AU dropping 75 should be great place to load up longs. After June 13th this could shoot as high as 80
EU drop would be nice as well to long EU and EJ

Basically I just revealed my trading plan for the June. Selling USD and Yen on dips

Supply and Demand Zones usdcad 💰 supply and demand zones have their cons, as well. There is no perfect trading strategy or tool. What makes a difference along the way is your attitude towards trading Proper trading education Trading practice (preferably on a Demo account first) Trading discipline Sticking to your rules in good and bad days Open mind {image}

Hi Tradere

You are doing good started well but allow some constructive criticism.

Stop dropping terms like Supply and Demand Zones

On this thread I don't think I used it once! These are support and resistance zones only! You don't know they are Supply and Demand Zones! This is marketing shit its been going on TV and on Web sucking naive people in and they get slaughtered.

Forex is rigged meaning only small players can move the price as we saw last week Yen crashing just about every "demand zone" To assume you know what these guys will do with fancy BS terminology like Supply and Demand Zones is oxymoron.

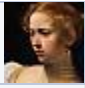

Watch Mark Douglas videos it does not seem you have!

On this thread there are Pivot Zones!!!! high probably reversal areas and that's that!
thank you

{quote} I am curious as to what degree you factor swaps into your pair selection eg I am currently favouring AJ longs over AU due to better swaps. Same logic applies to EJ more favourable than EU longs for me, but I am waiting on price confirmation before entering Euro pairs long (I trade longer timeframe than you). I did search the thread for holding time and note you did mention below that you do hold trades for several weeks in some instances. I am also aware you exclude some pairs eg CHF for factors like swap but haven't seen my specific question...

Sometimes you pay your dues to play. Cost of doing business. If I see great set up that I am very certain I would not hesitate pay my broker participation fee.

Going forward Its obvious one should be careful holding USD sell too long this is given and why I said I need minimum 2yrs experience to trade here because frankly questions like yours irritate me.

Everyone has baggage from past systems, false concepts ,indicators and best thing to do is get rid of them all and approach this system clean.

I banned people because they could not let go of baggage sneaking in Bollinger bands,MA's,Volume terminologies etc and I have removed these guys because they could not follow direction.

Looks like even with stellar numbers USD is tanking Why?

Yes folks even good news has price and USD has been priced in before today.Its going to tank major after June 13th

This is when rookie traders get slaughtered wondering why.... "how can it drop economy good numbers great etc"

I had a PM guy from Pakistan asking me he does not have time to read all pages on this thread and if I can help him speed things up.

This really pisses me up. The mindset to short cut in life. It's obvious this guy belongs in 95% losers category and will stay there.

Understand one thing guys forex requires work! There are no shortcuts!

Sometimes I question myself even starting this thread....

Davit, it's kind of fun feeling to be on 1:22 leverage and on open positions up 8.3% new to me.... but definitely pleasing. 😊 not only pleasing but you make make better decisions when you are relaxed and enough room to ALLOW trades to develop.

From trading in the Zone

For those who have learned how to be consistent, or have broken through what I call the "threshold of consistency," the money is not only within their grasp; they can virtually take it at will. I'm sure that some will find this statement shocking or difficult to believe, but it is true.

– Mark Douglas

If someone or something is against you and causes you pain, how are you likely to respond?

You'll feel compelled to fight, but what exactly are you fighting? The market is certainly not fighting you. Yes, the market wants your money, but it also provides you with the opportunity to take as much as you can.

– Mark Douglas

My system is designed to overcome typical errors traders make. Tight stops and large lots. Both deadly. This is often not addressed most systems here on FF

Too much focus on technical part but missing out core concepts like low gearing and wider stops.

People who get what I am doing make shitload of money and ironically with small lots and wider stops.

I have 72k account still trade mini lots and still hit 10%+ a month.

Example if you had 3 standard lot position. -10pips red will set you back -300 now you are worried at -20pips you are -600 and now you panic get out and price bounces right up without you and you just became victim of typical randomness that occurs on lower TF

Had you had smaller lots you would of had your coffee and grocery shopping and came back with 75pips in profit and missed all little spikes.

This is the difference!

Hi, A question to Davit or any of the experienced traders. I try to understand the system but I see the same scenario again and again to various screenshots. The problem is that if I understand correctly, we trade from a S/R pivot line (the bigger the better) TOWARDS the main weekly pivot line. But in many posted screenshots, the entries are completely irrelevant with that concept. I see entries going AWAY from the main pivot, or I see some entries (ex short) above (going towards) and then below (going away) the pivot line. An...

You got the concept wrong

Think of the pivot as equilibrium level (Swing High Low divided in 2) and swings when breaks WP goes away from WP towards R61-100 or R38

Then could most likely reverse going back towards it WP and if breaks to opposite S38 61-S100

This chart should make it easy to see

On EU example it bounced from 100S towards WP but failed to break. Does not always break. Fundamentals technicals etc. Point is it was a solid bounce from S100 over 100Pips !! Its all about the swing!

on UJ it went from R61 to S61 to give you the possibilities when it breaks WP

Hi Guys,

Have been following this thread off and on for a while now and have decided to do some more in depth analysis to see how price reacts to pivot levels. I've computed pivot levels for the past 52 weeks of EURUSD and plotted how far price has traveled each week in relation to pivots. Below is the result.

			0	1	3	9	12	16	27	45	37	43	31	23	17	9	5	5	3

A couple of observations:

Price has passed R2 and S2 (0.62 pivot) 41 times in the past 51 weeks. I've then computed the probabilities of what happens after it has passed this point giving the following table.

Attached Image

S/R 2	29%	12
S/R 3	27%	11
S/R 4	24%	10
S/R 5	5%	2
S/R6	7%	3
S/R7	7%	3
	100%	41

What this shows is that of the 41 times price has passed R2/S2, 12 of these weeks price never crossed S/R 3 (29% of the 41 weeks); 11 times never crossed S/R 4 after crossing S/R 3 (27%) and 10 times never crossed S/R 5 after crossing S/R 4 (24%).

This support Davits view of price retracing from these points 0.61 - 1.00 pivots.

Some more stats... When price is in S/R2+ zones there is a 44% chance that price will cross 1.00 pivot and a 20% chance that price will cross 1.38 pivot.

This sort of states the obvious that the higher the price travels from the pivots, the more likely it is to retrace. In future I'll be comparing various pairs to see which react to pivots better/more predictably, pivot timeframes and other things as ideas come to me.

If you have any ideas on analysis, let me know and i'll share my info/results with you all.

Cheers,
David

Edit: These stats are based on EURUSD 1 year data with pivots calculated weekly so may not be accurate for other pairs and pivot timeframes.

I've then computed the probabilities of what happens after it has passed this point giving the following table. {image} What this shows...

Good work David!

Since we are trading weekly pivots you can reduce your analyses to 1 month on pairs you want to study. In a nut shell this system is about swings and usually it lasts 1day to 3days a week most. There is really no need for whole year analyses.

Pairs most pivot friendly are low ADR pairs specially commodity pairs against each-other even UC AU and NU tend to range a lot.

Pairs that are not very good at this method are very high ADR like GJ GN

GJ 61S to 61R on average is over 500pips and this has dble edge factor. SL posses real problem. Not user friendly.

There is however way to replicate GJ volatility in slower pair like AN which I love.

Instead of GJ 1 position for example you can place 2 positions on AN basically recreating GJ distance in narrower range hence quicker and better adds to profit.

I basically treat slower pairs as vehicle to hummer hardest because of predictability factor and price wont run away from you. I hope this was useful to you

Anyway good luck

As a side not AN ADR last 20days is 53pips even if you make a mistake this won't bite you but -144 GJ will.

Pros focus on risk management rookies only think about profits....Takes years to see wisdom of this.

Calendar next week

My canvas tone.

Trade tariffs by Trump dominating fundamentals right now and CAD is still staying weak however this can change rather fast specially after June 13th Feds rate decision. I am still holding my CAD with confidence key data release friday and very likely CAD gaining prior to this event. Week is dominated early by AUD and this could be major push or major fall depends how data unfolds. Either way AN should be looked at 1st.

June 3 Sun EST 9.30pm

AUD Retail Sales m/m forecast is green and could actually print green. AJ still has room to go north. AN should be looked as well.

Mon 4th 4.30am EST

GBP Construction PMI Could print green and I am leaning more on this direction. GU has huge potential to shoot up.

Tues 5th Tues is big day lots of events in relatively quiet week.

AUD rate decision 12.30am EST forecast and market expectation is same however any hint of future hikes in statement could send AUD flying!

GBP service PMI

Very possible green if so this could carry over momentum from construction PMI Mon should that print green if 2 green anticipate GBP gaining on its peers.

Sentiment turning positive for GBP very good chance EG?

Would not advise selling GBP prior.

9am ECB Draghy talking and when he talks its an event irregardless what that talk curtails.

AUD big one GDP at 9.30pm forecast very positive. Again look at AN and AJ

Weds 6th

CAD trade balance at 8.30am. Wait and see

Friday

CAD key events Employment Change and Unemployment Rate should this print green we could see UC dropping even below 28

Its important to see key CAD event is Friday hence UC may start dropping earlier then Friday.

Bank of Canada data-dependent amid trade tensions: Poloz

The uncertainty over rising trade tensions and escalating retaliation in response to U.S. import tariffs means the Bank of Canada will be data-dependent as it sets monetary policy, Governor Stephen Poloz said on Saturday.

Just days after the central bank signaled more interest rate increases were in store, Poloz reverted to a wait-and-see approach to rate hikes in the wake of Friday's move by the United States to impose steel and aluminum tariffs on Canada, Mexico and the European Union.

"We're certainly not making policy on the basis of hypotheticals or theoretical responses to these changing conditions - it is the actual responses that will matter," Poloz told reporters at the end of a meeting of Group of Seven (G7) leading industrialized nations' finance ministers and central bankers in the mountain resort of Whistler, British Columbia.

Finance leaders of the closest U.S. allies vented their anger at metals tariffs levied by U.S. President Donald Trump's administration, but ended the three-day meeting with no solutions, setting the stage for a heated fight at a G7 summit next week in Quebec.

I am having trouble with the Pivot_VOTY-2 ALERT indi, it is not lining up with the original pivot lines and I like being able to see the past few weeks worth of S/R. Below is a screenshot of Pivot_VOTY-2 ALERT (the lines with prices) and Davits Pivot V3.2 Auto (lines going all the way to price line). As you can see Pivot_VOTY-2 ALERT is like 14 pips off! {image} 14 pips off is nothing. If you know what you are doing matters not. You should see SR's even without pivots. Past weeks pivots are mostly irrelevant.

Try learning this system without adding more crap.

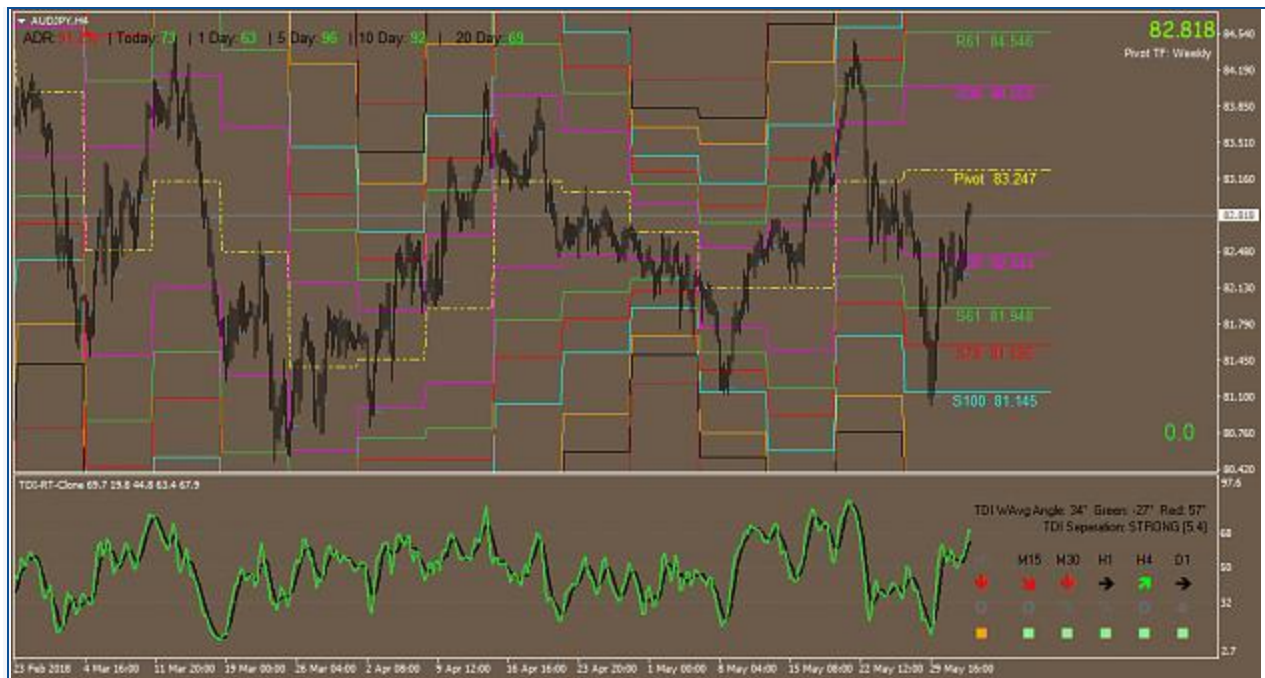

Your performance has much to do with your trading psychology then on a system.

If I read one more remark about your pivots I am going to remove you and its on my 1st page!

Here is past pivots and my chart without all the confusing pivot lines. What is more clear? If you can't see with naked chart major structures SR's seriously you should not be here.

{quote} The scale of effect of weather on UK's first quarter performance is debatable (ONS view the underperformance in first quarter cannot be completely attributed to the weather alone). However, my view extends beyond simply last quarter. UK's productivity (based on gdp growth rate) have been on a slowing path since 2015. The nasty spike in inflation due to massive currency devaluation post brexit did not help. Real wage growth have been negative for awhile, only recently turning positive. It might take awhile before the real wage growth manifests...

Markets go corrections despite any fundamentals. Something that puzzles lot of new traders and even seasoned traders.

Its important to be street savvy smart. Location is to me most important.

GU likely test 1.38+by Sept should reach 1.40

Dollar index is about to fall off the cliff. If Trump succeeds disrupting trade in broader context it will be negative for US economy. Much to be seen

To Add Feds rate hike is already priced in. Once that gets out even before major correction may take place.

Some years ago when NZD was hot like hot potato and they raised interest rate NZD fell off the cliff and since then never recovered those highs.

I've been around and know it by experience.

something worth thinking

Think of the steps as jumping boards from pivot to pivot

Example you bought at 100S you took profit at 38S wait for dip back usually test 61S then reload going for WP

I covered this concepts many many times here but worth stressing. Its not about how many pairs but how efficiently you can profit even from 1.

The reason steps occur because of big players taking profit which has a opposite reaction on price and reloading themselves. What I am doing basically what they are doing.They are reloading on dips and rallies.

This happens so many times that its basically natural reaction to me. EJ and pretty much on EU and many other pairs

Hey Davit,

As per our PM, I have some short trades that I bought too low a few weeks ago and now eating up some of my DD...So, me thinks, that the opposite can be true. Thus, the beauty of sticking with the PVT-WK, low ADR with an adequate thought out equity surplus with small trades, can help waiting for the pair to hopefully go short again to hit my TP. As I do not know whether the RT will give me a new PB or new major trend. I did hit 12.9% last month despite the randomness using MD guidelines and the edge you have shared here !!!!!

Cheers and thanks for teachings here!

Sure those steps work both direction. 🍊 I generally like to be same direction as dominate trend and fundemetal bias direction. On AN basically majority of times I have been a buyer not seller. Lots of AUD news this week and if positive I can only see AN going higher. Don't want to scare you but good chance AUD gaining next week.

Thanks to you and the late MD, I am not scared, as I now cushion my equity or take a loss if necessary, I will...that's all ! It also helps is to keep a separate source of steady income as MD notes that this will "...keep fear out of the equation...for a steady source of income..." besides the "skill set" or "the edge" and knowing that overall success is based on the overall series wins vs losses, etc., so not become aggravated, become scared and shoot yourself in the foot.

As a retired anesthesiologist, having some fear is important, especially with children, as they can go sour in the OR so fast and you better have some fear and "vigilance" to keep the patient alive thru surgery. That is an exception, also Tower Control workers at airports - even worse !!!! Fear is good sometimes and selected in evolution for self-preservation or safety of others, etc. (LOL)

Armenian Kochari Multicultural Epic Wedding Dance Entrance - Talin & Mesrop we know how to party 😊 <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WBf1gPiC3XM>

Davit, BTW, I love this eastern and middle-eastern culture food, dance, etc ! I found that all of that area near the Mediterranean sea shared dance, food, etc. Armenium, Greeks, Turks, Arabs, Spaniards, Hebrews, etc. Very cool partying and dance as in groups. There is even a competitive dance-off between a line of male Arabs and a line of Orthodox Jews all in their traditional garbs on a youtube video. The first song they were dancing to in your video was song in Sephardic-Arabic by a woman...beautiful !

This is how all humans need to respect differences and rational understandings in our atomic age !

agree most human divisions are superficial.Everyone works and tries to feed their families.Religious beliefs in my opinion should be kept private.

One really does not discuss with friends and strangers how he makes love to his wife.I think religion should be treated same way.Once it gets on TV and on larger scale it becomes entirely something else mostly a commodity for profit.In US TV evangelists basically selling a religion donate donate donate.

Anyway got carried away I am basically an atheist.Most of the middle East conflicts are fueled by religious differences....unfortunately Biggest Israel supporters in US are Evangelical Christians.....

Now why would I want my tax money go to Israel about 3billion a year plus military aid when Israel continues taking more Palestinian land for more settlements violating UN charters.If there was no aid I am sure Israelis would be lot more pragmatic resolving the conflict.

Anyway lot of things are fked up in US...Biggest issue I have is why would every US presidential candidate pledge UNCONDITIONAL support for Israel prior of even elections. Answer is simple Jewish lobby groups control who gets elected and every candidate knows without this pledge he has no chance to be a US president.

Now when you look at population of Jews in US vs general population its astounding how much influence Jewish lobbies have.

I am not a anti Jew by any means just stating obvious facts....WE really have very little control in our foreign policy...

Why would 3 billion dollar of aid to foreign country not have any conditions attached.....That's why the conflict has no end beca

Friends,

It is so funny that my father (RIP), would say in his heavy Spanish accent from Spain: " I do not understand why these people [Muslim and Jews] have been fighting for thousands of years...for what? For nothing ! Fighting over stones and sand with little plants to grow food...there is only stones there...and they fight like stupid fanatics...and they will be fighting for thousand of years more".

Same bozos accused me same things when my account was at 10k then went up 20k same shit posted about me then went up 40k and now its at almost 74k

One idiot goes around "Pivots are nothing new existed over 20yrs" another accuses me of fabricating photoshopping my results and another screaming none stop I should reveal everything about my account!

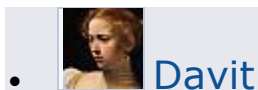

Listen up guys

If you blow your account for any reason that means you failed to manage your trades and have exit plan.It has nothing to do with the system!

These idiots don't realize I take losses and manage my trades.Recent decent size loss was on EU but I also had lots of profitable trades so system is working fine how it should.

Stride ahead.If for any reason you have doubts please door is open.Less noise and less I have to do cleaning up here.

I understand the logic of scaling in, using smaller lots sizes, and scaling out, however, one would expect 5 to 10 pips between individual entry / exits That's the part I don't get, why have so many entries all within a few pips of each other, as I see the exit is all at same price usually? The only thing I can figure is the pip total is greater, eg. 7 positions at +30 pips give 210 pips while 1 large position would...

Hi Erebus

I tend to have multiple entries because some times I close half and let the other half run and also I never enter everything at once hence even if they look like many trades in reality they still are not fully placed orders.I like to keep reserve troops ready.

My UJ trades is still alive and going south just fine...

Pip count is meaningless what's important is % measure by the end of the month in real dollars.

{quote} Hey Davit speaking of work how do you balance your trading with working a full time job? I think a lot of us reading systems are still working full time and could benefit from others tips on managing forex while at work. I have my Twitter set to send me push notifications anytime forexlive publishes something I still miss some while busy but it makes it more convenient to look through during lunch for any updates! Because of it I caught the USD/CAD daily reversal today when the US announced more tariffs and I try and monitor the updates...

Its challenging not gonna sugar coated.I make most money on my days off when I am trading none stop 10hrs straight. Reason also why I am basically sleep deprived because I stay up late trading after work like now.

I want success badly and achieving it so all these sacrifices are necessary to reach my goal of good trading capital 100k+ (getting close) and go full time.

No easy answers.regards

{quote} Good Morning Davit. I am glad I came across this thread because back in the day I followed Dredding82 Freebie Systems Thread and he too believed in the power of Fibonacci Pivots. It wasn't until a couple of weeks ago that I came across you thread and man it answered alot of questions I had about Pivot trading. Hopefully you will continue to teach us and show us the way. Thanks.

Hi Checkz

There is not much more I can share to be honest.If you click on clipboard you can find compiled version of my key posts put together by Dr John (thank you)

I know its hard reading 900pages but this should speed you up.

Dear Davit, I was thinking about your art passion and seeing things through your artist's eye and in my mind my visit to Vincent van Gogh's exhibition popped up. A wonderful friend took me in a wheelchair right up to each painting and i saw his paintings at bellybutton level and marveled that nobody else was seeing what i could see. Then to get color i used my Samsung phone to look closely - suddenly all the dull colors exploded in vividness , especially those outside his asylum window- people standing near me marveled at my view they could see...

Hi John

Love VG and marveled at his works and still do. He is self taught artist and did everything his way even though was starving. Few pieces at MFA in Boston and saw lot more of his works in LA where I used to live.

Cheers and thanks for the post 👍

Got lot of haters spreading lot of erroneous info about how I trade etc. One idiot admitted he didn't understand how I trade nor cared to learn it but felt compelled to spread disinformation all over the threads supposedly me running gigantic floating losses etc. Ironic how he admits he does not understand my system but feels entitled to troll about me.... This is insanity really comment about a subject care not learn about.... I hope you did not take these idiots seriously I don't run floating losses endlessly and I do have stops.

About adding to losers. Lot of these bozos have no concept what I am doing here and mostly influenced by typical trading books recommending just that not add to losers and that's logical when trading traditional ways which I don't.

I have covered this subject here many times but worth repeating once again.

This system takes advantage of market volatility and uses same tools MM use to take your stops in your advantage.

I use fish net method versus sniper. Multiple entries vs single.

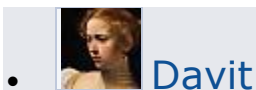

When price is at example R61 UJ example I place 5 orders when PA moves in my way. I will add more should price continues going south but suppose after 4hrs price goes against you. That's fine remember we still have not added all our intended orders and price is still in the zone. Price spikes at 100R basically taking stops and creating liquidity for large MM orders and you added additional 5 orders. This is not adding to losers this is BUILDING A POSITION when entire order is 1 batch of trades! Think of the CAT we got it covered from tail to head.

Now suppose price smashed 100R and started to go north even more. I usually wait to see if it's a fake out or not because vast majority of times it's a shake up spikes. Let's say it was not then I close 25% of my red trades and wait to see how PA reacts. If everything goes against me I may close all positions as loss. NO big deal continue hammering trades because I firmly believe in sample size. My account does not die with 1 batch or 10 batch of red trades!!!!

If you think I don't manage my trades you are delusional and vastly underestimate my abilities specially the fact where my account is now and where it was 2yrs ago.

This is not martingale nor brainless way to trade in fact it's pretty sophisticated taking advantage of spikes and volatility when others die you thrive!

I hope you guys jumped on EG short.Holding mine to mid 87

Whats interesting how MM find ways to run full swings to 61-100 no matter news or no news or fake news.Reason not important target is. More stops accumulations more reasons to run it.

Love making mega pips in minutes. Could be pure market manipulation.Look at the sources

Hi Guys

I am going to share this so you guys can see who is who and what really goes on here.

PM from BrianRay May 11th

First i want to say your brother and you are in my prayers. As for the account that i have dedicated to this thread is a new small account. I started with $550 this week. I managed to double the account just in this week. My position size was a safe harbor just to wrap my head around your strat. which is freaking amazing by the way. I have always loved S/R trading but never really thought about the harmonics aspect of it. The both of them together is just a monster of a strat. Props my man. Keep doing what you do!!!! Happy hunting "

The guy opens new thread taken core ideas from me then puts me on ignore then supports and encourages my haters. So much from a "spiritual man"

This individual ironically thought my 1st page was useless and my system useless but wants to learn derivative version of it....and asked for shortcut and I basically removed him for lack of trying but check out the vile coming out of him and Mr Spiritual Man BrianRay liking it Such is life and I still have not put BrianRay on ignore...

{quote} No gimmicks just don't want it flooded with to many people that really don't understand the strategy. Being it is new and we are just getting started there is a limit to how many folk we can help at one time.. Hope this help you understand. Happy Hunting!!!!

Nice to see great traders like you willing to help.

Unlike some idiot, Davit

Same idiot removed me from his thread when I asked for help on how to understand how he trades, because I said his thread has over 900 pages and I don't know where to start from. Even after going through his useless first page I had questions to ask.

Only for the fool to admit here that his thread is quite long.
<https://www.forexfactory.com/showthread.php?p=9#post11142419>

"...I know its hard reading 900 pages..." He said.

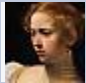

What a dickhead! You know it's hard but you made it look like I was a lesser being for saying 900 pages of a thread on this site is too much to read.

Well guess what I've found out. His method is just another useless trading system. Who in the right mind will trade forex without using a stop loss. It's like driving a car without brakes! Like seriously who does that.

Anyway I don't wish him any good in his trading career.

Davit, Remember that SUCCESS attracts idiots that criticize. Their objective is to DISTRACT you and put you down, in the hope your performance will suffer. I know a top football athlete and he says on the pitch the other team players say the most incredible things. What did he do? He started playing with cottonwool in his ears and tuned out the noise. I recommend you do the same: Resist checking other shitty threads that badmouth you. Also, disable PMs like GriffinSoul has done. Simple. Your results speak for themselves. And when you pass 100 000...

PM idea is tough because I do get sometimes amazing ones.

Got recently from Captain Jack pro trader with amazing PM's and I am glad that option is available. You are correct I should stop reading vile threads. 🍷✅🍷 {quote} Sorry to sound so harsh but I believe you have no clue about risk management and what you are doing scares the hell out of me. again sorry to be so blunt but I want you to think for a moment about what you wrote and what your account graph shows. Let me help you... You wrote:" I first started learning your method on a live account and over leveraged and blew it up"then you go on an you state: "...as before on my life account I was taking blind trades on the S/R61 level and overleveraging! And now you are showing a demo or a live account...

Its also easier making 30 even 40% on 2k account then on 10k account. Psychological risk factor increases.What you can do with 1k account would be hard doing it on 50k.The reason is obvious you don't care about 1k and want to risk more to see what happens sort of casino mentality. When You worked hard building 50k account I am certain you are not going to risk huge sums unless you are totally careless.

Anyway good feedback constructive criticism and this is kind of feedback comes from caring then hating.

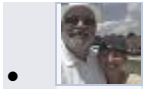

Cheers

May I suggest this book by a medical doctor in Psychiatry:

And just delete offenders without explanations and say "Fk It" like I would tell patients with a lot of unnecessary worry about being nice. There is my prescription for this malady: say "Fk It" or FK Them" and just focus on the savable folks like us. You absolutely do not need a Stroke or Heart Attack at a young age. Would not recommend longing EU at these levels in the R zone. Nor do I suggest selling it yet. Best wait and see how MM will go about it NY open Friday.
You guys following my theme right my focus is on crosses. Less risky and better swap friendly. Once USD becomes too expensive to hold (pretty soon) selling it will become costly to hold hence shift the focus on Yen and commodity pairs and look only best set ups on USD.

Hi Davit,

I have been attempting to trade for over 10 years. The ups and downs were tortuous at times, but I never stopped. I came across your thread by luck about 4 months ago. As a result, for the first time I have become profitable. All thanks to you, and what you teach here. I am originally from the US, but have a Polish wife and now live in Warsaw, Poland. I work a full time job, have two children, a mortgage etc, all things you know well. I plan to post on the thread as I am able. Please ignore those that cannot understand what you are doing. Truly, it is not worth your time to deal with them. I can say there are dozens out there, like me, many I have spoken too that have had their lives changed for the positive because of you. And those that are touched are touching the lives of others. Your impact is truly profound.

Thank you deeply from my heart,
Robert

IMO new trend going north. Don't sell it. Just wait let the MM sell it but you jump on higher probability direction.

Yes, but that's a massive zone between david's chart and mine; considering we are using the same broker, I think my charts are off. I using 3.2 auto, set auto true with a -5 offset. Anyway, don't want to clutter the thread, will figure it out.

I corrected my pivots.I was way off.Due to Oanda moving to -2.Its all good now

My calendar for next week perhaps most important for the whole summer.

My Canvas tone.

Feds interest rate dominating events next week and everything is filtered through this lens. We may see USD getting dumped hard before the event.

EU and GU likely shoot high. EU crosses may gain specially that ECB is about to start cutting bond buying. Printing money does not go forever...

Worth reading history of interest rates on USD

<https://www.thebalance.com/fed-funds...s-lows-3306135>

GBP Manufacturing Production m/m 0.3% -0.1%

If prints true look for EG possible heading south again and G crosses shooting high and GU gaining. I am long on GU at present in large positions.

Tues

GBP Average Earnings Index 3m/y 2.5% 2.6%

If prints green momentum from Monday may continue doubling positive sentiment on G pairs.

USD CPI m/m 0.2% 0.2%

USD Core CPI m/m 0.1% 0.1%

Red here may start the decline of USD prior of rate event.

RBA Gov Lowe Speaks

Could be a mover

Weds 13th huge day

If you ignore this day you should not be on my thread EVER!

GBP CPI y/y 2.4% 2.4%

If prints green and prior GBP events Mon Tues green as well expect G pairs gaining cross the board and GU in particular since its severely undersold.

FOMC Economic Projections

FOMC Statement

Federal Funds Rate <2.00% <1.75%

Welcome to forex! USD may decline right after or prior. Much of this is priced in. This is when rookies get slaughtered. "why is USD dropping when everything looks great" well even good news has a price! Remains to be seen and Feds may decide not to raise...

AUD Employment Change 19.2K 22.6K

Unemployment Rate 5.6% 5.6%

Red here may fuel EA GA to shoot high. Be aware on these 2 crosses!

Thurs

GBP Retail Sales m/m 0.5% 1.6%

If green G pairs gaining notice we got GBP news all week and you should be aware that cycle sentiment may start shifting to positive on G pairs cross the board.

ECB Press Conference

big one specially if they announce bond buying reduction or hint to this effect

USD Core Retail Sales m/m 0.3% 0.3%

USD Retail Sales m/m 0.4% 0.3%

may not be much of a mover

Thurs

BOJ Policy Rate

Monetary Policy Statement

any positive surprise here may strengthen the yen.

Friday

BOJ Press Conference

remains to be seen what that may curtail

My overview

GBP gaining possibly lots of data coming out and projections mostly are positive G crosses?. May buy EA prior of ECB conference. Still has lots of room north.

Have fun and make money!

Weekly analysis Mon 11/06/18 GBP Manufacturing Production m/m 0.3% vs -0.1% Avoid GU in view USD rate announcement. Keep an eye on EG pair Tue Trump-Kim Summit: A successful meeting will be positive for markets and could send the safe-haven Japanese yen lower, while a failure could weigh on markets and boost the safe-haven yen. NJ and AJ worth looking at GBP Average Earnings Index 3m/y 2.5% vs 2.6% Claimant Count Change 11.3K vs 31.2K Unemployment Rate 4.2% vs 4.2% Avoid GU in view USD rate announcement. Keep an eye on EG pair USD CPI m/m 0.2% vs...

Just a little constructive feedback

Point you are doing the calendar is not guessing what you are going to do. Its developing awareness what's coming up and what may unfold and you taking advantage.

"GBP

Manufacturing Production m/m 0.3% vs -0.1%

Avoid GU in view USD rate announcement. Keep an eye on EG pair"

Now why would you avoid GU..? Suppose it prints really green and GU goes north. Rate decision is on Weds. Why would you not take the trade? Could spike 50-70 pips? I am just a little baffled. You repeat same throughout.

If GU goes down after green data that means every major is going down even faster... Not likely to occur.

Try not boxing yourself in be open to take advantage what market gives you

You notice my analyses is always open ended meaning I simply don't know outcome before occurring but I have a plan either way.

Also you have to take consideration where pair is technically. Major Support? Previous week decline and this week correction more likely to occur?

We saw last week major correction on Yen crosses which followed major previous Yen domination.

These things have to be taken in consideration along with fundamentals.

Look at CJ chart. How would you trade it next week. Would you buy it? or sell it or wait it out. How does AUD NZD CAD have in common. If AUD is gaining would that not make NZD and the CAD stronger as well? Yes it would because they are commodity pairs one lifts up the others.

When Euro gains usually GBP gains as well. I am going on tangent now but I realized I look at a lot of things intuitively that just comes with experience... sometimes hard to convey nuances of trading

Its time to discuss some advance ideas.As you guys already know and I mentioned many times my pivots align with harmonics most the time but its important to see certain patterns repeating and you be aware.

I often enter on dips and rallies towards greater possible trend direction

Lets look at EA in more detail

AS you can see smart direction is buying the dips.

Without overwhelming with too many patterns just simple shape is enough for now.I basically use this a lot over and over Often corrections fall right on pivots. Look at pattern and think where the pivots are.

I find in painting when you mix too many colors you get grey mud and no color standing out. Try to get better and master one method and trust me it does not matter which one but master 1 Not saying his views are not relevant but sometimes it can confuse and even derail your ability to place a trade.

Are you going to react to pivot R61 when clearly PA going south or you are going to read COT report and worry what hedge funds are planning...etc etc stay focused 👍

below is my April 1st to date 2months and 1week results without reading single COT report
I bet every hedge fund would dream to have this kind of return

Davit. You re talking about G crosses. I d like strongly buy gbp nzd or gbp aud. What do you suggest? The first or second? Thx a lot for your answer.

market not open and can't say however I suspect you are a new trader....if boat fresh new you should not be here 2yrs required experience.

Stick with low ADR pairs. G crosses are hard to trade unless you have solid experience in forex.

{quote} Seriously i know you have a good running thread here (look how many follow it), but what is this with that number? Two years of what? How came you to this, do you invest two years to manage trading with the tdi? I took me nearly three years to go to the point, that i trade now from a line. Yes! I think this is possible to manage in few days. All is about discipline and the sort of money management that suits the entry method.

Everyone is free to trade any time they like as Mark Douglas said it does not take a skill pressing a button and finding yourself in a winning trade. To be consistent trader will take you lot more then 2yrs. Its not about technicals trading takes psychology as well. While anyone can trade my system not everyone can make money and frankly I don't want to be part of rookies losing their accounts!!! I am upfront honest about it and its for their benefit I kick them out!

You have joined FF in 2015 opened a thread trading martingale in 2017 that's after 2yrs you were going to show everyone how to trade martingale!!😂

You got to be kidding coming here with your chest pounding lol Wonder of it all from Mr. Pip, a great trader, with a long-running thread here on ff, "It took me years, blood, sweat, tears and much sacrifice to figure this all out."

Yes I have not seen consistent profitable trader with 2yrs or less ever! Anywhere! Might get lucky over leveraging getting 150% return on peanut size account but next month all wiped out and cycle continuing....

I can basically say will take you solid 5yrs to know what's going on and be consistent profitable and that if you apply with hard work as we know 95% all traders lose in this business! Only small % rise to the top and you will not find TOP trader 2yrs less experience ever anywhere!

{quote} You are not wrong at all, but do you have a person in your family that are from nature good in do things exact as a plan tells him? Do you can think that this person wil in far shorter time trade with better result as you now? The market is not really different for both. Can a so called senior with more than your two years(if this is to measure the skill) kill his account with your method? Can it be?

You are not reading my post. Trading is lot more complex activity then just technical. Takes experience in trading pschology

When rookie takes a loss Experience trader may hold. When rookie panics experience trader smiles, when rookie takes profit at 30pips experience trader takes at 100pips do you follow me?

No system can lay out all these variables even if it could does not mean rookie trader will apply

Had a guy here BrianRay rookie trader making typical rookie mistakes but got over his head and opened a thread "teaching his method" openly inviting inexperience traders to join him. Now that's blind leading the blind... To me that's irresponsible allowing these folks to blow their accounts soon or later.

I am upfront about the risks for not having experience and I think that's speaks more about my standards.I don't bullshit people.

{quote} You have not read my post. A person doing things EXACT, do trade exact as the plan tells him, trade exact the money management that he have. This person is in good postion to make green pips alot. A perdon who has good skill to analyse market, but with not a so good hand with money management can loose over and over. It is for me something that are not true in all with the "trade x years you go in profit". I am happy that can i tell someone who ask me how long it takes and i can say the person short time, IF they manage to do this exact...

So you are going to have a golden plan "Exact Plan" less then 2yrs and you are speaking from experience? What happened to martingale thread!That was 2017

Do you purchase a " Exact plan"? or you put one together yourself...How would you know what "exact" is in 2yrs or less.You do understand how absurd you sound right?Nobody beats this market with golden "Exact Plan" in 2yrs or less maybe on Disney channel cartoon network but not in real life

Hi densol

I suggest you don't post your opinions until you know what this thread is about or other methods.NO high volatility is not always better

With a TE like this you should keep your month shut that way perhaps you might learn something to turn this shitfest around!Don't go barging in on life drawing class when you can't even draw an apple and start making noise.. You can't learn if your opinions rule you.Try be humble perhaps others know better and just perhaps you may grow as a trader and as an individual.

Just interested in where you guys will exit your UJ trades from this perspective {image} usually next pivot level then wait to see if it breaks or not then make your decision.

Taking 50+pips on typical trade is common since focus here is on swings

{quote} OK , Just wondering why probably asking about the most important part of trading is frowned upon , but im liking the thread so i will keep my mouth shut about exits from here sorry to ask 😞

That's because there is thread search button and most questions have been answered over and over but new traders prefer asking instead of looking.

Hi, take my method on the table to quickly find the strength of currencies and instantly find the CROSS. choose under your trading style a timeframe, I scalp and work on M5 and H4. Place on the edge of the table. Enjoy and save time. see what background was the pound before the fall. On the StrMeterSession, the pound sharply leans down and seeks to form the CROSS with the dollar. Tpl. hang on eurUSD {file} {file} {file} {file} {file} {file} {image}

Pound dropped because of red data and was holding fine before the event. No volume can predict outcome of news before.

Thank you for your inputs and you are removed.

{quote} Am trying to understand Pivot Point's indicator. You have to understand the indicator before you even can start using Pivot Point's as Davit has posted. A wrong setting will and can have a major impact on trading results. (Unless you are one of many driver's that know there is a engine in front or back of the steering wheel and need's oil / water / fuel and don't care about the rest) Inside the indicator and on webpage a trader has a choice to use Standard or Fibonacci. Does it really matter what you chose? {image}

Hi Tekkies

Its sometimes hard switching your methodology when you have traded many years TMS that you have. Sometimes you just have to trust that there is a reason why I use Fibs pivots and there is a reason why Scott, Mr Pip, CNTrader in my view top 3 traders in FF are using harmonics and Fibonacci levels which harmonics are based off. Can you use other pivots sure 100% but not here on my thread.

from years of observation (you are talking to an artist whose eyes are trained to look) Fib pivots are most effective that is price has solid reaction off them.

Its up to you to use or not but I suggest not questioning everything like I just started this yesterday. Remember my account was roughly 20k last year this time and now 76k you do the math.

{quote} That is because your question was loaded with flaws. 1. Asking whether Fib or Standard when clearly a Fib Pivot Thread. 2. Playing with indicator setting when it has been tested a proved to work as is. 3. Asked to be spoon fed rather than look at post #1. If people jumped on you it's because 1. It has been asked before and a simple search would reveal the answer 2. No one will be spoon fed on this thread...not personal 3. If you are not willing to work for your success you will fail...and possibly be banned. In my opinion if you are new...

Mundo

Tekkies has been around many years mostly on TMS and I am respectful to him. Lets not get aggressive here. Once he gets going on Pivots I am sure he will do fine. Its hard sometimes switching mythology...takes time

After 2yrs I have proven my method works.My PM is literally full with hundreds of posts thanking me how much they profited using my system from Pakistan to UK to India Poland Korea US Cypress Greece France Italy Russia Armenia Turkey Mexico etc
If this was a fluke should of died long ago.I am sure this system will be packaged labeled and sold off but don't care I never intended to make money from it.

Continue on and make money.Soon or later all my critics will get quiet.They mostly have already....🎸💰🍺👍

Guys thank you for all your support! I appreciate it! 💰🍷💰🍷 then more 🍷💰🍷💰

This is worth reading Feds basically signalling dovish posturing. They don't really want global turmoil since lot of emerging markets debt are in USD

<https://www.marketwatch.com/story/fe...kes-2018-06-08>

Sell the fact applies here.

Even though growth in the second quarter is looking strong, with some tracking estimates as high as 4.6%, the Fed will be cautious, concerned with the ongoing G-7 trade conflict, the recent bout of market stress over Italy, and disappointing growth in other advanced economies, said Krishna Guha, Fed watcher at Evercore ISI.

The market has already priced in a decision by the Fed to raise the target range of the federal funds rate by 25 basis points to a range of 1.75% to 2%. This will be the second rate hike this year and the seventh move since the start of the tightening cycle.

Love to see EU drop as low as possible by tomorrow to load up longs for 118+

My philosophy is always been don't be afraid of the market take advantage of it.

Hi Davit, First congratulations for your thread and what you have accomplished as a trader and mentor. Thank you for sharing your knowledge. Regarding the UJ trade, market seems be attracted to R78 possible R100 area, although several spikes against the R78 area but forming (without much impulse HH, HL). In this case and until the R100 area is not broken you think in holding the position ? Thanks in advance and happy trading {image} Just to note that buying is not at question since is against the trading rules.

Yes hold.May spike before the Fed event even more or could collapse from London open.I don't know the future its all probabilities to me..I am firmly holding and I also keep my risks minimum even with 76k account.

You are one of the best traders here because you understand what I do. Its same in other fields as well.

I took a friend to museum and I was excited how much I loved Sargent's watercolors but he was not impressed and not moved. Realized my appreciation was due the fact I knew how hard it is to do what he did. What looks deceptively fluid and easy is extremely hard because watercolors dry fast can't be erased and every mistake shows. Basically its one go.

In short everyone sees relative to their abilities, training, experience, knowledge

Hi Guys

Lets pull back on harmonics and look what this thread is about. Pivots lets not get side tracked trigger to place a trade is on page 1 wait for PA to show green signs and have minimum 30min anglator arrow up

Hi all, Hope all is well. Just curious if anyone has had any luck replicating the pivots with Trading View? I like to use TV to monitor charts when I can't get to my MT4 platform, but the standard pivots don't include the S/R78, which is irritating. No worries if not, just thought i'd ask. Congrats on the achievements Davit, the book on Psycho-Cybernetics by Maxwell arrived (albeit in a very shoddy state and smelling foul,,2nd hand amazon for you) and i've made some progress. Thanks, Ben

I had found a daily fib pivot that i modified to weekly. However its not plotting correctly I gave up on it. I'll PM the code to you and see if you can get it.

Trade with confidence, trade without fear.

ECB tommorow
Should be fun

Its interesting that my GBP bull sentiment from my calendar I did turned out correct. Made good chunk of change on GA so far this week

Got to go work now catch up with you guys later

So far Tremendous gain 😊👨🦧👊 this week

Hi Davit . A little curiosity. With yesterday's Fomc , I have read that everyone has done hundreds, thousands of pips. Good , kudos to them. But has anyone lost ?

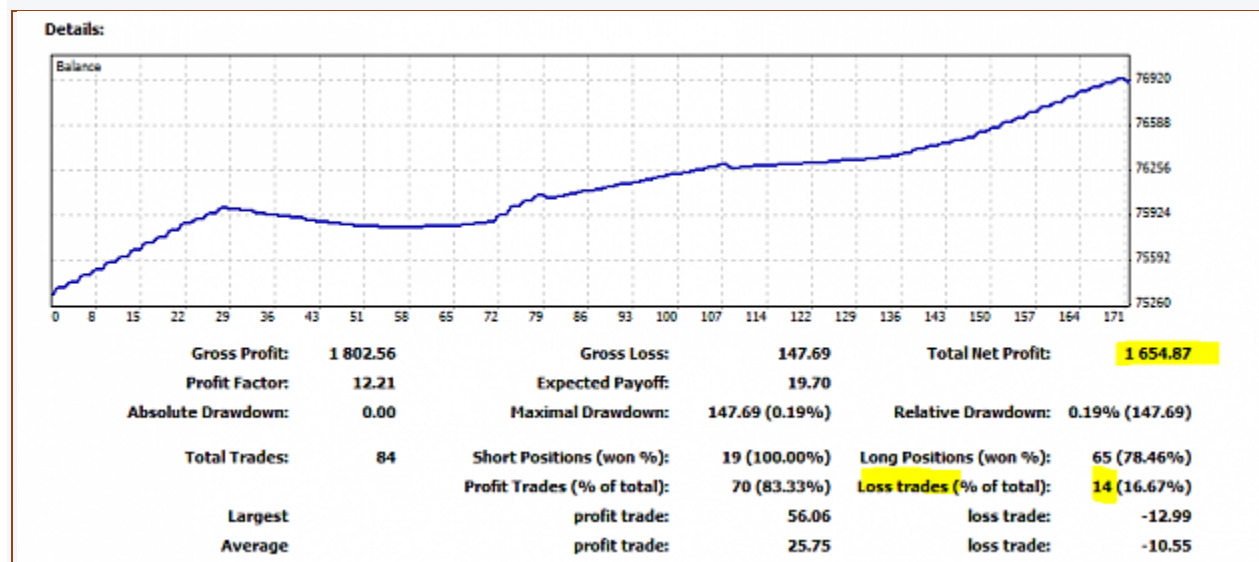

I don't know I can't speak for others.High winning trades here are common but I am sure there are losers.Usually equity graphs people post does contain % of losing trades but winners usually are more.

Maybe others post their losers?Personally I had some DD trades on UC UJ GU but there are in good shape now.If you think its a Ponzi scheme here I can assure you its not.Got lot of experienced sharp traders here who can pick up things fast if it were fraudulent. System generates great profits and I do have my share of critics but don't care about them they don't pay my bills!

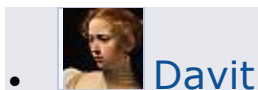

below this week results basically 3 days of trading. Still have great number of green trades in profit and not closed yet since I do believe lot more room in them.

If you are skeptical that's understandable just follow my closed trades I posted here this week
cheers

Going against the dominant trend is usually corrective waves.This system can be trades both with the trend and against (corrections)

This is because its based on swings.

One of my favorite pairs AC getting close to the zone.
Getting +swap is nice and making profit on top even better fundamentally CAD is still weak so this should be on your top list.

big positions running on EG south. Glad did not buy Euro at all before ECB the fall is very dramatic

DD on UC GU UJ AU but I am ok with it. Did not reach my SL criteria

I prefer managing my account positions without having entire FF looking at it hence why I dislike TE and showing full statements with everything.

Once you are exposed everything it will effect how you trade. You will be more concern about temporarily manageable DD positions that are still good to hold but when the world is watching you may close as loss and start becoming conscious of every red position. That's not healthy. Red position DD is normal in trading. Some trades needs time. Time is a factor in trading obviously when clearly wrong one should get out but that decision should be done rationally without panic and within predetermine SL level.

My critics scream I should show everything. My answer to that once they pay my bills I will! otherwise its none of their business how I manage my account!

{quote} Davit, how can I tell if its just DD or a losing trade?

Losing trade is when you are clearly wrong and basically you are pulling the plug and reached your max loss criteria you set for yourself read page 1 on sL.

DD trade is when trades are within prospects of becoming winners. MY AU UJ very winning potential and DD here is normal. Time is a factor again in trading. This week is very bullish on USD next week could turn around and correction maybe in the cards. If I think I am wrong on both UJ and AU and PA continues bullish USD I will pull the plug but not there yet.

Listen guys and I am going to say this last time

CHF is inverse of Euro. Same set up is almost exactly on EU but there is a difference

CHF -0.75

EU 0

Which is more expensive to trade against USD!

That's -2.75 swap daily from your account vs 2.0 If you think this does not matter think again everything adds up

Hi Guys

About drawdowns

This subject is often misunderstood and twisted into gross forum debates and traders who have history of blown accounts. Very few understand nature of DD

DD is essential part of any successful trading system if anyone tells you otherwise they are lying and deceiving you. There is no such thing as zero DD system that is successful long term. This comes down to stop losses. Are you going to take a loss every time price goes against you 20-30 pips? If yes you will deplete your account before you know it. Trades need room to develop!! If executed properly based on the Edge of the system then allow the edge to develop. Running 5% 10% even 15% is acceptable if you are growing your account same time. This is true of most successful systems.

If you are running 10% DD but gaining your account same time by end of the year you will be still in great profit. This is the truth in trading

The dream of novice market speculators is that they will continually bask in the warmth of profitable times. This myth is falsely promised by the promoters of trading systems and trading training programs. In fact, just the opposite is true. Most long-term profitable traders spend the vast majority of their trading careers either in Trading Drawdowns or recovering from a drawdown. Any slick promoter who tells you different is not dealing from a full deck. Most successful long-term traders are underwater the majority of time. Welcome to trading!

I have and had DD most of the times. In fact it does not bother me at all because I trust my EDGE to generate more than my DD in consistent bases.

That's it

If you personalize losses, you can't trade-Bruce Kovner

Here is an example of healthy DD

Trades were executed based on system rules however random market aspect can't be predicted hence PA went further south.

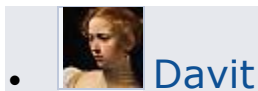

Do I worry? NO !Does this batch of traders have potential to be profitable YES I'll say 80% chance to be profitable. There you go healthy DD situation. Should I close as loss now? NO because trades need time. It's in the Zone and great potential to shoot up.

Example of DD that I am perfectly fine to hold.

Feeling like the CAD is getting tired of being bitch slapped....

commodity pairs are weak now due to Trump trade war rhetoric. It could change dramatically next week.

By looking at everything you can tell which pairs MM hummer which they leave alone.

CAD AUD NZD left alone but EU GU bought up.

Draghi basically crashed the market. MM unloading since yesterday but looks like USD index is topping out

Anthony Bourdain feat. Serj Tankian in Armenia - Parts Unknown

RIP Anthony will forever miss you and thank you and your staff for visiting my country. at 18min mark he talks about incredible creative school Tumo Center where kids can study anything for free
These kids already won many competitions around the world in tech software development.

All in all, an average day for students at the $20 million, Tumo Center which has become the envy of the education and tech worlds. Since its inception five years ago the center has become a model which countries and foundations from Sweden to South Korea are desperate to replicate. 7,000 kids are now enrolled at its Yerevan campus, with many more in three other locations. It's a staggering growth one founder never imagined. "We thought we'd have maybe 500, 1,000 students," Pegor Papazian, advisory board member and husband of Marie Lou Papazian, the center's director, says over a thick local coffee. Marie Lou was headhunted online by TUMO benefactor Sam Simonian, a Dallas-based telecommunications magnate, "to develop something which would be philanthropic but also kind of a progressive, future-oriented project that would serve Armenia's kids on the global market."

commodity pairs are weak now due to Trump trade war rhetoric. It could change dramatically next week.

By looking at everything you can tell which pairs MM hummer which they leave alone. CAD AUD NZD left alone but EU GU bought up.

Draghi basically crashed the market. MM unloading since yesterday but looks like USD index is topping out despite of accumulating DD on UC GU mostly managed to make decent profits this week. On my trajectory to hit 10%+ for the month

My DD is within normal levels. Does not threaten account. I know my critics will scream about this but I already mentioned DD is part of this system its unavoidable since this is Swing Trading position trading not DAY trading. If I were Day trading I would of shut everything every day and start with clean slate next day. Not what this thread is about. Interestingly its lot harder to make consistent money day trading. Not many succeed.

Hi guys

That was some wild week. ECB totally derailed everything and I don't think market was prepared and why such extreme reactions. Draghi speaking Mon and Tues and I have a inkling he may retract some of his statement to be little more bullish and lift the Euro maybe 1680.

As Mark Douglas said

Anything can happen. We witnessed that Thurs. The point of my post is keep your lots small and carry on.I have been several times in situations like this but plowed my way out and even made profit.I am not phased or discouraged.I am basically living example of this system.I look at bigger picture larger sample size and even if I do have a red month its no big deal.Successful trading any successful trading has on occasion red periods.Do I start adding bunch of pointless indicators? No Do I change how I trade based on 1 week 2 day event? No

Carry on and you will prosper. I am way up for the month and I am happy where I am in my performance.
cheers

I have listened MD so many times that's ingrained in my consciousness.I have a real profound understanding what probability means and what Edge means.

People who don't understand this and nature of randomness keep going from system to system from losing to up then losing again never really understanding forces factors behind numbers,events,how market makers place their orders how and when swings end and new ones begins etc.

Keep your heads up with confidence!Carry on!

I want to add another thing never be afraid of volatility.When others panic I look for opportunities when others worry I am relaxed calm even with increased DD on some positions I have I am totally fine with it.You have to trust your EDGE.This I am saying over and over.Trust what you are doing that is if you are respecting system rules.

Hi Davit, I wanted to ask how much overall equity draw down percent (i.e. overall risk over all pairs and trades at the same time) you would deem conservative for a trader who starts out with your approach? Maybe you could describe how you did it when you started out with this approach. Cheers Jester

I Jester

I have placed some funds on hold when I started in case I needed to boost the account which I did during Brexit crises. Now no back up funds everything I have its there. 5% or less DD is conservative in my book and should cause no alarm. I fluctuate 2% to 15% average around 5-7% when holding a position for 2-3 weeks. In fact this is normal meaning any system must accommodate DD unless you are day trading or scalping. Positions/Swing/Trend trading requires extra time hence why DD.

DD is not to be confused with trades that are clearly wrong. DD are trades that have high probability to become winners but If I think Edge is no longer there and my SL requirement has been fulfilled I will take the loss. By no means I advocate holding a losing trades until your account goes bust. Like I said DD are positions that are high degree profit potential.

Hi Davit,

thank you for your quick reply. You mentioned that you average around 5-7% dd when holding a position for 2-3 weeks. But what I meant was this. Say you trade EURUSD, GBPUSD AUDCAD each of them in dd by 7%..So in total your account is in dd by 21% Is there an overall dd level where you would advise new traders of your system to stop trading a new pair until overall dd is reduced or should we really not care as long as we have not maxed out on margin because the odds are in our favour?

Cheers and my apologies for not being clearer in the first place

I always look at my overall DD. When I think its not looking good I don't add new positions at all. I have never looked single pair DD because to me that's pointless. Its always been overall DD of the account.

Each pair is unique and has its mini fundamentals chart location and should be managed singularly but DD should be looked at overall.

When you must cut losses you should take the loss on a pair which has the least potential to be profitable not necessarily biggest DD.

I had DD on EU but end up being green by Friday close. I have small DD on AN but don't think its cause to worry. I have DD on AU but think its at great support level. Do you follow me? If you must take a loss take the pairs that stinks the most and that maybe not the biggest DD pair. Big DD could be result of greed because you entered bigger positions but on chart and fundamentals still could be great to become profitable hence why I said biggest DD does not automatically mean weakest position to take a loss.

It didn't happn, i had 100% confidence in the system, my plan was executed bit earlier and price traveled down more but i was able to catch bottom and here we go, AJ closed with TP, UJ near TP, CJ on its way, loaded on EC. Everything goes exactly as it should. Just believe in what you do. I am starting to understand how you see things Davit.

Thank you and also you should scale down on positions so you don't get into margin call situation. Have extra funds on hold as a back up plan.

I said buy the dip....things change very quickly. This system is about execution and there is random distribution of winners and losers meaning you don't know which trades are winners before hand. If I take 10 trades exactly on system rules I can get 70-80% winners 30-20% losers are the random part.

{quote} What you do is great. My adventure with FF is over, Good luck because you deserve it

Hi Jar

FF is great resource if you are able to utilize it properly. Lot of parallels exists in ART and Trading.

When an amateur looks at great painting may not see everything fine about it in fact may even dismiss it. When a talented Artist looks at the same work he/she sees far more and connects with the artists.

FF is great when you know where to look. Personally I think you are frustrated perhaps with your trading results and manifests in forum in ugly way.

Its all good. My philosophy has always been do what works for you.

When you realize Arshile Gorky escaped from Armenian Genocide and his mother dying of starvation experienced profound pain and later committed suicide after his wife left him and suffering from cancer...then you see his painting totally with different lens. Limbs of Animals and people, body parts intense and how can one express such deep pain and sorrow? Then you appreciate his abstraction.

He was instrumental figure in Abstract expressionism influencing many great artists.

To an amateur its nothing but confusing lines but to an artist its a goldmine.

Trading is same you take what you are able to.

MM are waiting for CAD data tomorrow but fall may start earlier.

Assumption is with trade tariffs data will be red hence why CAD not gaining yet but there could be pleasant surprise as well.

Hi Traders. I've seen some use the fib pivot indy where it shows the PREVIOUS day as a different level than currently vs. where my pivots are static throughout the current week and only change the following week. I'm assuming it's because the current levels shift when the price has moved significantly and so recalculated by the indicator on a daily basis, is that correct OR is the weekly pivot good for the whole week? If the former, the benefit of having the previous levels still visible is for learning purposes - I'd like to see where a trade was...

H4 shows weekly D1 shows monthly both show previous weeks/months history of pivots.

Just to correct you. We trade weekly pivots. Pivots are supposed to remain same for the whole week! When you trade daily fib pivots then obviously it changes daily.

you are removed anyway. Read page 1 if confused why.

Let me add something

You know why CNtrader is successful trading harmonics? Its not just the patterns he insists before taking any trade if behavior is correct!Which means does PA ,fundamentals conducive to place a trade or not! Its not just about patterns!Never has been.Go read his posts and watch his videos you might actually learn something!

The guy was shorting at 61S but furthermore nothing in chart showing any bear sign. Why would you go short? This is trading 101 learn the basics guys!

Wow what an amazing week! I just closed all CAD shorts before news. 🤔🤔🤔🤔. I am on thin ice this week. Margin call on Tuesday and very risky shorts from last night. Overall great week. Another 8% plus to my account. 💪. 15% plus date -to month. And another week ahead. I hope I don't screw it up. 😊 Still can't fix my trader explorer. Need to figure statistics in my broker web. Anyone using FORE.com ? Would be great to have a little insight. I wish everyone great weekend. It's summer time guys! Time to have a fun. Davit as always thank you! You are truly miracle man!

Bad CAD number meaning quite a lot of peeps here are in large drawdown with their CAD trades. It would be interesting to see what people do in this situation. Hold through drawdown period having faith in system that price will reverse? Stopped out at your predefined limit? Add to position at next pivot level if ADR and other indicators etc look good? Making real time informed decisions when the situation looks less favourable is best time for learning

Best to wait out since usually most knee jerk algo trades usually come down then take a smaller loss if necessary.

This system also insist people manage their trades. Market is fluid and there will be losses. Its trading ups and downs question should be success over large sample size. Today I may lose but still be a winner for the month or for the Quarter.

month so far

close to 10% my goal.If I have to take 2k loss by the end of the month 5k gain is still respectful for challenging month.Challenging in terms of Trump,Tariffs, ECB Draghi dropping a bomb ,Feds raising rate etc. One also should look at the context how you traded during hardest times. Its surviving tough months that one gains confidence and resilience.I had very tough month during Brexit but survived and grew my account.

In the end that's what counts.

Trump news

Trump threatens to slam a massive tariff on European cars, which could cause economic chaos

This could weaken Euro pairs.Great for my EC shorts....

I basically only will sell Euro.Will not buy.With Italy and ECB weird prolong money printing I rather be a seller and not a buyer. Having said this I also prefer not shorting EU because I rather sell through crosses and not USD.

USD is overbought cross all pairs and should start in corrective phase. Once higher interest have their impact on economy we may very likely experience contraction in growth. Higher interest rates hurt corporate gains and that has domino effect companies have less profits to invest new employees and less capital to expend and more likely start scaling down.

Strong USD in short exasperate not only US economy but world economy specially on emerging markets. Turkish lira is in free fall now 17% decline against USD this year...

This makes EU nervous....

Trade Worksheets - Introductory & Intermediate

As a "retired" Fund trader responsible also for systems research and having traders reporting it was necessary for documentation to offer advice and assess trades by all traders. A "worksheet" was a simple method of hard copy also serving as a log and reasons for each trade. One key is to take a screen image immediately before or after entering a trade then follow-up screen images during the course of a trade as well at trade exit. These would be analyzed by traders in a seminar format on a weekly basis. I still marvel at traders who grew into very professional traders and attributed their improvement/success to a worksheet format with follow-up.

I have consulted with Davit who was happy for these to be uploaded as two PDF files that may serve to assist as introductory and intermediate worksheets to those getting to grips with Davit's system. A brilliant system.

These worksheets may be printed in color or black and white. I simply use a erasable pencil to check off the criteria. Yes, I still use them. They have been updated over the last 18-24 months to their present form.

All professional traders I have been associated with have a method of self-discipline, a check list of criteria before entering any trade. A trade log is also carefully maintained.

Davit may have comments or advice to improve or update these as required.

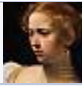

Above all look at them and ask yourself if relatively new to Davit's system, am I disciplined and do I have confidence in entering a trade. These worksheets may help?

{quote} No worries bud and thank you for the input. I started using harmonics about 6 months ago my self and I am still learning as I go. Still trying to implement their beauty in my trading strategy. This one in particular I used an Indicator to draw it, had to remove it of course as the screenshot would look like a Christmas tree and be totally against the threads rules. But anyways It showed a completed bullish butterfly more visible on H1 but as some of the professional traders here mentioned before, we can't rely on those indicators and it...

Hi guys

Just want to remind you guys that primary factors on this thread are pivots. Harmonic patterns give confluence but I don't want this thread becoming harmonic trading because that's not the focus. There are better threads for harmonic trading like CNtrader and Scotts threads. One can trade my system without any harmonic knowledge that's because fib pivots the "zone" often correspond with key shapes. Bring back focus to page 1

EU is at key RN 17 and looks pretty exhausted now. If it drops it will help Euro crosses.

Trump scared money flowed to Yen and euro but as always Forex is fluid things change quick. Yen opened way too strong but gave up some of its gains already Trump has become a real obstacle in terms of market and trading. Trade wars are skewing everything

For example Euro should not be this strong considering ultra dovish

ECB and crappy fundamentals in most Euro blog countries with high unemployment and crappy growth even with ECB printing Euro every month.

IMO Euro blog is doomed to fall apart in 5years most.

Hi guys

I got asked why not post your trades when entered vs closed trades. Several things I find this distracting. I don't want this becoming signal service second everyone should manage their trades as they see fit. When posting as entered there is a tendency to either closed early profit because you want to look good for your peers or get out of trades early for fear of looking bad. It effects how you trade.

I post set ups and that's the best way.

The whole point of this thread is teaching you how to trade and you should be able to trade comfortably without having need for reassurances what your peers are doing.

you are a good example what this system can generate with experience in forex. There is no shortcuts for screen time
Sometimes I look at prices on my phone and after an hour I try to guess where it will be and often I am right on the money. I could not do this 4yrs ago...
Now its weird I can sense an exhaustion before even happening...

Worst is seating on profits and watching it shrink and do nothing until everything well almost everything paid back to market everything is compressed and ready to uncoil and uncoil it will Trigger could be anything like Trump tweeting about USD too strong or he does not want to cause global crises etc.

What is interesting that when price reaches extreme fib levels there is a compressed energy that needs releasing and most of times it does just that and often the trigger could be just plain profit taking.

You could be correct in terms of economy but in my view forex is fast moving animal with fast algo reaction then quick dumping positions and so on.

There is no real time to filter prolong long term consequences for example does forex reflect now that Greece Italy Portugal Spain are in shit and have been for years and Italy has unemployment as high as 30%? how does this work out with single currency when good chunk of member states are struggling and are liabilities. Shouldn't Euro be below 1.0? Logically should be but Forex is not logical.... Its basically controlled by small wealthy well financed cartel. They control the price....Its basically venue to maximize gains for them hence I try to emulate their moves...

If you are new to Pivot trading I would like to share below what your thinking must be going forward from here.

1. This system is based on Probabilities which lies between S61-S100 (For buying) and R61-R100 (For Selling), See below.

Attached Image (click to enlarge)

2. This system is based on starting with small positions which build into a larger position as the trade progresses. Don't get tempted with large pips numbers on the charts. Our trades must have a concrete foundation for entry and for exits (Which could be PA consolidating, Next Pivot zone, ADR etc.), See below

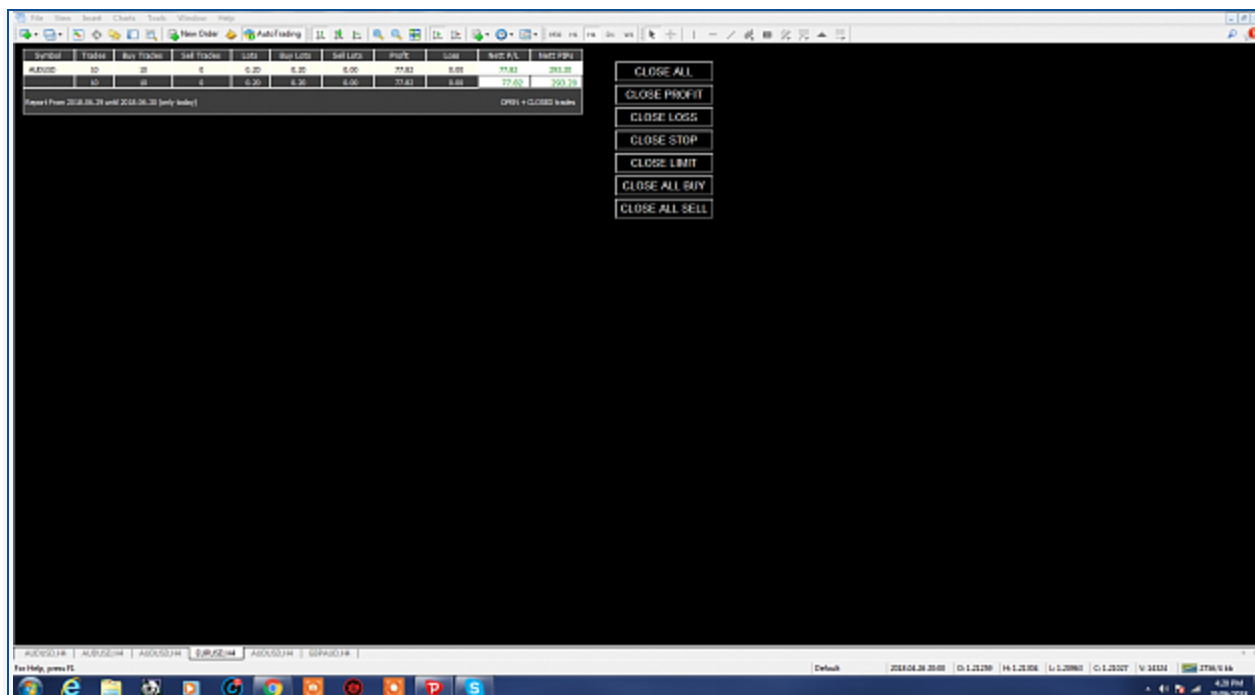

Attached Image (click to enlarge)

In above chart, ADR reached for the day and I have to leave for work now. Better close it and flat for the month.

3. Look at how much you are risking as opposed to how much you can make. This sound cliché but the more you will think about how much you want to risk on a trade the better money management you will have. There will be times when you won't exhaust all your positions on one trade and that is Ok. It's not about using all your lot size positions in one trade but to manage a trade in a manner which results in less risk, See below.

Attached Image \(click to enlarge\)

In above screenshot, I made AUD 77 in AUDUSD buying trade in 12 hours while I was asleep half of the time only using 10 positions of 0.02 cents which comes to $2. The max I try to go is $5 with my account but I saved $3 on this AUDUSD trade and still made AUD 77 not bad.

Hope this helps.

Best Regards

{quote} Hi Davit, as probably many other fellow traders I'm in deep DD on AN. So even if I'm very close to my equity SL, I could for instance close at loss one trade to stay in the game and then re-enter when AN eventually turns ? Best regards, Bubincka {image}

Its squuze time for sure on AN but I think correction is coming.If you must close then do it few positions.Losses are normal.

correction may start after GBP current account event as you can tell you are up strong resistance on your favor

Nice lot of making money 💰👍 true success is being consistent

From margin call to 35% gain in 1 month is not ok. That's a recipe for disaster. Get your focus guys!

Maybe a strange question but i ask it anyway. For years i have been a scalper 1 - 15M charts. Since few weeks i am trading the marvelous "Davit's strategy" . Good results so far, but: For example i took the Ucad short for a few days. Without big movement. Yesterday i closed the position at BE. Now (as we speak) i miss >170 pips. How do i train my patience? Thanks in advance for any constructive tips.

My advise is resist doing what you have done for years before and didn't work. Swing trading requires totally different mindset in fact I have ban people scalping my system because its not designed for that. In Swing trading everything is opposite to scalping wider SL multiple entries (at least on this thread) Patience to allow trades to develop. CNtrader at times holds for weeks sometimes over a month and his harvest will blow any scalper away. He plays golf and enjoys time with family.

When the urge comes to doing what you have done in the past just walk away go to gym, walk your pet, get out of the house and don't check prices every second. Trust the system and it will reward you!

To be honest I am not sure why NZD is so weak. None of the majors other than Feds raised rates Bank of Australia did not either and was very dovish and yet AUD is asphaltting the NZD
There is no logic other than MM decided to squeeze NZD could be totally different next week what I have been saying all along trade small allow room for error.

I took a loss on NJ not a huge loss will never let get out of control but I did closed all positions and total was red. Its fine I am ok with it and my account just has small dip for the month. I am not bothered by it at all Its a cost of doing business YOU CAN'T BE RIGHT ALL THE TIME in fact its not about being right its about the Edge over large sample size trades. Edge will show its way.
Nobody knows the future what has happened is no guarantee it will happen again same way there is randomness in the market.
That's one aspect seldom talked about. You and I don't know when that big MM presses buy or sell. You don't know if AN drops 1 hr from now or next Tues. You guys follow me right? Because we don't know the outcome of any trades we trade our edge over large sample size and become winners and that's what casino does they don't know every game outcome but they know out of 10k bets they have 3% Edge and that's enough to generate millions think about that

Just to understand probability for fun read House Edge on Roulette
<https://bestroulette.net/house-edge/>

Keep in mind our EDGE is lot higher since you have control over SL and position size.

I am trying to make you guys understand what Edge is and what probability is. My mind seriously no longer thinks in losing winning individual trades. I basically REWIRED MY BRAIN ITS ALL PURE PROBABILITIES what Mark Douglas said.

Attached Image (click to enlarge)

Roulette House Advantage

Here are the base house edge advantages in percentage for each roulette game:

- American Roulette House Edge: 5.26% due to double zero slots
- European Roulette House Edge: 2.7% due to single zero slot
- French Roulette House Edge: 1.35% due to half back rule (for even money bets only)

The Best House Edge In Roulette For The Casino

As you can see, the extra 'double zero' on the American roulette wheel makes an huge difference, almost doubling the casino house edge. All even money and 1/3rd bets lose when either zero is hit, which is a bigger disadvantage to players.

{quote} For trades such as these, where it is the end of the week and price has pushed way past S/R 100, What is the general move since pivot levels change each week. I imagine it's on a case by case basis where logic and common sense is required.

you should look where price is. Now think what's the probability this going lot higher. I'll say like 20% going lower 80% basically this situation is more classical S/R trading and I am willing to risk to find out.

i have a question about today the last day of the week i think its no good put orders 5 hours after NY and the next week we have another pivot its better wait at monday?

every situation is different. You do what's best for you
AN could open Monday lot lower...

I guess I wasting time here talking about EDGE probability etc. 🙄

Dear traders, dear Davit!

It is 6 months, since i am trading your strategy Davit. The start was a bit challenging for me. Anyway I learned here a lot of important things:

- how to look on markets with higher perspective
- what is the real EDGE
- Patience&Discipline

When you learn those things, then you will realize and start to see markets completely different. Fear is gone. I always tried to stick to 5 fundamental truths written on page 1.

Attached Image

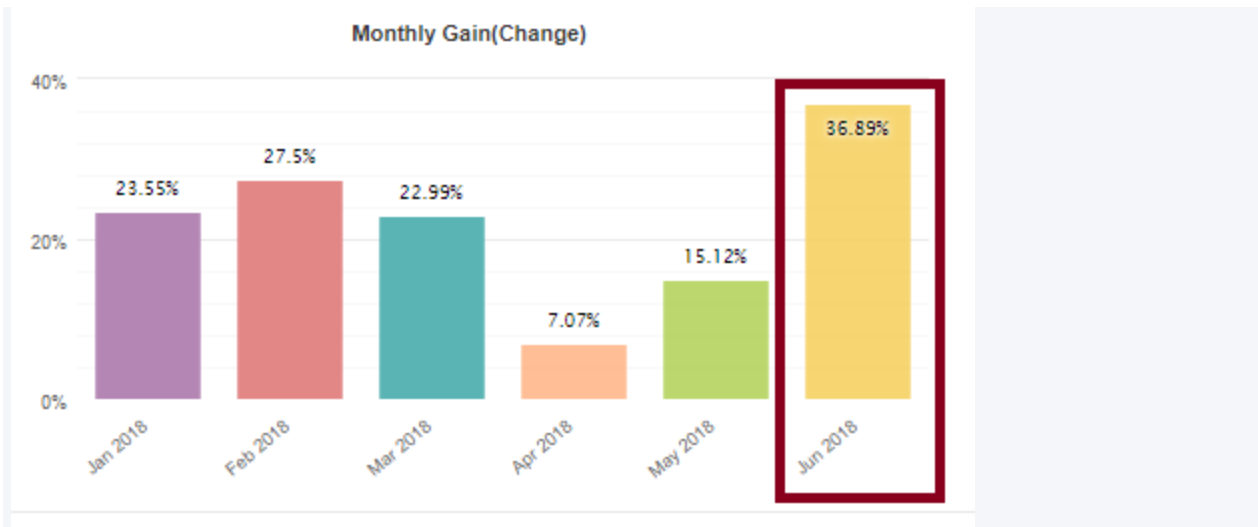

Five fundamental truths:

1. Anything can happen.
 2. You don't need to know what is going to happen next in order to make money.
 3. There is a random distribution between wins and losses for any given set of variables that define an edge.
 4. An edge is nothing more than an indication of a higher probability of one thing happening over another.
 5. Every moment in the market is unique.
- Mark Douglas

I didnt even want to post results again,as i do it monthly, but i will do it. Then in future,just qaurtarily, not to boast about smth., but just for motivation for others. That patience,discipline and following your strategy pays off.

For the present, i trade with four digit account.

Attached Image

Still, a lot of trades are running to new month.

- EA shorts - posted in near past (all closed in profit)
- GU - DD on 1/5, slowly becoming green. (patience and discipline)
- UC - in near past i posted nicely developing gartley here. I waited for more than one week for todays move. When we add overbought usd, also possibility for hike rate in july increased from 50% to 70% (Poloz speech), we have a plenty of space for south move. (chart below). Already banked a bunch here, when we hit S61.

Attached Image (click to enlarge)

In the end i want to say big thank you Davit again for sharing your knowledge, your patience and great advices here. You changed the way i trade and look on markets.

Best Regards

David

Another end of the month.

Month positive. Spike down on the graph is not a withdrawal but had to take some loss on AJ and UC. Someone said that we let losers run ... We don't, we are managing our trades just like any other trader in any other system should do.

I agree with you most of us take losses. I take losses when trade does not look legit anymore and that does not have to get predefined amount. I must believe in a trade and when I don't I bail out. Keep going you are getting better and better!

Just reading forum posts in general and one well known trader from well known thread thinks selling GU to 29 is valid "sell the rallies"

This is not correct way to look at it in my opinion. GU very well is already on a path to correction higher up and if you start selling you may just accumulate lots of DD assuming erroneously "we are in downtrend"

Every trend comes to an END! Its important to think this option as well! USD is OB cross the board and Feds are going to stay put on rates for now allowing market to settle down and have other majors catch up. Nobody wants extreme imbalances which could derail our recovery.

Furthermore same trader same thread (not hard to guess who) hardly if ever posts about fundamentals news that may effect currency.To me this is what makes this thread system dynamic! We keep up with fundamentals!

Why would you want to sell after nice green numbers and perhaps more to come
