Great trades, guys! 👍

I missed some opportunities, but fortunately got this one.

UJ short +5.1

- Overall trends on HTFs were bearish.
- On H1, PA retraced to dragon and 110.500 lvl, seeming to be resisted (long upper wick formed).
- On M1, LHs formed above 110.500 lvl.
- PA broke 200EMA downwards and retraced to it, and then bounced off it with notable volume, so I entered short.

Sorry I don't mean to mess the thread up but I'm trying to learn PVSRA and I see some post saying "ct trade", can someone explain what that is?

It is basically when you go against the overall trend.

Please refer to this video.

UJ comment;

I think UJ for one is worth stalking for a break out trade, but who knows when? It's ranging at RDL between the key levels 110.250 and finding support at key level 110.000, but for me, just stalking with no preconceived expectations.

Our PVSRA charts will show the way.... 😊

PVSRA Scalpers,

ALL seem to be having issues with their news indicators as noted on another thread;

Not sure if this is correct just found this posted on another thread by a trader appearing to have coding knowledge.... 🤔 looks like FF changed news impact info in XML-file like:

High/Medium/Low

new:
high/medium/low

update your codes should fix that impact color issue 😊

If anyone has contact with TAH the Author for a fix or another idea, please post....this has happened a few times before while trading on our old PVSRA thread and updates were needed as well..... 😊

Quoting Tradable

Hello all, I would appreciate if someone could confirm my mistake analysis. The bottom line I suppose was being worried about missing an opportunity and entering trades too early and without confirmation. Learning patience... {image}

I see that many are trading during times with very little or no volatility. I see many entries while our Ema's are almost flat during slow periods including Asia with no volume/momentum and traders wonder why their trades fail..... 🤔

If you look back at the charts posted with successful trades you will see that most are taken during a session and time with high volume/momentum and taken to t/p quickly...aka FIFO.

Rob's, Vaps, freeman777, mine and others are mostly taken to t/p in a matter of seconds or minutes.

These are the high momentum entries we must stalk to find, not entries taken with no momentum and subject to retraces during a session time lacking volatility.

So many are worried about insignificant entry details and are over thinking their entries when a "not perfect" entry taken with HIGH MOMENTUM would have possibly quickly made pips.

The most important key word is MOMENTUM.....Keep It Simple and Don't overthink every entry.....wait for momentum with PVSRA confirmation and take the trade..... 😊

You can look back only 2 or 3 pages and throughout our thread and see charts where t/p's were hit in 2 or 3 minute candles 🚀🚀
🚀 that's the momentum you want.....stalk, wait, find and confirm PVSRA entry, enter, exit and stalk for another.....wash, rinse and repeat... 😊

Hi Vape

You still do the same as usual but sometimes PA reverses. So, how do we prevent these trades like this.

I still get trouble with trades which is in good Trend and momentum but price suddenly reverses.

Vape appears not to be here and can answer for himself but IMO;

This was actually a CT trade as the 50 ema was above both the 200 and 233 emas with all headed up and a M5 retrace. Sometimes with good momentum these will work out and other times MM's are attempting a head fake with high volume to catch wrong way traders and robots.

EURJPY M1 +4PIPS LONG

Although Dragon was flat, what I targeted here was a bounce back to RDL. PA broke the 128.500 key level with a green candle and notable volume. I waited for a bounce back to the same key level (128.500) and entered. I exited when PA reached RDL.

ipodbob,

No pressure here My Friend to scalp M1. I feel stress in your posts as you are trying so hard to find the time to scalp lower t/f's but with difficulty do to your work schedule.

I started this thread as a place for like minded PVSRA scalpers to have a thread to share trading ideas but PVSRA works well with any t/f.

Relax and keep it simple you are doing fine... 👍

EURJPY M1 +5PIPS SHORT

I saw that on M15 the trend was bearish.

Then, I have changed to M1 and I saw that PA broke the 200EMA and the Dragon with a red candle and notable volume.

I closed the trade when PA reached the key level.

Hey Guys,

We are getting a bit off track with our posts in regards to keeping our thread focused on discussing our PVSRA trades and scalping ideas. Please remember that we ALL take the time away from our personal trading, to post our trades with explanations in keeping with the idea of maintaining our thread as a PVSRA text book for ALL to share and learn.

As always, thank you for your continued cooperation in limiting our posts to trades relative to PVSRA scalping ideas and suggestions. 👍

hards,

Trade as you will, but I personally never attempt to guess what the market will do but only read my charts and let PA show the way. It is less stressful to observe your PVSRA charts and not over think FIFO M1 scalping. Your chart indications appear to be correct for a higher t/f, but scalping as we mostly do on M1, MM's will move PA as pre-planned and often opposite to any technical studies.

Also remember, the CSM offers a heads up only for possible pairs to stalk for PVSRA entries and is not to be considered as Buy/Sell signals as it often lags PA.

Hello, I trade another system on the 5/15 minute charts, but it's been boring waiting for setups so I thought I'd try scalping some. For some reason the yellow PL textbox disappears after I close the trade and I have no idea how to keep it open. Traded the GPYJPY for 6.9 pips. Price was respecting the trendline and I entered on the retracement to the 142.500 round number. I didn't like trading a 3 pip spread, but the currency meter was pointing at this pair.

2 Short Trades @ EURUSD-M1 for 16.3 pips (+6.4, +9.9)

Scalping high impact news, so take into account reduced lot size etc for risk mitigation.

Initial entry was looking at the confluence of bearish volume, CSM, MTF, and price breaking previous lows for a quick 5 pips (slipped to 6.4). Re-entry was on strong bearish volume at the news candle with TP at the next round number.

3 Trades @ USDEUR-M1 for 6.4 pips (+1.8, -4.3, +8.9) Good MTF and CSM. I initially entered on signs of bearish volume, but observed bullish momentum on a weakening bearish candle. I exited the trade with the expectation that price would move against me. My analysis was correct and I started looking to re-enter. I was distracted by the AUDUSD and accidentally entered earlier than I wanted. Consequently, I set a very tight stoploss just above the dragon. I set a tight stoploss instead of a wide stoploss because I had no information that this wasn't...

UJ +5.8 pips

This trade was a bit risky for me 😬 and was planning to quickly grab whatever I can before PA goes the other way. However, to my surprise, momentum & volume came to my rescue. Hence pipping some greens into my piggy bank.

Reasons for taking the trade:

1. PA was bearish and below Dragon & 200EMA
2. PA broke previous low

I found this article that reinforces our PVSRA trading method trading key levels as S & R and here are some key excerpts. The writer was working in investment banking for 20 years many of which were as a Chief trader and I thought this may be interesting read for some:

Making money in forex is easy if you know how the bankers trade!

How to make money in forex?

Why do so many traders struggle to make consistent money out of forex trading. The answer has more to do with what they don't know than what they do know. After working in investment banks for 20 years many of which were as a Chief trader its second knowledge how to extract cash out of the market. It all comes down to understanding how the traders at the banks execute and make trading decisions.

Why? Bank traders only make up 5% of the total number of forex traders with speculators accounting for the other 95%, but more importantly that 5% of bank traders account for 92% of all forex volumes. So if you don't know how they trade, then you're simply guessing.

Attached Image

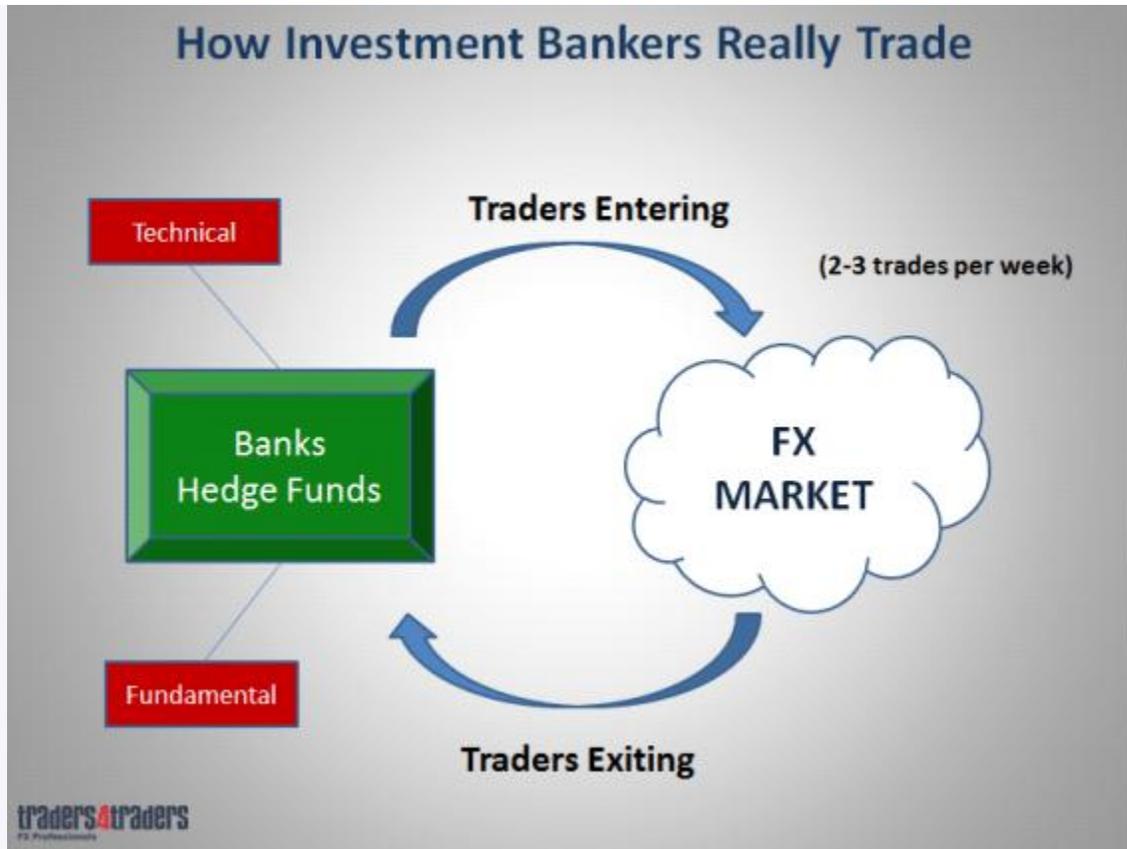

First let me bust the first myth about forex traders in institutions. They don't sit there all day banging away making proprietary trading decisions. Most of the time they are simply transacting on behalf of the banks customers. It's commonly referred to as 'clearing the flow'. They may perform a few thousand trades a day but none of these are for their proprietary book

How do banks trade forex?

They actually only perform 2-3 trades a week for their own trading account. These trades are the ones they are judged on at the end of the year to see whether they deserve an additional bonus or not.

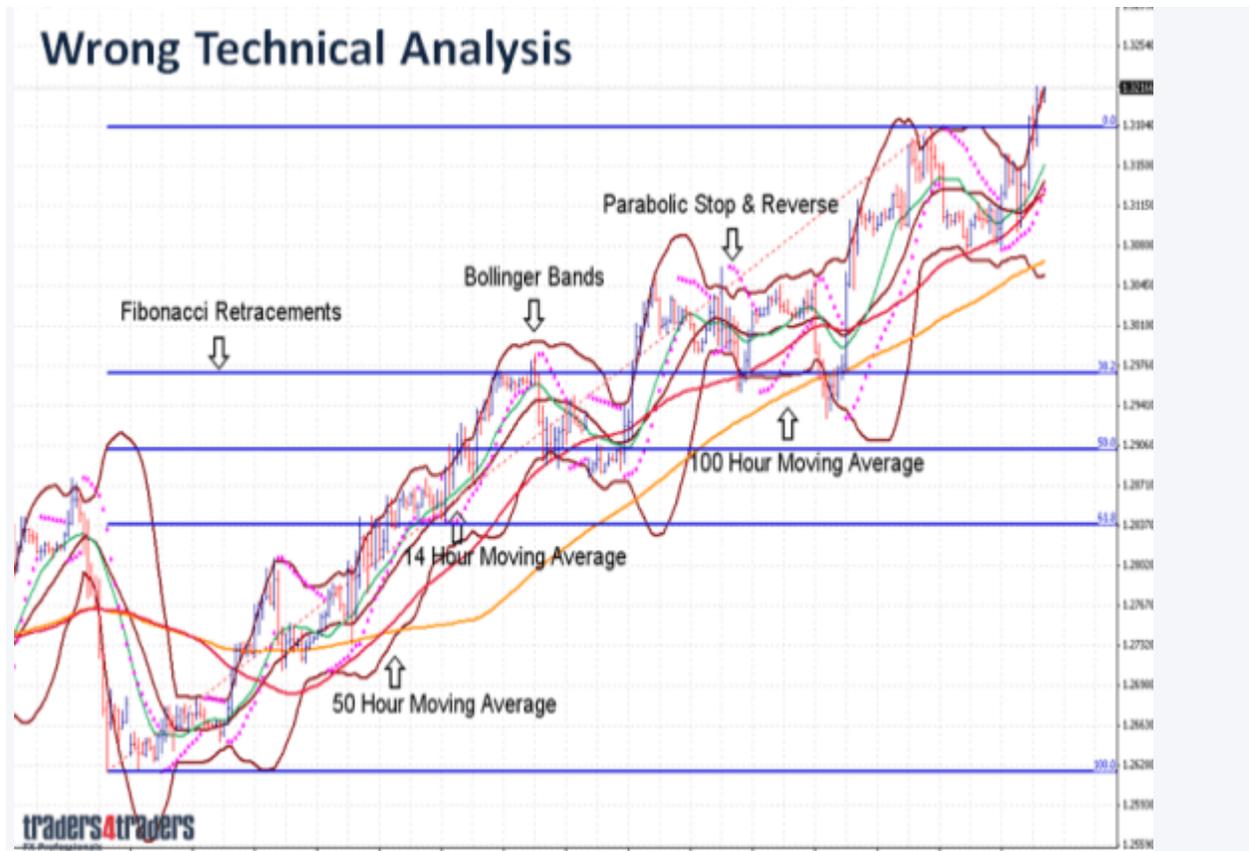

Attached Image

So as you can see traders at the banks don't sit there all day trading randomly 'scalping' trying to make their budgets. They are extremely methodical in their approach and make trading decisions when everything lines up, technically and fundamentally. That's what you need to know!

As far as technical analysis goes it is extremely simple. I am often dumbfounded by our client's charts when they first come to us. They are often littered with mathematical indicators which not only have significant 3-4 hour time lags but also often contradict each other. Trading with these indicators and this approach is the quickest way to rip through your trading capital.

Attached Image

Bank trader's charts look nothing like this. In fact they are completely the opposite. All they want to know is where the key critical levels. Don't forget these indicators were developed to try and predict where the market is going. The bank traders are the market. If you understand how they trade then you don't need any indicators. They make split second decisions based on key technical and fundamental changes. Understanding their technical analysis is the first step to becoming a successful trader. You'll be trading with the market not against it.

Attached Image

What it all comes down to is simple support and resistance. No clutter, nothing to alter their trading decisions. Simple, effective and highlighting the key levels.

So to conclude let me say this: There are no miraculous secrets to trading forex. There are no special indicators or robots that can mimic the dynamic forex market. You simply need to understand how the major players (bankers) trade and analyse the market. If you get these aspects right then your well on the way to success.

Very nice scalps Guys as usual.....good to see so many making pips.... 😄

For any traders considering joining our PVSRA scalping team, I suggest that you read post #10,488 (why we trade S & R key levels) and then start at post # 1 to begin your journey... 😄

We coined our scalpers as a team because ALL are helping one another although trading individually.

If I could, I would change the name of our thread to " PVSRA Scalpng With Cigarguy and Team"... 😄

I had no idea that so many would quickly become proficient at PVSRA scalping... 🏆

Hey CG,

I thought I would share a pdf of your Posts of this year from 1-1-2017 to 2-28-2017 of 116 Pages. I worked on it this evening for 7 hours while studying your brilliant work here. I thought it would help others, along with your earlier pdf reviews. I believe, as you noted, that this Thread has really advanced from the earlier original Sonic R FF Thread, then advancing your ideas within the PVSRA-TAH FF Thread (which I remember very well including youtube video). It is because how well you have advanced Forex PVSRA (FIFO) trading and successfully passed it on to others in a humble way that you have all these new folks earning (and hopefully keeping) Green Pips! You truly are a Professional Forex Innovator and teacher!

Of note for the newbies, Click on the charts to go to FF to see the original publication via your browser automatically:

As I go along with my studies here, I will be happy to share each pdf I produce as a personal reference and for others as well. However, I think that going through the Posts here, like I have, will benefit newbies (or oldies like me) by studying the other excellent charts by core contributors.

Thanks again CG for your brilliant work and unselfishly giving your time to teach in a very caring way. I hope to begin posting charts in the future like the rest of the students here.

Cheers and Have a great weekend to all!

Excellent idea and thread contribution to our PVSRA TEXT BOOK.

Thank you for your many hours of selfless work to help ALL study and learn our PVSRA system..... 🙏 😊

My contribution(s) is but a grain of sand compared to your works here. Like many here, I will need the discipline and patience to remained focused to one successful trading system ! There are many other authors here on FF that I have followed over the years and learned from each. It is just about finding the right system that works best for me individually.

Thus, learning your PVSRA-FIFO system with discipline, patience, courage and modeling myself after you to "Keep It Simple" despite an ever changing "sneaky" Forex Market Makers of Big Banks, is the way to go ! I am so impressed how you are able to follow and cash in on the coat-tails of the most volatile "sneaky" pair, the USDJPY, despite their difficult MM run my expert human Forex traders using large mainframe computers to stop-out the smaller under-capitalized Retail Traders (us) using retracements (RT) to capture profits causing liquidity and volatility, to further stop-out the Retailers of their (our) own hard-earned money !

Your PVSRA-FIFO System here and expert engineering, approaches to the ideal approach to capture the market as a Retail Trader.

Another brilliant innovative FF author with his own FF thread (Davit), emphasizes on keeping "The Edge" as described by the great published Forex psychologist, very successful trader and professional consultant-coach, Mark Douglas (MD), with his contributions on keeping the right mindset to help combat fear and make the $$ WITH the greedy MM giants !

Here a free playlist of the free MD youtube videos he has left us to enjoy:

Inserted Video

Lastly, I agree with MD and others here, to ALWAYS keep more than one source of income and trade only money you will not miss if you lose in order to keep The Edge and courage to trade without fear in a very documented randomly-risky market produced by the high-powered and highly-capitalized MMs ! It is truly that the psychology and right mindset that will keep you in the market while following, trading and contributing to this brilliant non-lagging revolutionary system of CG ! Remember, that the MMs make money by moving the market to induce fear and greed to capture their Pips from us - the Retail Traders!

Cheers to all !

P.S. : Please forgive my grammatical or spelling errors. I do not have an Editor or English teacher on payroll to help me along and I need new eye-glasses 😞

DrForexMD,

Thanks again for your contribution with this nice video....👍

The main take away for me was a confirmation that WE HAVE THE EDGE as referred to in the video with our PVSRA methodology. WE MUST NOT anticipate where the random market controlled by the Institutions and Market Makers will go because we CANNOT KNOW.

Therefore, we must learn the ART (I stress the word ART) of reading our PVSRA charts observing how the MM's are trading our Key S & R levels / ema's and stalk our chosen pairs and NOT OVERTHINK our trades and keep our charts clean and simple. Mostly new traders, lacking experience and confidence, will load their charts with many lagging indicators and robots (EAs) expecting Buy/Sell signals that will fail over time and never understanding HOW THE MARKET REALLY WORKS!

Several years ago when I started trading, I was one of those (I had so many indicators on my charts you could hardly see PA 🤔) that was due my lack of experience and confidence while I was hoping around the FF thread to thread and experiencing many losing trades coupled with stress and confusion.

I only begin to have profitable, consistant and successful trades when I dropped those indicators and decided to learn to trade with the BIG $$ and glean insight from the market movers and trade WITH THEM acquiring this insight from our PVSRA charts.....Grabbing their shirt tails and going along for the ride to our targets giving us the much needed edge.....😬

Wishing ALL many GREEN pips and remember to KEEP IT SIMPLE..👍

valerioforex,

We do not trade here using EA's, robots which all fail over time.
We trade/scalp reading our PVSRA charts gleaning insight from the MM's and trade our key levels with the MM's and institutions.

If someone here wishes to help you with your EA, I must insist that it is done via PM's not to clutter our thread with coding discussions so we can remain focused on our PVSRA method.

You are most welcomed to join our PVSRA scalping team if you wish and learn how we scalp.....DrForexMD posted a nice PDF at post #10,596 that offers a good place to start gaining insight into our scalping method.....👌

PVSRA Traders,

I have received PM's regarding trading our PVSRA method on higher time frames opposed to just M1. Of course each trader can trade whatever t/f they wish and PVSRA works well. At our old PVSRA thread, most traded M15 and dropped down to M1 for entries as the higher t/f will not show the tick volume as accurately as M1 therefore causing a delayed entry with lost pips.

I was coined the resident FIFO 🚀🚀 scalper by other traders and chose to scalp M1 in lieu of the higher t/f's because I personally don't like being tied to my screen for long periods and stressing through the DD's, retraces and world news events.

Scalping FIFO fit my style as allowing for quick 5 pip profit scalps with less stress and with larger lots and as few or many WASH, RINSE AND REPEAT trades as I wanted.... 😊

Stay GREEN My Friends no matter what time frame you trade,

DrForexMD,

My many thanks again for the time you allocated towards putting these posts altogether in 2 consolidated PDF's as you came to the rescue 🚑 of many interested in our PVSRA scalping method but study and learning becoming an issue due to the increasing size of our thread.....👍

My pleasure CG and those that will benefit from my pdf's of your work. My life has been devoted to studying many disciplines and publishing reviews - as well as several experimental studies in Medicine.

Also, it is really easy to do this service as I just want to show my personal appreciation for your innovated work and taken PVSRA trading to a major level with your original contribution with FIFO trading - as well as the ever growing Team here !

Finally, I am blessed to have the free time right now to do this for this evolving PVSRA Textbook which I hope you will publish a small textbook to help reach out to others with minimal expense or no expense i.e. perhaps an e-book ! I would be happy to do this as I have always wanted to do this ultimate goal and legacy !

Well, here is April's pdf of 2017 showing some excellent contributions by some many of your new PVSRA-FIFO Scalpers who also are helping so many here. CG, many you have more time to rest as you convenience !

Enjoy fellow Scalpers - her we go:

Gratefully yours,

DrForexMD

PS: I read that you are very careful during Friday's NY Close as the MM-Bankers take their Pips off the table. What about Sundays? Do you trade with the TO, LO or wait fro wait for NYO ?

PSS: This pdf only took 2 or so hrs...I think I am getting better !

DrForexMD,

I sometimes will depending on our PVSRA scalping key elements that must be present;

Volume/Momentum that is necessary to quickly take us to our target which is normally absent on Sundays and sporadic mixed with retraces on Friday as many Banks and Market Movers close their books and trades prior to the week end.

If I do trade, it will normally be with reduced lots expecting the unexpected due to low momentum unable to facilitate a FIFO profitable scalp.

Just My style as some do well on Sundays.....The key element that I always attempt to catch while stalking any pair is MOMENTUM, MOMENTUM & MOMENTUM (as seen below my dream entry and scalp) and a little luck never hurt to be stalking the right pair at the right time and then recognizing the momentum and adding as your position quickly runs to your target in seconds or minutes.....If it were only that easy for every trade then we would be the market movers....wishful thinking.....lol..... 😊

CG,

Yes, I did see last Friday's UJ momentum which you captured. One more related question: Do you close all your trades for the weekend to avoid and possible surprises on Sunday afternoon with the AO ?

DrForexMD,

I only FIFO scalp opening and closing within minutes and sometimes seconds..... 🚀🚀🚀 🤔

Just my style fitting my personal PVSRA method based on my tick scalping experience but not necessary and recommended for everyone.... 😊

Each trader must find what fits their personality, time available to trade, account size and pain threshold.....As I have said many times "Trading Forex is not a one size fits ALL business".....😎

Edit: Just to be clear, our PVSRA method can be traded on any t/f offering the trained eye excellent high probability entries no matter if scalping or position trading. The PVSRA methodology is the same, the only variable is how each trader uses the information provided by our charts to their advantage as an edge.

My first FIFO GU during the TO, post moderate news, with some blue-green candles associated with some momentum on M15 and M5, with an entry on M1 above 200 EMA - all with major bullish trend overall :

Unfortunately, this is really a ranging market on a Sunday ... but, took a chance all the same for a retrace to the major bullish trend during the TO.

DrForexMD,

Suggestion; If you use your Trade Level Indicator so your complete trade can be seen it is much easier to offer help comments and your HA candles appear too wide to comfortably read your chart. I have my HAs set to 1-1-2-2 with a chart scale of 2.... 😊

Sunday....Yes as I earlier commented mostly ranging with retraces.

Thank you about the HA....yes, a Sunday ranging market for GU and I suspect most of the others. I really wanted to get feedback on my new Chart set up with new brokerage ECN Demo. I did close out to wait for the NYO with the rest traders here:

Hi guys! This isn't a FIFO trade because of the low momentum & volume at this current session. But anyway...just going where the PA goes...even though for a short while. Explanations are in the chart 😊 have a great day!

samskara,

IMO your set ups on M15, M5 and M1 entry was looking good for a PVSRA confirmed entry.....BUT you entered on the purple candle which normally indicates stopping volume for a possible retrace, which it did.

{image}

Guys.....Please.....Let's GET BACK TO PVSRA BASICS..... 🙄

When our new traders first come here, they install our PVSRA charts with our proven indicators, start their PVSRA journey by reading our PDF's at post #!, study our numerous posted charts reading the excellent trading explanations, practice and learn our method and make pips.

And then some begin to add squiggly indicators, counting waves, playing with EA's, robots, and over thinking our method with far out statistical analysis, ALL which are totally NOT NEEDED and do nothing but create confusion and chaos to a simple, time proven successful trading method.

Sadly enough, most of those traders will soon be gone after blowing their accounts saying our PVSRA system does not work. They did well with the basics but found it necessary to tinker with a clean chart and simple successful system and morph it into a complicated useless chart where PA can hardly be seen.

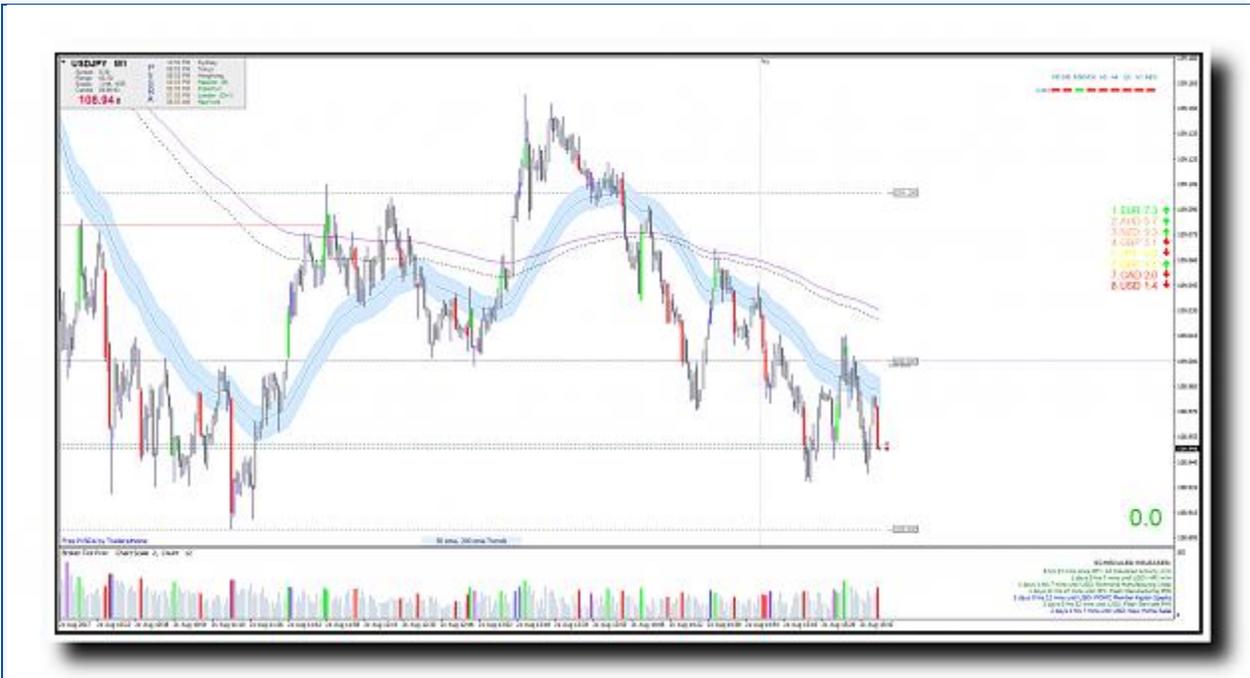

Each trader can, of course trade with what ever chart they want but as I have posted many times we must keep our posted charts consistent with our PVSRA method allowing ALL to help each other.

Edit; I'm sorry if some find this restrictive, but this is how we will trade PVSRA here. There are many threads at FF that will allow any charts to be posted akin to the WILD WEST, THAT OFTEN END UP

BINNED, BUT THIS IS NOT ONE OF THEM. I receive no benefit from keeping this thread open but the enjoyment of sharing PVSRA ideas with like minded traders. I personally don't care if we have one or none here....just attempting to help anyone willing to follow the rules, make some pips and enjoy trading... 🙄

Either one of these is acceptable for posting;

{quote} I try to keep my SL 5 pips away in most cases. If I see a potential set up but the stop loss would have to be more than 5 pips to be on the other side of dragon, I usually won't take the trade. In that scenario I might, say, halve my lot size and go for +/- ~10 pips. I believe in the power of wave counting too but you have to be careful adding too many subjective elements to a proven method in my opinion. You run the risk of overcomplicating something simple in the attempt to cover all possible scenarios where the market.

I continually receive PM's asking for our PVSRA templates and indicators by persons never bothering to start at Post #1

Every person interested in our PVSRA trading/scalping method must start at Post #1

There are no short cuts to learning and becoming proficient trading our system. Our's is not a squiggly line based system. All PDF's carefully and skillfully explain in great detail by TAH the founder and coder of our system how each indicator serves a specific purpose. I traded our original PVSRA thread with TAH a few years ago and have personal knowledge that he invested days, weeks and months, along with other contributors to give us the trading tools that we profitably trade today.

I cannot imagine that anyone offered FREE OF CHARGE such a method that has the potential, once learned to provide a income equal to any professional; ie., Doctor, Engineer, Lawyer, Architect or any other professional earning a six figure income who must pay money and attend a University, would not at the least invest their time absent any financial expense, to gain this level of success.

Those that are interested in just installing our charts and jump in trading absent any dedication to learning our system are destined for failure. I can speak to this from years of experience at our old PVSRA thread and here. I have witnessed many new people come and go here at FF and our threads, only jumping from thread to thread looking for the Holy Grail and doomed for failure not understanding that THEY ARE THE HOLY GRAIL in respect to trading. You can provide 10 traders with the same exact trading system and currency pairs to stalk at the exact same time. Those that have dedicated themselves to learning and study will be successful and those that were lazy and did not dedicate time to learn, study and due their homework will soon be gone.

The choice is yours.....Each must decide; Are you trading as a Professional with the desire to make a comfortable income and living for your family or playing with a demo account as with a video game wasting the time of our Professional Traders.....

PS----Do not bother with PM's requesting templates and indicators as they will be ignored. All is at Post #1 and the above paper clip for those that chose to do their homework but then of course you will know that.

I am sorry about the pm asking about the template you use,
I do read your thread and have downloaded the pvsr template and it did not have the big green and red boxes on it you're going to need a bigger boat

I believe this the "big green and red boxes" indicator I modified to be on the extreme left of my chart:

Hi CigarGuy

Have to been able to confirm that the 233 SMA is working for PVSAR and how about when the 200 and 233 get tight together?

Thanks
