Based on the economic calendar for June 12th, here's an analysis of the news impact on the EURUSD pair:

EUR News (11:00 EEST):

- Italian Quarterly Unemployment Rate: The actual figure is 6.0%, which is better (lower) than the forecast of 6.1% and the previous reading.
    - Impact on EUR: This is bullish for EUR. Lower unemployment generally indicates a healthier economy, which can strengthen the currency.

USD News (15:30 EEST):

- Core PPI m/m: The actual figure is 0.3%, which is higher than the forecast of 0.2% and a significant improvement from the previous -0.4%.
    - Impact on USD: This is bullish for USD. Higher producer prices can be a leading indicator of inflation, potentially prompting the Federal Reserve to maintain a hawkish stance or consider rate hikes, which is positive for the dollar.
- PPI m/m: The actual figure is 0.2%, which is higher than the forecast of 0.1% and an improvement from the previous -0.5%.
    - Impact on USD: Similar to Core PPI, this is bullish for USD. It reinforces the inflationary pressure indicated by the core PPI.
- Unemployment Claims: The actual figure is 242K, which is lower than the forecast of 247K and the previous reading.
    - Impact on USD: This is bullish for USD. Lower unemployment claims suggest a stronger labor market, which is supportive of the US economy and the dollar.

Overall Impact on EURUSD:

The EUR news is mildly bullish for the Euro, but the USD news is significantly bullish for the Dollar across multiple key indicators (inflation and labor market).

Therefore, the collective impact of these news releases on June 12th is likely to be bearish for EURUSD. The stronger USD data is expected to outweigh the mildly positive EUR data, pushing the pair lower.