AN may bounce then short. This really wants to go lower. NZD is severely undersold but I don't think it will stay that way.

Don't get inpatient watch PA and agleator. Look for clear bear candles. You must really work this over and over in your brain until it becomes automatic like driving a car. One glance and you know ITS not the time yet!

Good morning guys

Just want to add when I said "I will close down my running trades" meant close down when they are appropriate time in max profit and not right when I posted.

I thought this was given and understood automatically since this is trading forum. I guess not everyone understood it in context and specially my cult of haters. 😏

One in particular decided to devote more time on my every post then actually trading! 🤡

Best you can do is ignore the haters and do what works for you. If pivots don't work for you then find something that does. Its as simple as that. cheers

Most errors trading my system is not system related but trader's psychological issues number 1 not able to follow instruction.

Getting in early when the price is not in the zone 61-100 getting in without regard to what PA is doing. Not closing obvious losers early etc. These issues are beyond my system and its a behavioral problem. Sometimes bad habits carried over from other systems etc. This is not unique but very common problem in trading in general. Takes real effort to follow instruction and you must work on yourself. No system can help if you are unable to follow instruction.

Hi guys, I red the thread in 3 days and i tried it on my live account - Looks good, i watched also the DVD of Mr Douglas. My problem is with the Template and the TDI indicator! They are almost frozen! so i can not see dynamic angles or arrows on the lower right box 😞 or the dynamic currency value on the top right side.. ADR is always 75.9 %, Angle is frozen at 28° :/ sth is weird there... can any body help? Thanks in advance PS: DLL is checked {image}

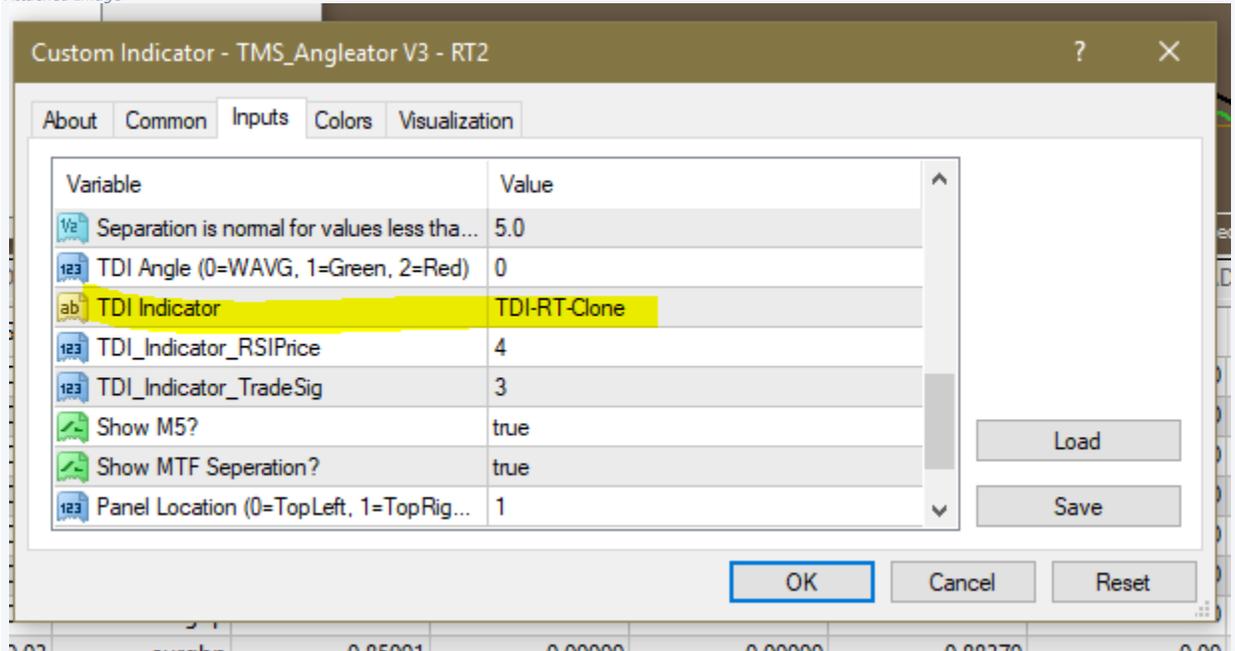

hi

Its very unlikely you read this thread entirely because had you actually read it then you would of found the solution since I posted it several times in the past.

Davit's Fundamental-Technical Posts since beginning Pivot Trading
Update: Wednesday, January 17, 2018

You are not scoring points on me.
Here is the solution however also keep in mind weekends market is closed and anglator depends on volatility to move.
make sure your anglator properties correct TDI is filled
Make sure you downloaded all the indicators in proper indicator folder and refreshed metatrader.Price number frozen also means market is closed now.That is obvious!Wait until market opens!

your entries are very poor

When you have a large drop on any pair there is normally a reaction. You should of waited for the bounce then enter if PA was in agreement.

Some knowledge of these patterns help.

C is where you want to enter

AC is setting up nicely. UJ be cautious since London and NY not open yet and market makers footprints are unknown as to Trump tax pass and latest political fiasco on Flynn
We don't know yet how market will react to these events.Huge gap on UJ which might close down but again it could shoot lot higher.
I advise wait for larger volume markets to open.

EC dropped 1 wave so if you want to sell more wait for bounce which will be C then down to D then up.

D is usually end of the swing.This is general.I never enter end of the wave tips.Always wait for bounce.This is trading 101 sell the rallies and buy the dips

and did you get out? or waited until all your profits gone

Just remember guys time is a factor in trading. Not every trades becomes profitable right away. Weekly pivots mean a week is not unreasonable to hold and I have held trades lot longer then that.

Don't be afraid of spikes. Its the way large orders get filled hitting stops triggering liquidity. You must be smarter and be patient.

NFP week and rate decision on 13th best you trade crosses none USD pairs. YOU really can't know how market makers will respond to data not until its over.

Stay safe last thing you need is burn hard earned profits in days. Plenty of opportunity on none USD pairs {quote} I'm glad you brought this up Davit. I have no problem giving a trade time to become profitable, but I have many times given it too much time to become MORE profitable and ended up giving back a good chunk before getting out. Something I am working on for sure. I think a contributing factor is that I am trading a micro account and greed definitely plays a role...holding onto a trade for 2-3 days just to close for the price of a happy meal just doesnt sit well. Lol. I can see that if I would set greed aside and just be disciplined those happy...

its a constant challenge because some trades go into a range and some trend.Hard to tell how that might unfold.Best you can do is take profits at reasonable levels.

Example AC hit WP but could not break higher so I got out because it was obvious that range is in the cards.Lot of these is having spend more screen time.Some things its the only way to learn.

I was reading famous thread and came away on this statement by OP

"FORGET ABOUT REVERSALS - that is top and bottom trading which only LOSERS trade!"

The whole statement is idiotic. Entire market is basically based on reversals and different time zones have their own mini reversals. In basic trading only way to make money is when you buy low and price goes higher and you sell price goes lower. Now think about that. Had price not reverse you would've not made money. I find it interesting that lot of traders have such narrow vision. Mr Pip Scott myself CNtrader and many others do exactly that trade reversal waves SUCCESSFULLY!

Five fundamental truths:

1. Anything can happen.
2. You don't need to know what is going to happen next in order to make money.
3. There is a random distribution between wins and losses for any given set of variables that define an edge.
4. An edge is nothing more than an indication of a higher probability of one thing happening over another.

{quote} Reversals work, the problem is that people get taught the reversals wrongly without understanding the correct ones to get into, they dont understand why its reverses, if a reversal loses steam, if it is the correct reversal to get into, THE FULL MECHANICS!!... people want the easy route..so they try and get into every reversal pattern right at the start of it, its not always their fault...they are usually taught by people who have no success themselves so how are they supposed to know how to properly trade?

there is truth in what you are saying but I would not say every reversal trader is a loser.

out AC+382

Had GDP came out green last night this would of gone far higher.Anyway we take what market gives if it drops under 9640 I may build again to 97
its already way passed ADR

Was also long AC 😊. I have given some thought to my profit taking and I am going to try targeting the next pivot level then trailing above or below "decision candles" (term borrowed from Mr. Pip). Have to make this as mechanical as possible to get rid of emotions. {image} As a side note: Davit, my daily open lines don't seem to match yours. I haven't change that particular indicator's settings from your template. Also US east coast using Oanda - any ideas?

you find EST 5pm on your chart then manually move + or - if having difficulty just change it right on 5pm EST so you know where the line should be {quote} It is hard for new traders coming in I think. If you stay here long enough, you will have to join a tribe, or be skilled negotiator. I became a skilled negotiator and then decided to join a tribe. Newbies coming in are just trying to figure out who to learn from. Right now, there is Davit, strat, and Emmanuel. None of these camps are on good terms but there are good traders in all of these camps. How do you know this Jim? Because I have a large network and can see the entire forum each day. I think everyone knows which camp I am in. But...

There are also CNtrader Scott Mrpip and more although they don't attract new traders because its difficult trading harmonics. Takes time. I know CNtrader and Mrpip are full time traders making their living on this. I learned from both. Mr pip has great lessons on PA and enjoy his analyses.

Myself I am not there full time level not with equity I have now. Still have lot to work on but thank you

What is interesting now is

Is rate hike priced in already? Judging the distance NZD AU dropped already it may be. WE already saw how GBP dropped after rate hike recently.

{quote} I agree, but Harmonic traders are like Gann traders. The first charts they post and the average newbies is running for the hills. You have kept it simple enough for the average trader to get on track and be on the right side of the market. Afterwards, they can start making projections, from your templates you are getting ready to venture into that realm.

I asked Twee to take out TDI from the title...Got tired of associations with TMS although there is no TMS there anymore {quote} Mr pip trades with no indicators just fibs and price action he is very good at it. hard for newbies to trade like that.

Japanese candles are indicators. Open close body. I hear this all the time and basically is false. Question is how many indicators you need. I find what works for me.

Others prefer just 1 indicator candles however using fib tools is also an indicator. I am not elitist when it comes to indicators use them only what you need but don't clutter the chart with 5 oscillators all saying the same thing or have 15 MA's and price hitting randomly on any of it and this person thinks that was intentional. It was not. When you have so many MA's price will hit one or 2 almost all the time.

Price moves independent of any MA that is big boys moving price are hardly looking at that as a reason but knowing where 80% retail stops are then we got different perspective.

Bigger story is earnings down. This may delay Dec rate hike to 2018
True story is that people work longer at times 2 jobs and make less money. Now we are heading higher interest rates on top of it. Feds are very sensitive to earnings my guess would be Dec no hike.

We might see UJ drop big. Watch this please

In my view living in US I can sense Economy is not improving its more like dragging until it hits the breaks. When you increase IR it hurts corporate earnings and in turn stronger USD means less competitiveness in US made goods.

Its a domino effect higher IR Strong Dollar less money in Wall Street and less investment in jobs and growth. This is the whole point why everyone else trying to make their currency cheap.

-.75 IR on CHF makes this currency not tradeable.

Its very early Sat morning in Boston still up from Fri.

Went over every one of my trades thought about things, mistakes ,successes why's etc.Here is what I deduced in essence what trading is.Controlling risk and your own greed.

My control of my risk is trading small and spacing my entries however even then its necessary at times to pull the plug and close all losers.Have done this many times this year EG UJ AN etc. and that's normal since we are dealing with probabilities.

Its important you stay focus whatever system you choose to trade 123, TMS,PASR,Naked etc.Does not matter which system you choose but once you choose it focus on it 110% and give all you have.Its keep learning, refining your understanding of a system and over time mastering it. Mr Pip mastered harmonics same as CNtrader but I am sure it took many hours of hard work. What I am saying is there is no magic system or formula in trading master whatever you choose to focus.

In ART usually if you are a painter you focus on watercolors or oils or acrylics and each medium takes years to master specially watercolor.If you jump from medium to medium without mastering any of them you would be sub par artist.Trading is an ART in my opinion and hard work.What you read in books is different in real life because in real trading you are faced with your demons.

Point of my post is focus on pivots and get real good at it.Its not the only way to trade but its logical to comprehend.

 Update: Wednesday, January 17, 2018

GM pivoteers

Just want to go over again on stop losses.

This is critical to execute and be firm on it. Every good Trader worth his salt knows taking loss is necessary at times. No healthy system can run without losses NONE. This is not martingale system when a trader keeps adding to losers hoping to recover. Its not! Never has been.

This is price capturing system using relatively broad distance to capture a price based on Pivots and swings. About 80% of timers this works but 20% fail and this happens on strong fundamentally driven events like interest rate decision on FEDs this wed and weaker political situation like in New Zealand green party government where business sentiment has been negative since election. Does not matter the reasons losses happen despite of your due diligence to do everything right..

When its obvious your trades have failed get out. This is your account and you manage it. Like I said there are 20% times when this system fails. You must get out and repeat what worked 80% of times. If you seat on losers and keep adding and adding until you get into a margin call then you are to blame. I have never ever advocating to trade recklessly like that. Manage your trades its number 1 priority capital preservation. Live to trade another day!

This is to all new traders.Read the disclaimer! minimum 2yr experience in forex. If you trade this system its on your own risk but you will be removed I am good at spotting people with no experience.

I am always suspicions of people praising me in short notice by few winning trades then vanishing and at times swim into a troll reality.

I recommend not trading USD pairs until Feds major event.If you do you are on your own risk.

Market can react many different ways.Rate increase does not mean automatic USD strength it depends how much rate is already priced in and what Feds project next year.I rather stay sidelines until dust clears.Plenty of opportunists on crosses.

Update: Wednesday, January 17, 2018

Quoting AbhijetPandi

{quote} Davit, your FOMC point noted down for myself. This news does have huge impact on the trading decision. Also as per above statement, my understanding is pair needs to be first reaching or around WP in current week and then if deviates to any zone 68 or 79...then it has more chances of reversal... In the beginning on week itself, if pair starts from any zone, then it is not considered. Or every week start, pair always starts from fresh pivot points around WP.

No that's not what I was saying. You can buy or sell below and above WP from the "zone" once it reaches WP often either it stalls reverses or breaks and continues. WP is basically an equilibrium and I often don't trade from it because it can go either direction.

good example of CAD not able to break WP and this chart to me is automatic no trade. Price is in limbo area.

Often inexperienced new traders or even experienced bad traders get in close to or on WP not even knowing (mostly trading MA systems) and get whip saw and accumulate losses. Beauty of this system is it allows clarity to avoid such trades.

Keep it simple take trades only in the Zone and you will be fine.

Hi. I think i have a clear edge with this system
I started with a 305$ real account on 21th november and now it is at 392$ for almost a 30% gain in less than a month.
See detailed statement below.
Thank you Davit!

Excellent job Aqila 🙌🍷👍

I like that you had no issues taking losses and continuing hammering system trades to allow Edge to develop.

Well done!

From Psycho-Cybernetics
read the book!

1) Your Self-Image...

Your self-image, how you see and feel about yourself, can be changed at any time regardless of your age. This begins with developing awareness around your thoughts. It's a process of retraining (and expanding) your mind. As you do this refuse to focus on (or mention) any negative statement about yourself. It's the negative statements that continue to belittle your self-image. While doing this, turn your back on the failures of the past. Then concentrate on your previous successes as you bring them into the present moment. At first this requires a conscious effort but in time becomes a mental habit. This aids with replacing the negative thoughts with a newer and greater self-image.

2) Success Mechanism...

You have a success mechanism within you that will steer your mind to a productive goal if you allow it. Think back when you were a child learning a new task. Did you recall how many times you tried before succeeding? You continued to repeat and practice until you were able to do the thing you sought out to do. As an adult its no different. It's like having a small recorder in your brain that continues to repeat what you play, so you must become conscious of what you are playing. This requires daily observation. Once you are aware of what you are playing about yourself you can make the effort to change it. Your subconscious mind does what it is directed to do, and always knows, it only needs to be directed in a way that brings you success and happiness.

3) Your Imagination...

You are the product of your imagination and you can use it either constructively, or destructively. If you think well of yourself and have that confidence in yourself you will succeed. If you think in negative terms you will fail – unless you change your self-image. Everything depends upon your concept of yourself. Often this is impacted by past experiences, teachers, parents or other figures in your life. This continues to chip away at your confidence and triggers self doubt. However, this can all be changed. You start the process by focusing only on your successes while shifting your perception around the fears of failure. Understand that a mistake doesn't make a failure, for success is learning how to rise above failure. An important note here is that it is the opinion of yourself that counts, nothing else. Knowing this, you can learn how to use your imagination constructively to change your self-image, by visualizing yourself as you desire to be on a continual basis.

4) Creative Thought and Action...

Change your mind to think and act creatively. You learn to reach your goal by exercising your success mechanism daily and refusing to be sidetracked by negative feelings. You enhance this by focusing only on your accomplishments of the past while remaining in the present. In doing this you are no longer sidetracked by negative feelings or past stories. Keep your environment pure. If the situation in present defies a solution, then sleep ON it – not WITH it. In doing that you commit your success mechanism to work subconsciously while you sleep. You initiate this by focusing on the problem prior to sleep knowing the solution will be provided. Repeat this until it becomes clear and you will create programs that automatically work for you while you sleep, allowing you to wake with the solutions.

5) The Art of Relaxation...

Learn how to relax your mind and your body by connecting to yourself. When the mind is in a relaxed state its more receptive. This makes it easier to program success in your subconscious mind just like you would program a computer. To begin the process of relaxation you start with forgiveness, that is forgiveness of yourself and others. Then see yourself as a person of great confidence, independent of circumstances or things. Cease to compare yourself to others. Only compare you to you, that is your present self to your past self and you will see your growth and progress which feeds your confidence. It is equally important to release all chronic frustration. Everyone has frustration during the day, but chronic frustration is due to the problems of yesterday that you continue and carry with you like a pack of weights on your back. These repetitive past feelings need to be released and this is done by living fully in the present. Begin your days with a few minutes of silence every day as you sit with yourself and observe. This will help you release the painful emotions of the past for healing and aid with relaxing the mind and body for dissolving anxiety.

Davit's Fundamental-Technical Posts since beginning Pivot Trading

Update: Wednesday, January 17, 2018

6) The Power of Beliefs...

Your beliefs can either be true or false, but if you believe them you will act that part. Beliefs become habits and habits are nothing more than self-hypnosis. So it's important to learn how to de-hyptonize yourself from those negative beliefs. Begin this process by focusing ONLY on your success while remaining in the present moment. This is a mental exercise that consists of bringing your success from all past experiences into the present moment. Then create a clear picture on how you wish to see yourself and focus on that daily. As you continue you will find your opinion of yourself change as your self-image expands and your confidence increases.

7) Quest for Happiness...

Happiness is a habit, and its just as easy to be happy as it is to be unhappy. It is simply a cycle of thoughts that increases through love and self-acceptance. This begins with the understanding that happiness belongs to you. Happiness is an inward state of being that is independent upon circumstances, people, or things. Make it a conscious effort to focus on your successes while incorporating self-compliments. Expand on your happiness with love for yourself and others. Repeat these mental exercises daily until they become mental habits. As your self-image increases you will find a greater love within yourself which feeds your inner state of joy.

8) Success Mechanism Phases...

Here are the phases of the success mechanism that allow your self-image to grow as tall as you want to be. Branched out from the word success, return to each of these aspects as often as possible.

Sense of Direction, your goals

Understanding of your needs and others

Courage

Compassion

Esteem, self-respect

Self-Acceptance, you are somebody regardless of your mistakes

Self-Confidence

9) Self-Image Failure Mechanism...

Here are the aspects of the failure mechanism which scar your self image. Through this awareness you can learn how to avoid future scarring of your self-image by making a conscious effort to release these.

Frustration

Aggressiveness

Insecurity

Loneliness

Uncertainty

Resentment

Emptiness

10) Releasing Emotional Scaring...

Remember that you are too big to be threatened. By facing your fears safely in your imagination you will free yourself from them. Learn how to become self-reliant as it will help you coach yourself through the process. Take the time to focus on your mind and body as you relax into your being. Learn to let go of the past, releasing all emotional scaring so you no longer carry the old baggage with you into the present. Make it a conscious effort to apply these techniques daily under a relaxed state of mind and you will see your self-image grow and expand.

11) Managing Stress...

Learn how to stand up to stress through effective use of your imagination. You do this by changing every crisis into an opportunity, by shifting how you think about it as you change your approach and action. What you focus on expands. By shifting your focus you can learn how to transform the stress into motivation. Your mind will guide you if you allow it and this is greatly enhanced through meditation and visualization.

12) Attention and Focus...

You can change your luck by refusing to allow your negative feelings impact your self-image. You do this by concentrating on the confidence of the past as you bring that into the present moment whenever a negative feeling arises. You embrace and release the negative feelings, while changing your point of focus. In doing this the old mental habits transform into positive mental habits that work for you. You become a success when you learn to be yourself. Select realistic goals to reach fulfillment and exercise your creative success mechanism daily to achieve them. Combine thought with creative performance and action as you train yourself to remain present with everything you do.

Just want to remind everyone that not every trade you place becomes profitable right away. Often people forget time factor. Sometimes it can take a week or more. Doesn't mean you were wrong market just does what it does.

Patience in trading is valuable. If you find yourself becoming impatient then walk away and do some house chore or anything else to distract you from trading.

Example my AC and NC trades. Might hold these to next week if necessary and that's perfectly normal. This is not day trading system when you close everything end of the day.

Just want to remind everyone that not every trade you place becomes profitable right away. Often people forget time factor. Sometimes it can take a week or more. Doesn't mean you were wrong market just does what it does.

Patience in trading is valuable. If you find yourself becoming impatient then walk away and do some house chore or anything else to distract you from trading.

Example my AC and NC trades. Might hold these to next week if necessary and that's perfectly normal. This is not day trading system when you close everything end of the day.

Every accomplishment starts with the decision to try

Yep, that is the post I was thinking of. Now, there are no more excuses. This thread shows when to enter, when to exit, and how much to risk per trade. Many examples have been posted. Many traders have posted profit. Davit has gone from a struggling trader to being the best trader on FF. This is not flattery. I watched it personally. If anyone comes to this thread and reads this post, go back to post one before posting your first chart. The market will slow down for the students who are serious. Not a dime has been charged. No insinuations of private "members only" threads. Just hard work and sharing. Most importantly, when it was time for Davit to strike out on his own, he did not defile the memory of the people he learned from. Nor did lastingwell, or lisat, or likica...etc. Some have accused this man of photoshop. This why it is pointless sometimes to post equity curves. There is no winning that game. Good traders get accused of lying. But Davit tried to be transparent. No secrets. He did not invent new names for old concepts. Like Big E, he showed the entire process of his evolution. I hope that people understand what this means. The path to financial freedom is not easy, but there are paths that have been laid with honesty. Likica and Davit are two legacies of what Big E was trying to do. They had enough respect to leave the nest and build their own legacies. It is shameful that others do not feel the same way.

Thank you Jim that was very generous. I am sure there are lot better traders here on FF and I still have lot to learn.

I shared what works for me however it may not work for everyone.

One must match trading style with his/her personality much like in ART if one likes to paint still life then may not like figure painting when challenges are far more complex. Trade system that fits your character. Best advise I can give.

I recently made a post about avoiding trading on or close to WP and take a look at UC folks who were short at WP are getting slaughtered
In my opinion these are little things you learn by experience that one rarely finds in books.
What happens to lot of traders who trade MA's and dashboards which are MA based and think great we have red red red red on most TF and lets sell then get whipsaw separated from their cash.
Be smart follow my advise.On my 1st page I stated its all about price location.Unlearn everything you know about MA's start thinking in terms of location.

{quote} I know it is dangerous to post in here, cause David will likely block me... But I cannot stop thinking of Your results. It cannot be luck driven. Too many consecutive winners! 124. And 1 loser? That is not luck! That is a skill! 🏆 And David's screenshots as well? Fantastic trading skills! 🙌 I cant control myself. I have to post my amazement! Sorry! 😊 Just outstanding! Super timing! That has to be timing. Proper timing entries! FANTASTICO! 🤖

Hi MZ

I don't ban people without reason.

Let me explain something. We trade in batches of trades as 1 group example I may have 15 entries on AN long and once all are cleared and in decent profit I close them all. Record will show 15 winning trades in a row but in actuality its 1batch. So if you close 4-5 batches in profit then I can see 124 consecutive wins. I had months when I went zero loss.

Timing is relative again imagine a cat we try to hit from ears to the tail. All that is valid entry.

GM guys sat morning here in Boston. Love morning when my mind is calm and relaxed and love the silence.

Just a reminder that each weekend go over the calander and mark key dates and do this every week religiously until it becomes a habit. This is important because when you do this often you start noticing how market makers position their orders. They look ahead

We have DEC 18 Monetary Policy Meeting Minutes AUD

I bought lots of AUD against NZD last Friday and I anticipate minutes would be bullish hence feel confident on my AN longs. Might buy AU longs as well. Notice this analyses has nothing to do with pivots or any technical charts this is just on fundamentals how price may move based on my analyses of calendar events.

Weds NZD Q/Q GDP-After election business confidence is low on NZD hence this might print red and I most likely will hold my AN longs NU may drop significantly and might be good opportunity to buy lower level.

Weds JPY Monetary Policy Statement- neutral nothing new here. BOJ Policy Rate-same BOJ Press Conference-don't expect much here most likely range trading.

Thurs huge day for CAD-CPI m/m Core Retail Sales m/m

If green this will do wonders for NC and AC shorts. Retail may print green since its holiday season people shop.

Thurs USD Final GDP q/q

This is a mover if comes out green all majors most likely will lose against USD weakest longer drop. Holiday on the corner this is last major news event on USD and market makers may spike all majors.

My philosophy is when there is carnage look for opportunity don't be afraid.

After 30min of this you feel you have a grasp what's coming up and that adds confidence on your trading decisions.

Since we know USD GDP is Thurs would you sell USD weds? Not likely correct? just going over the calendar you start seeing which scenarios you should avoid. Don't sell USD correct? Possible buy AUD...

Idea doing this you start seeing how market shifts and often it shifts around the calendar.

This is the difference how I trade I don't blindly only look at the charts.

Sometimes people erroneously assume I do mostly counter trades.

Not exactly lots of my trades are with bigger trend direction.

AN monthly-higher highs Bullish

Weekly-rejected weekly candle long tail and price stabilized at support orange box

Daily-clearly signs that bears are getting exhausted and buyers are getting in the market.

On fundamentals NZD after election got weaker and I don't see fundamentally NZD gaining on AUD below 900 and most likely scenario is range trading above 900-1000 in 2018

Goes without saying anything can happen.

So am I counter trading? Not when you look at the bigger trend.

Harmonic pattern=might develop typical AB=CD scenario

GM guys

The more I am trading this system more I start seeing nuisances and frankly I can't improve it hence why nothing has been changed since I started it.

UJ beautiful bounce from S61 to the T notice TDI flattening up before S61 despite of price dropping ...

Example I just posted which is inline with diversion post 13900 and looking at the same chart at anagator without any price and just tip of the TDI I can tell the move is exhausted for the Bull. Time to get out.

Only green h4 and lower TF either flat or red and daily red TDI pointing down. Enough signal to know north is low probability direction.

looking at this small part without price chart same north low probability trade continuation

Not every bounce goes back to WP or higher. In a downtrend/uptrend we may have shorter bounces.
 Crap pic from EC and looking at the chart we may have typical AB=CD next week

Specially in context of

"Thurs huge day for CAD-CPI m/m Core Retail Sales m/m

MM could spike it if both print green this will go far on all CAD pairs perhaps less on UC but crosses more

Thanks zorndyke, that made it very clear!! A nice trading style, no question. For me it would be very hard to manage my trades that way but that's the nice part about trading. A lots of good different ways out there to make money at the markets...

Once you get taken out of the market numerous times then you start getting smarter.Hard SL is perhaps most misunderstood aspect of trading.Your broker loves SL's...think why is that. Placing anything less then 50pipSL on H1-D chart is most likely will be taken out.

If you are a scalper then different picture.I actually sleep very peacefully never worried about my trades.Try reducing your lot size.

Something that is critical to grasp.

Lots of USD pairs are in range. Most likely until Thurs final GDP

Have reasonable DD on NU but waiting lower to build up

I often make money even on dd on same pair

Technique I use close profitable positions that are in good profits by placing SL then price bounce higher against you reload price drops take profit again cycle repeating until breaks south like it did on EA

Often your take profits becomes greater then original DD on same pair. This is nothing new common recovery technique used by many traders

Some quicky on UC

+106

Why I got out? Cad major data is on Thurs and until then I think USD bulls control until final GDP so my selling USD are basically quick trades.

R38 could stop this further decline even though its only 106 points however my lot sizes are larger then normal.

Note these are just points not pips. Actually gains are measured in dollars %.

may go back up to 29 and then might be worth selling since I think range is more likely until Thurs.

Yes, I agree. Slight difference would be no problem. I did read the first post and Davit says that we should adjust the pivots until we are close to his ones. So that's only what I am trying to do. I am able to adjust Davits indicator as close as 0,5 pips to his pivots. Unfortunately I can't adjust the other ones and they are almost 10 pips away but if that is still ok then I am fine with it... Didn't want to obsess over the differences just wanted to be on the same page as you guys...

10 pips or less you are fine.Its a zone anyway

I've taken this one.... but as always exit is a nonsense....i've to wait wait wait... Thanks for effort and please let 's give us your precious suggests... ps i've asked before... but why so many orders instead one biggest? Thanks Regards {image}

1st page

Swings

Each Swing investment $500 (example yours could be anything)

Swing is taken as loss once -$500 is reached

There are no exceptions.No running red beyond $500

Orders broken down into mini lots that satisfies each swing consist of 10-15 trades

My budget for this is 2-3% of account risk say $500 for example.I then enter trades on mini lots and as long as my 500 is not consumed on DD and I am still confident of my trade I stay on it.I may choose to get out early but most times my SL is predetermined.This allows me to cast a wider net. So my 10mini lots can cover 50pip distance hence capture better RR

There is advantage to trade this way.Should PA go against you and you no longer like the trade you can get out by fraction of lot invested hence your loss is minimal instead of traditional 1 trade 1lot per trade when if wrong loss is substantially higher.

Numbers posted are for examples only

Decide if you want to be spearfishing or net fishing

Now think challenge of being accurate in spearfishing and the stress that goes along with it.

Since i use your system David in combination with the Zup-indicator is my account growth with 97%! This is the best system ever! I have years many indicators used with not succes! But now i'm a very happy person with not stress and a huge profit! Today i closed all my Cad trades with green pips and it's down for 2017 See you all back in 2018 Merry Christmas and a fantastic 2018!

Hi Maverick

I am glad it worked out for you. There are literally dozens of account gains on this thread by other traders using my system and ignore the idiots and carry on.

Happy new year and profitable 2018! 🎄💰🎹

Thank you Bergax

I have been offered several times in PM's to manage other people's money and I don't think I am ready yet. Stress of being responsible for others money is something I am not ready to tackle.

Could be a possibility in the future but not now.

not a good idea. In this system we don't buy at resistance specially in the zone

You have NO edge or EDGE severely diminished

Better trade was continuing selling NC idea AB=CD or 123 formation typical of correction. What I often do get out and get in essentially double dipping same trade as though I was still in it.

Basically maximizing $$

{quote} Okay, do I get it right, you would add if already in but would not build long at this point where it is now? But if ever then you would look for counter trend trade on EU atm? Would wait for R100 which obviously would be better point for shorts?

Correct I would not buy anything if Price is at R61-100 or sell at S61-100

We trade swings! When price reaches 61-100 often its ADR is exhausted and you are TAIL end of the move basically a late comer which brokers love.

Please read page 1 carefully

Think swings look at any pair and notice the turning points and you'll get that aha moment.

And why would you not take a obvious short on NC where just about every TF is red and price has lots of room to reach lower pivots.

{quote} Hi Davit. Just wondering if you forgot to refresh your pivots for NCAD. Weekly pivot should be around the current price 8929, which is acting as support for the moment. Cheers and great trading!

Thank you friend!

You are correct I checked here

<https://www.actionforex.com/markets/...i-pivot-points>

Problem is all my other pairs are within 5pips on the mark except NC. Could be how last weeks candle closed. I check with other pivot indicators same. I think this is a fluke. It makes sense how price just does not want to break WP at 8929-20 zone. I am patient by end of the day I anticipate 89 or below it

Hi Davit, I am very seldom to post here as i scare you remove me from here, i am actually all the way follow your posts and read through and try to understand your strategy well, all though i have 3yrs experience on forex but still feel a lot of things to learn n understanding, below i attached two TF (1H n 4H) to explain me why i enter short on three times and seek your valuable comments on this trade, thanks for your comments but please do not remove me from here. my first trade on short CHF/JPY based on 1H chart, at that time PA reach R38-114.404...

For someone who claims to follow this thread and my posts you obviously skipped reading 1st page in bold orange perhaps even casually read rest of it. I can't help you with charts you posted. You have 3yrs experience in forex and yet you can't follow simple instructions. When you can post charts with my template and indicators then might discuss it.

well its all down to experience of all the years and the mistakes u have learnt along the way to make a small account bigger , it is not pure luck, even with the gains i have taken small losses . the fun is not to be greedy but take high probability trades and give them sufficient time to ripen. my posting here is not to boast but show the power of high probability trades taken with small lots . this strategy here is a killer one and has been used for ages unknown to beat the markets. {quote}

I am glad you brought this up.

Well said not everyone here understands what that means. There is a valid drawdown and there is a loss that clearly you were wrong. Both not the same.

{quote} How do we distinguish between the two? Use the fixed dollar loss as exit? Thanks

Location of price.

Example UJ its been ranging since 2016. Pull up a chart and look at the weekly. Lets say you are in red now but your shorts at these levels more likely then not to drop again lower Trump polices range factors ext. No reason to take the loss because you are in top of the range perhaps not extreme top but nevertheless high. This is kind of DD I am willing to hold.

Now loss trade example you were shorting AN at 600 then price went 700 then 800 no real retracement then 900 now you are obviously against the trend and fundamentals specially after NZD election. I would of got out at 700 even less. You have to take quality trades and if you follow system rules even quality loss is ok because given 100 exact trades you will have majority winners. Your acceptable DD is your choice however there are trades like I just brought up worth killing quicker

I try to trade with fundamentals most of the times. Pivots provide platform for great entries rest I let market do its thing.

You notice my emphasis to go over calendar every weekend. No thread here at FF that I am aware of recommend this including TMS as though it does not exist. Calendar events effect price!!!!Its surprising to me how little people take note of it.

It effects trading tremendously. As aspiring professional traders you must know your environment every week!

You welcome

Just so you know your EJ longs are not part of this system! I would never buy anything at 78R

I have army of haters assume everyone posts here trade my system fully. Not the case. You are clearly not following my system rules.

You are top of the range basically tail end late comer of the wave which you missed. Had you bought EJ at S78 S61 S38 that would of been a different story.

happy holidays. Don't take personally I just want people to be clear. Worst thing can happen that you actually succeed making little money doing what You did but that hard wires bad trading habits and next time will smash your face on the pavement hard that will leave deep scars.

Very busy day for me.Let me ask you

Did you notice when the thread started? Please look.You know how many trades I have taken? thousands! That's massive sample size

So if something didn't work would I continued? Not correct? nobody likes losing money.

You have some things confused.This thread is not about TDI its about trading pivots and TDI is in supportive role.

Before going any further how many trades have you taken using this system-My guess is ZERO hence you have no experience to have an opinion about something you know nothing about.Think how stupid that sounds.There are people who have opinions on books they never read....sadly true.

I have been doing some research and credence of this system on higher tfs for about 9 months now and I have a finding to share, hopefully in the spirit of the season you will be interested in taking up the challenge for the benefit of those interested in this thread. observed that the same principle of Davit Pivots used on weekly can be applied profitably to quarters what i did was that i manually calculate the Davit fibs at the end...

Hi friend you are wrong on that.Quarter is too big TF and lot can happen in 3months time.It may look convincing on past data but not applicable in real trading when we have Central Banks policies,heads, GPA ,CPI's,NFP coming up and any of these can change trend in a heartbeat or at least swings which could run hundreds of pips opposite.

Try not deviate this ironically happens to almost all threads.

This system is going to be more profitable more robust in 2018
Its evolutionary process for me learning from mistakes refining etc.Some things I will be going over in 2018.

Meantime please read

Why Look For Pivot Points

"Whenever I have had the patience to wait for the market to arrive at what I call a 'Pivotal Point' before I started to trade; I have always made money in my operations." – Livermore

One of my hero traders all time. Read the article. He basically is father of pivot trading in my opinion.

<http://www.donttalkaboutyourstocks.c...pivotal-point/>

"Livermore also points out that he never made money on a trade if he didn't get in near the very beginning of a major move"

You heard this here At FF never pick tops or bottoms....I respectfully disagree my system does exactly that successfully. Top can be swing top and bottom swing low. Move does not have to be massive. How many swing tops bottoms on AC since Sept? Look! How much did you profit?

Jesse Livermore blew his brains out leaving a suicide note proclaiming himself a "failure" after earning and losing 100's of millions of dollars and having an estimated net worth of "only $5 Million" (in 1940 dollars) at the time of his brain exposure..all things in moderation/perspective...🕶️🕶️🕶️

I don't think your comment is appropriate. JL suffered from mental depression and this days its treated with drugs but back then nothing of that kind unless you wanted your brain to be fried with electric shocks..

When I look at great Artists like Van Gogh,Mark Rothko,Arshile Gorky, Jean-Michel Basquiat,John Minton to name some I don't look at their work from perspective that they committed suicide.That would be too shallow pedestrian way to look at their accomplishments.I look at their WORK and what I can learn from their artistic output.

We live in a age when people are obsessed with tragedy and shock value of tragic but often what matters gets buried deep.

I suggest you read his book "REMINISCENCES OF A STOCK OPERATOR" to understand what brilliant person JL was.Question should be asked what can you learn from Jesse Livermore.

You have 97 posts at FF with only 1 image even that its not a chart!Have history of subscribing and unsubscribing from multiple threads in short time.

General theme I get you don't have focus.

Hi Steve

I am honored to have you post here. Yes I noticed this for years and in my trading I do pay attention to 00 and 5 numbers. I trade fib pivots because of my love of harmonics and how price reacts to fibs.

I am now kind of hard wired about fibs and in particular about fib pivots. I have traded thousands of trades that my enthusiasm has solid backing history.

There are small minority of traders who are focused on fibs.

Scott, CNtrader, Mr Pip and myself here that I am aware of.

Right now personally its about refining my entries and exits and no longer about the methodology.

regards

{quote} I have studied this as well. What I found is that all whole and half numbers are not created equally. What pivots do is highlight which of these numbers will be more relevant. So a BRN at the weekly pivot will not have the stopping power that a BRN between the 61 and 78 zones. The main reason is that when prices comes into these zones there has been a significant move and there is likely to be exhaustion present. This is what pivot trading does in my view. It finds areas of exhaustion where price is likely to reverse. So if using whole and...

Just for educational reasons well known trader advises not to trade "consolidation" which is pretty decent distance 140pips. This was exact trade I and many of us took with nice gains $$$ AN long and was very nicely payed out. Different philosophy different approach.

<https://www.forexfactory.com/showthread.php?p=10602876>
post 84.497

Core concept about this thread is trading swings!in key pivot zones.When we take a trade in the zone and PA agrees then we don't care if its weekly consolidation or not because that very trade could become break out trade even greater gains however squeezing 50-100pip distance from a trade is valid respectable gain and you repeat this day in and out watch your account grow.

I love rangy pairs specially "consolidation" conditions because that's when one can get in and get out wait for dips or rallies and repeat.In my approach range should not be feared but welcomed because we are not trading trends but swings.Think swing,waves and if you trade with weekly and monthly candle direction then any breakout is along bigger trend so you are by default trend trading.

I hope this makes sense to you guys.

Same well known trader

"Yesterday the market stalled at BRN136.00 and I did something naughty. Instead of sell with my usual standard lot, I open many small mini-lot trades.

Let's see if market will drop to the next BRN 135.00 and I can boast I make 1,000 pips in a 100pips move from 136 to 135. 😂

I could have traded micro lots and then make 10,000pips... 🤑 lots of pips but the money is the same as my standard lot trades.
What is the edge in trading small lots? NONE! Just some fun to make lots of pips what rookie trader enjoys."

His exact words! 😞 None no advantage!Someone with 30yrs experience!
<https://www.forexfactory.com/showthread.php?p=9126184>

Please everyone read my 1st page!!Why I trade smaller multiple lots.

I stated repeatedly my gains are measured in real dollar % what you see at the bottom of the chart counting pips is obviously not true gain and that is OBVIOUS!

Lets look at this logically since I love logic.

Forex is a fluid environment price moving almost all the time.Its seldom that you place a trade and goes into profit right away most times it does not.

Lets say you place 1 standard lot and price goes against you 50pips that's -500

Same scenario had you divided your 1 standard lot in quarters and after placing your trade 1/4 size realizing this thing is not going right then you hold rest of the orders and get out exactly same time your loss is -125 NOT -500

Which is smarter trading.Who has better advantage.You be the judge!There is lot more far more advantage trading small and not care to get in right now.

Reinforcing what not to trade.

Price consolidating and all TF flat anglator. Price at WP. This should take about 5seconds to see and decision is firm no trade.
Don't try to guess the direction. Wait until price is in the zone. Look for another pair.

This seems odd with an isolated uptrend for 15 min on M15 TF at exactly 1700 EST AO. Is this artificial widening of the spread to clear SLs of Retailers (us):

I checked my chart no spike on mine I have Oanda that's massive. You must have crooks as brokers...I am guessing. Who is your broker?

David, that is my Oanda platform in the USA EST Zone (New York, Atlanta). I guess you have different server data in Canada home of Oanda. This is not the first time...I did see this with NU at Friday Closing 1700 EST a few weeks ago where it jumped my TP. And, this also happened on another platform on Tway in the AJ and EJ.

A few more Oanda in USA:

I believe this is how the "House always wins" in the end and different brokers pick different pairs to do the MM thing to Retailers (us) and to wish us Happy Holidays...they are not on vacation and maybe all USA is targeted for this because of idiot leader we have !

But I agree with you to have very wide SL or none at all, but there is still loss of any TP you may have, But, not a problem if you do not have any hard TP either as done here and closing after a great profit !

But, my concern is possibly a server difference between Canada and USA.

I have NY Oanda. I have no spikes

Anyway without sounding like a parrot don't place hard SL. You'll be taken out. Its conceivable that traders who place hard SL get spikes for obvious reasons. Every broker most part runs their own in house software to trigger this. That could be tailored to specific traders. I am just speculating this and I don't think I am far off.

Davit, Are you in Canada? If so, there is obviously a different Server for the USA. I hope I am wrong, but will be contacting them in the morning at 8:00 EST. This concerns me as I am going live in a day or two. I just thought that it may be their Demo server is different and not in-house...who knows? That would not be logical either to attract customers.

Bars in MT4 are drawn by the "Bid" price, not by the "Ask" price. So this is not "Spread widening", but the Bid price was at that level for a moment. For what reason ever. Could be a data-error. Is this spike also visible on other Timeframes? You can try and close MT4, delete the AUDNZD_15 history file from the %appdata%\MetaQuotes\<TerminalId>\history\<Server> folder and restart MT4. It will re-download the history.

Here is the 3rd Broker I am testing on a Demo platform that does not show this phenomena. But it does show the typical Friday Close spike that most Brokers use to close their books and avoiding loss by increasing their spread suddenly. I guess this is why many traders avoid Friday trading - but, this wham-effect can happen at any opening market or News-induced effect, and a reason why some traders use smaller TF to catch this spiking and riding the waves at those times:

I guess for me in the EST Southeastern USA (Atlanta), I will have to consider this last broker for obvious reasons.

Lastly, if you are in Boston USA, it must be the Server feeding the Southeast here or the Brokers' Demo feed with the first two. Who knows.

Well all the best Davit and thank you for your input - as always! Happy Holidays and Happy New Year to you and the rest of the Pivoters here !

Hey Davit et al,

Thank you all for your input. I did try to download and refreshed my Oanda data for AN starting at the lowest TF of M1 to get the best accuracy as suggested. There was still the spike. However, when I tried to go to my empty live account, I did get the correct non-spike for AS YOU ALL.

With downloading data to refresh the Demo, there is a warning that you need to accept that the Demo data is not necessarily the same as their Server data. I think I will stick with Oanda as before to mirror Davit's thread to be in sink with the rest of you and the advantage of EST.

I belong to Oanda as well for the last dozen year. Only had one account because I only needed one. You cannot blow up with Oanda. Their algorithm allows you to trade prudently, and stay alive until you learn to do so. So for this thread and method I would fully endorse them. You will not get silly leverage levels, but if you can trade, you don't need them. Davit's method is a refinement and mastery of BWILC. A good read if you want to really get into the technical philosophy behind this method.

Edit: YOU DO NOT NEED THE COURSE. Davit has already given it to you in a way that works for these markets. If you do read the book you will understand the power of ranges, and exhaustion, etc.

This is no criticism just observation.

If you can't see price decline by looking at 5 close candles and NEED 3 different MA's for that then you need to work on your price action skills.

<https://www.forexfactory.com/showthr...691864&page=14>

Depending on MA is like depending on crutches to walk. You need to grow out of them.

Most valuable part about the thread is not about MA's but market cycle he talks about and that fits well with harmonics and Elliot Wave theory.

Just for gaining insight. 24MA on my template. R61 to 24MA over 100pips. Efficient? think not.

Hi Ronny I hope you feel better!

I am not looking for more subscribers but more interested about people who take trading seriously and willing to commit and learn. There are always drifters posting few shots here then go to next thing and next thing and cycle continues. Not interested about them. regards

Davit's Fundamental-Technical Posts since beginning Pivot Trading Update: Wednesday, January 17, 2018

When you trade forex 5yrs or more certain things become intuitive. This is after thousands of hours of screen time. Combine your knowledge of trend PA and general idea where to buy or sell (pivot system clear on this). Example buying dips and selling rallies. Have done this ton this year. Get in collect $$ wait for dips or rallies repeat. Its maximizing profits and keeping a pair in focus.

Hi W

I don't know the future. My trades are based on my system and its based on sample size. Not every trade becomes a winner but out of 100 trades I can hit 70-80 winners. That's my experience others may have higher or lower.

Remember right now market is very thin hence may not reflect true market conditions. My vision is on page 1 regards

Watching crude this should drop back to 55
all Cad pairs should get weakened once this starts dropping fast.Its not sustainable on crude oversupply and less demand on oil keeps it at about 55

Can someone post crude oil chart with my pivots? That would be great. 👍

What happened to cad?

nothing push take profit price drops then more buyers get in push higher price drop then more buyers etc what's important that drop does not engulf the previous bull candle.

 {quote} 200 pip loss from entry AJ S at 86 after rejecting WR61. {image}

Hi pgr45za,

Apparently, it is not usually wise to enter near the WP area and only in the safer R61-100 Zones instead with when ADR turns Red suggesting being OB. I am now taking a short with a soft SL of 300 Pips that is above the R200 level that I can risk (10-20% of Balance). I only have a tiny live account, but can cover 0.02 Lots short single trade...very humble trade as a novice here despite a current uptrend as I believe I do have "The Edge" and without "Fear" of loss, while waiting for the PA to come to me for some 30 Pips as a TP. For example:

Just to be crystal clear, I entered upon a rejection of the green dotted line (WR61) 2 weeks ago.

TDI was good to go.

Davit, I have almost the same USDCAD position as you (opened near 1.2645) from yesterday. Now we have - 60 pips..Please, your thoughts about it. I thought I've just caught the overall sense of this system but I didn't understand the "Risk". How do we control it when we are ready to enter in the position ?

You are an interesting person.You place a trade and you don't understand the risk.Does not matter any system every trade carries risk and that's why its called speculating.

My positions are still open and its not 1st time I find myself here.If I think my trades are not valid anymore I will scale out of positions by -25% loss then wait to see if PA changes to my favor if yes then give it a time.

Understand its low liquidity time now and market behavior is severely distorted.Stop hunts are common in holiday.I would hang on until normal conditions return however its your account and I am NOT going to manage your trades.

Thank you for the explanation of your view. As for the mine understanding the risk - I've just meant the "Risk chapter" of your system and I didn't find it. I know the risk limit of my own account.

I'm used to understanding of the risk WHEN I open the position. The risk of exactly that position, not risk of my account. Don't wanna to assess my chances after the market went against me.

Hope you understand me in right way, I didn't copy your CAD trade, just wanted to hear your opinion.

Many Thanks.

Hi guys I finished Dec one of my best trading month perhaps my highest gain this year.
Don't have all the stats for the year yet. MT4 updated several times and my data goes back 3months only so have to go through it manually. I am pleased overall anyway average hit 10% or more a month except August which was minor red.

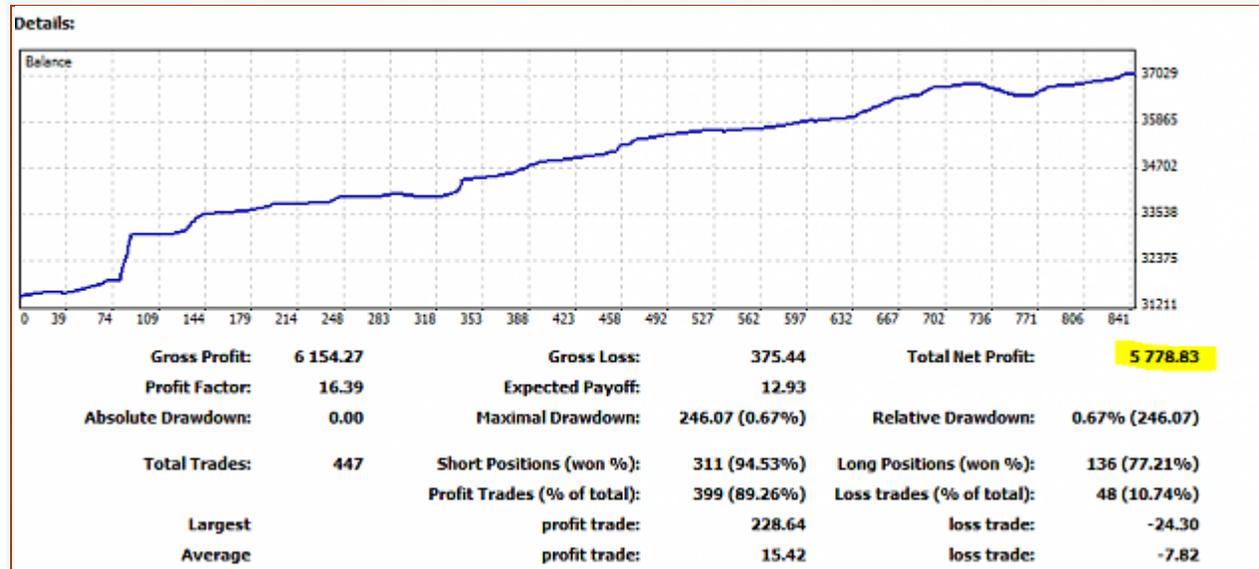

Have reasonable DD which I am comfortable to carry over 2018 since I believe positions are still valid

Happy New year and I 'll see you guys next year.

I read constantly in general what traders post and sometimes take mental notes and sometimes I get that Really?

I read often "price rejected 34EMA (insert any MA) then went down" No price did not notice 34EMA or any EMA. Market makers who have funds to push price are not placing their orders watching MA's Not happening in real world. The idea of price "rejected" by MA is absurd. Price just happened to hit that MA! Throw in 10 MA's chances are price will hit one of them but means nothing. To understand how price moves please watch MD video again on price

Hi guys I finished Dec one of my best trading month perhaps my highest gain this year.

Don't have all the stats for the year yet. MT4 updated several times and my data goes back 3months only so have to go through it manually. I am pleased overall anyway average hit 10% or more a month except August which was minor red.

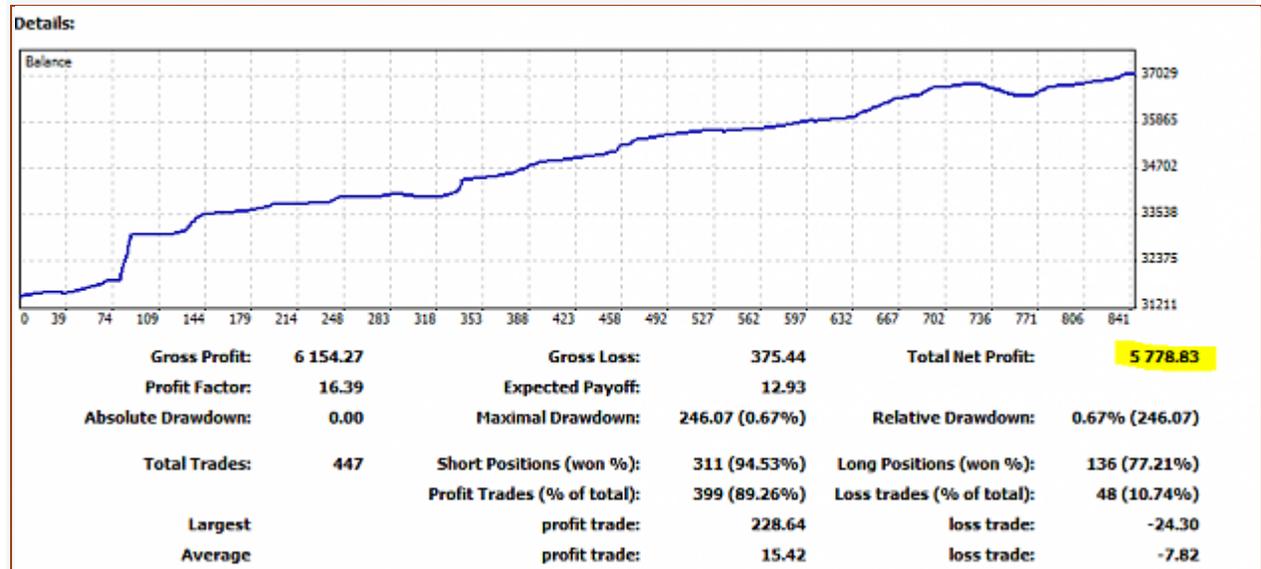

Have reasonable DD which I am comfortable to carry over 2018 since I believe positions are still valid

Happy New year and I 'll see you guys next year.

I read constantly in general what traders post and sometimes take mental notes and sometimes I get that Really?

I read often "price rejected 34EMA (insert any MA) then went down"

No price did not notice 34EMA or any EMA. Market makers who have funds to push price are not placing their orders watching MA's Not happening in real world. The idea of price "rejected" by MA is absurd.

Price just happened to hit that MA! Throw in 10 MA's chances are price will hit one of them but means nothing.

To understand how price moves please watch MD video again on price

GM guys

Read this today from FF member. Not quoting directly because I am not in the mood for discussion. These are my opinions.

"I want to say I never look at fundamentals. What I really mean is I never ever look at fundamentals.

Price tells us where the smart money is going. The biggest financial companies in the world, with the best software, analysts and fastest newsflow, make price go up or down. If price is not going up or down, its because they're not making it. Do we think we are smarter and have better analysis and faster newsflow than the biggest global banks?"

This person is not looking at CPI NFP interest rates, Central Bank statements nothing and he claims everything is in the price.

One of the biggest BS statements I read all the time and is false. Price can drop prior of important news and if news comes out green most often turn around opposite and spike 50-300 pips and yes there are lots of algos programmed to do this. To say price already was showing signs of bull spike is wrong remember price was dropping prior of news..had this person selling he would have been crashed and based on his statement I assume he was not even aware of high impact news.

If the news was exceedingly green such as NFP it can most often create positive sentiment and propel currency to higher demand hence selling it would be not wise but this person would of been in the dark remember he NEVER looks at fundamentals.

Analogy I can give is this.

An artist who knows about human anatomy is producing better drawings , paintings because he knows the structure under the skin. An artist who does not is only guessing and the work does not come out well. In the realm of Art if you are drawing painting humans its essential you know not only the skeleton but muscles as well. You will always be sub par artist if skipped learning these. Same in music to be proficient musician there are essential things to know.

To me Trading is balancing act. Its the art of looking both fundamentals and technicals. Please read real traders in Market Wizard books. Its an eye opening what these guys are looking at.

What he's saying is a variant of the Efficient Markets' Hypothesis. The problem is, according to the EMH, there should be no traders like Warren Buffett and many others who have made billions upon billions. Fundamentals are obviously important and only a LAZY trader would choose to ignore them. It takes work and most humans shy away from it. Thinking requires effort, and many choose to just follow the herd. Price DOES adjust sometimes abruptly to news events. So not everything was cooked in.

I want to make this clear

On this thread you are required to do weekly analyses of news events to be successful trading my method. This is a must. Over time you will start seeing things you have not seen before. Train yourself to be successful until it becomes a habit. Informed trader makes better decisions!

Takes 30-1hr on weekend. Do it please. 🙌

Seems to be so many conflicting sources on fundamental analysis. What's your go to source (s)?

{quote} Davit. Seems to be so many conflicting sources on fundamental analysis. What's your go to source (s)?

Keep it simple

Go to calendar and go over each Red News events and make notes to yourself.Idea is to be aware its coming up and you know some idea about it. This can influence how you see the market.

Example of my recent post

We have DEC 18 Monetary Policy Meeting Minutes AUD

I bought lots of AUD against NZD last Friday and I anticipate minutes would be bullish hence feel confident on my AN longs.Might buy AU longs as well. Notice this analyses has nothing to do with pivots or any technical charts this is just on fundamentals how price may move based on my analyses of calendar events.

Weds NZD Q/Q GDP-After election business confidence is low on NZD hence this might print red and I most likely will hold my AN longs NU may drop significantly and might be good opportunity to buy lower level.

Weds JPY Monetary Policy Statement- neutral nothing new here.BOJ Policy Rate-same BOJ Press Conference-don't expect much here most likely range trading.

Thurs huge day for CAD-CPI m/m Core Retail Sales m/m

If green this will do wonders for NC and AC shorts. Retail may print green since its holiday season people shop.

Thurs USD Final GDP q/q

This is a mover if comes out green all majors most likely will lose against USD weakest longer drop.Holiday on the corner this is last major news event on USD and market makers may spike all majors.

My philosophy is when there is carnage look for opportunity don't be afraid.

After 30min of this you feel you have a grasp what's coming up and that adds confidence on your trading decisions.

Since we know USD GDP is Thurs would you sell USD weds? Not likely correct? just going over the calendar you start seeing which scenarios you should avoid.Don't sell USD correct? Possible buy AUD..

Idea doing this you start seeing how market shifts and often it shifts around the calendar."

Things may not unfold the way you think about events but it does help example AUD did get stronger and I made good money on AN longs

Idea is not so much being right about events but seeing how events move price and to avoid scenarios that are risky

This weekly going over calendar events is for you to be in tune with pulse of the market.

To me this is what sentiment means recognizing the pulse of the market.

Every accomplishment starts with the decision to try

I'm no expert on this (Lordgbengs and others are much better) ... but I would say it's important to read thru news that report on facts more than opinions. Also, reading the local press and the Central Bank's minutes helps form an informed opinion about where the market might be headed. Of course it's all just probable ... in the following week ANYTHING can happen.

On which fundamentals to follow, if you're short on time (and frankly, who isn't?) I always come "back to basics" and remember that core inflation is what central bankers focus on when they decide on whether and at what pace (communication to influence market expectations matter!) to increase interest rates and, as we know, interest rate differentials are the most important determinant of exchange rates. So definitely look and monitor wage pressures and core CPI.

We read a lot about keeping a trading journal but we don't see a lot about keeping an updated Excel file with evidence of wage pressures // core CPI increasing or moderating. Maybe we ought to give that some thought.

May 2018 bring all of us deeeeeep greeeeeeeeen! 😊

PS - Let me just add that knowing about holidays (not vacations, there's a difference) in Japan, Europe and Jewish celebrations are also key as you don't want to be trading in a thinner market with one-sided liquidity.

I think the whole inflation concept is overdone these days. All economies are struggling with the same issues. Debt, stagnant wages, underemployment, lack of inflation, etc.

The US raised rates 3 times this year while no one else raised even once and yet the UD dollar had a horrible year verse pretty much every other currency. Imho, the perceptions/expectations of inflation and associated rate hikes coupled with the actual FED "events" are just opportunities for institutional traders and market makers to pay their bills on the backs of retail traders.

I do keep track of fundamentals and related sentiment but the reality is I can't predict the outcome of any news event regardless of which way the numbers print. What I can do is be prepared in advance as far as what price zone is going to be a good place to enter a trade, regardless of which way the news takes price. Fundamentals/news events may be the catalyst for price movement, but technical analysis reveals where the best entry/exit points may be.

Just my 2 cent rant.

Very interesting. I agree that we are recovering from a serious financial crisis (it's been 10 years and we're still talking about it). Which fundamental variable would you choose to look at (if not core CPI and wage pressures), job growth? Thanks in advance.

Take next week that I expect will be dominated by FOMC minutes on Wed and NFP Fri.
Does that mean that we should expect dollar strength leading up to Fri and then possibly a sell off on Fri (on buy the rumor and sell the fact)?

Your input is appreciated on this question, Davit. And others too. Thanks.

Sorry if I'm insisting on this important point.

So if I understand correctly, for you news events rattle the can bringing price closer to where you'd want to enter and exit on a technical basis. Is that it?

USD reached about a 12 year high around Jan this year from memory on the back of endless overall positive FED expectations. Like leading a Donkey with a carrot on a stick, these rates were long ago priced in before 2017. Not sure if Brexit panic pumped up USD safehaven status further, but if it did, this would have just further stretched the Bullish USD beyond buyers area of interest for 2017.
