Hi how is your trading going ?

What is your trading size ?

Its for current project that started before 15 days

Since having my understanding of the concepts you have presented I have started trading with account about 2 weeks ago.

Have been swinging up and down mainly due to improper risk management and I believe I am taking too big of position sizes. Currently been very risk aggressive risking 5-10% a trade. Have started to tone it back though and am trying to settle around 3-5% trade or whatever you think is best. I am really just trying to soak up as much knowledge as i can from you and the other seniors on the thread.

Here is a link to myfxbook page for the account so you can see all the details and stats.

I also have it in a trader explorer on FF

if you could manage [redacted] we can start And keep in mind its highly private you should not talk about this to anyone

if you agree that we move forward

BTW expecting big move today

I'm not trading each individual account (practically is not possible)
All funds combined and trading in 2 account that fully managed by me , so i can go huge lot size , profit % will be calculated based on the investment %,
And yes i cut my fees like 30 to 50% from the profit

If that OK for you , load your funds to neteller.com

and let me know

I am sorry I misunderstood what you mean by pooling funds in a group. I thought you meant I would be trading along side with you and a few of the other guys. Very sorry about the confusion.
