. 😊

I've been reading the e-book you recommended. Thanks. When you get a chance sometime in your post can you say why you don't like trading the Yen? I been watching the GJ and decided to trade it off the 1hr chart with daily pivots. It moved nicely. I really can't thank you enough for introducing {image}pivots with your post.

You welcome. I don't trade the Yen because BOJ has history of interfering. You could have sudden drop and thrust up out of blue. To me I rather trade other pairs less manipulated.

I have no shortage trading pairs other than Yen. Each his own. I just don't trade it.

thanks for the nice post 😊. Seriously I prefer no praises. I prefer seeing winning trades. About GU and EU to me best stay out of shorts and look at the other pairs until things settle down on both pairs. Fundamentally US economy is slowing down and Feds won't be talking IR hike until 2017 so we could see big corrections on cross the board. This is the background I operate.

Whats amazing about this approach is the frequency with which weekly pivots are 'hit' at some point during each week. After three periods of consolidation around R38, the weekly pivot for UC has just been hit and I reached the profit target on my last batch of trades. Have taken circa 400 pips on UC over this last week, using pivots with ME/ME. 😊 I'm just at the start of my studies with this method, but very exited about the potential to add this approach to my trading arsenal.

nice work. I recommend taking the arrows off. You don't need it. Train your eyes and mind. Arrows can show conflicting data.

While you are on it take all EMA and MA's out as well.

Myth of moving averages are just useless garbage people use over and over without substantive data to back it up. At any time price is hitting some MA and question is so what? Price is not moving up or down because it hit 34 24 18 50 etc MA's. It's a myth.

What I am trading is actual fear and greed measured by the fibs. This is different independent of any moving averages. MA's are like clutches and you can run better without them.

Davit, I took off some of the indicators from your template simply because I don't use them, but can you tell me how to use the DOL indicator? Is the purpose to trade away from it?

That's cool I just hate people posting charts with added indicators specially that stupid support and resistance one.

Everything on my chart has a purpose and that's why I can go 95% winning rate and 51% equity gain in one month.
